Chicagoan Tells 29 Hours in Submarine Trap

U. S. SOCIALIZED PLAN INDORSED BY WHITE HOUSE

Roosevelt Approves Berle Program.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt has approved the first two steps in a three point revolutionary scheme for the socialization of capital financing and the nation's basic industries, which was proposed yesterday by A. A. Berle Jr., assistant secretary of state and New Deal brain truster. This became known today.

Senator Pat Harrison, tax revision proponent.

The administration's program contemplates action at this session of congress on the first two proposals outlined yesterday when Berle appeared before the monopoly investigating committee, which is under the sponsorship of the Securities and Exchange commission.

The first scheme calls for government insurance of private loans to small businesses, as proposed in a bill introduced by Senator James M. Mead [D., N. Y.]. The second contemplates a new spending program on a gigantic scale.

Financing Outside Budget.

The new spending program would be financed wholly outside the federal budget by a public works finance corporation with authority to sell its government guaranteed debentures directly to the public or to discount them at the federal reserve banks. Also, it could make loans to local public agencies at nominal interest rates—a mere service charge—for the construction of nonprofit facilities, such as hospitals, sewers, roads, bridges, schools, parks, etc.

President Roosevelt, at a White House conference today, reluctantly gave his assent to the modest corporation tax revision program proposed by Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], chairman of the finance committee, when assured that it would permit an early adjournment of congress, between July 1 and 10. Although the President's anxiety for congress to adjourn is well known, it transpired that he wants action first on a new spending program.

Yields to Get Adjournment.

There were indications that Mr. Roosevelt yielded on the business tax appeasement question more in the hope of winning support for spending than because of his desire to get congress out of Washington. It is known that the President discussed a new spending program with Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.] over the week-end, when Byrnes was a guest on the White House yacht.

It was Senator Byrnes who took Senator Harrison to the White House today. Byrnes played the rôle of peacemaker between the President and Senator Harrison. With the President surrendering on the tax question, it will be Byrnes' job to assuage the senate economy advocates and prepare the way for the spending bill.

Confident of Tax Action.

Senator Harrison came away from the White House confident that his tax program would go through congress without opposition. Although it repudiates the last vestige of Mr. Roosevelt's pet undistributed profits tax, it is not regarded as much of a business incentive program. The 2½ per cent surtax on undivided profits would be repealed and there would be a flat 18 per cent corporation income tax.

Corporations would be permitted to carry over operating losses for a three year period, instead of one year, as under present law. Corporations could revise upward their capital stock valuation, to lessen the burden of the excess profits tax, each year instead of every three years. There would be no change in the capital gains and losses tax, regarded as the

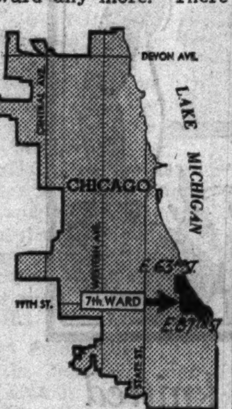
City Won't Let Pigeons Fly in Seventh Ward

Homing pigeons had better not fly over the 7th ward any more. There is a law against it. They can't even live there.



Pigeons Please Note.

The pigeons can blame Ald. Thomas J. Daley for everything. He comes from the 7th ward. He got up in city council meeting yesterday and before he sat down the pigeons had only forty-nine wards they could call home.

"My constituents don't like pigeons," announced Ald. Daley. "They don't like the noise the pigeons make. And they don't like other things the pigeons do, either."

Here's the Fateful Code.

The section of the Chicago code that Ald. Daley wanted to amend was No. 3936. The section originally read:

"No person having the charge, custody, or control thereof shall permit any horse, mule, ass, ox, cow, goat, pig, or other like animal to go loose or at large in any of the public ways of the city; and the running at large, except in enclosed places on private property, of poultry, chickens, hens, turkeys, ducks, geese, and other like fowl is hereby declared to be a common nuisance, and the same is hereby prohibited."

Homing pigeons came under this ban, but last fall they were allowed the freedom of the city under an amendment introduced by Ald. George D. Kells [28th]. Kells said the government was interested in the training and development of the birds as military aids in time of war.

Residents Call for Action.

No war was declared, however, except by residents of the 7th ward, who spoke pointedly to Ald. Daley. The way they mentioned pigeons, blunderbusses, and shotguns in the same breath was alarming. So Daley asked that the birds be barred from his ward.

"How are you going to stop them from flying over the ward?" Mayor Kelly asked.

"Just pass the amendment; I'll stop em," promised Daley.

Note to pigeons: The 7th ward is bounded on the north by 63d street, on the west by Stony Island and Jeffery avenues, on the south by 85th and 87th streets, and on the east by the lake. Now, mind where you fly.

ROOSEVELT VETOES BILL TO HAVE G-MEN TRAIL COW THIEVES

Washington, D. C., May 24.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, vetoing a federal cattle rustling bill, indicated today the limit to which he thought the government should go in extending its police powers. He said he approved legislation taking jurisdiction over kidnaping and bank holdups and thefts involving $5,000 or more of property, but added: "This bill extends jurisdiction to numerous offenses of the petty larceny type."

The bill would make it a federal offense knowingly to transport in interstate or foreign commerce or to receive any stolen cattle or other live stock or the carcass, hide or any part of a stolen animal. It was designed to help catch cattle thieves who run trucks of [illegible] across state lines.

SLY BABY FOXES WIN CHANCE TO BEHAVE SELVES

Sherif Elmer Hoffman and six deputies went out yesterday to catch the foxes that have been stealing ducks and chickens from Du Page county farms. Near Lisle they found a cave in which six baby red foxes were taking their afternoon nap, but the babies looked so honest that the officers didn't even question them. Not far away they found another baby fox in a cave, and he looked honest, too.

The sherif knew, though, that the babies would grow up some day and just look down their noses if he tried to tell them honesty's the best policy. Well, he counted the noses and there were just seven men and seven little red foxes. The sherif recalled that he'd read how baby foxes make lovely pets and chase their tails like kittens. They turn out honest, too, if they're kept away from their chicken stealing parents. So he and each of his deputies took a baby fox, and last night the foxes were all eating canned dog food and drinking milk in different homes and looking forward to blameless lives.

Draft Dodger Bergdoll Will Return Today

Washington, D. C., May 24.—(AP)—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll steamed toward his homeland today while United States officials debated whether he should be permitted to reënter this country.

Grover Bergdoll.

Bergdoll fled from the United States nearly 20 years ago after he was convicted of evading the war draft and he resided in Germany.

Harry Weinberger, the draft dodger's attorney, informed the senate military affairs committee today that Bergdoll was aboard the liner Bremen, due in New York tomorrow. He had departed unannounced from Germany after signifying a desire to serve a five year sentence imposed after his conviction in 1920. He is eager to serve the sentence, his lawyer said, that his children may be educated in a free country.

Army Eager to Get Him.

Maj. Gen. Allen W. Gullion, the army's judge advocate general, told the committee that the war department was eager to take Bergdoll into custody and send him to prison.

Gerard D. Reilly, solicitor of the labor department, said immigration authorities would oppose Bergdoll's entry on the ground that he had forfeited his citizenship by his long absence.

Bill Seeks to Bar Him.

The senate military affairs committee has under consideration a bill already passed by the house to close the doors of the United States to Bergdoll.

Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], chairman of the committee, said no attempt would be made to speed the legislation.

Bergdoll's 78 year old mother, Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, and his blonde German wife, Berta, pleaded for his return at hearings on the legislation. The wife insisted Bergdoll's sole reason for coming back is to benefit his children.

RESCUE BELL WITH 9 MEN ABOARD JAMS ON ITS FOURTH TRIP; FREED BY DIVERS

Hope Is Gone for 26 Others; Work to Go On Today.

RESCUE PICTURES.
On the back page are dramatic photos of the rescue of crew members of the submarine Squalus; also other pictures of the disaster.

Portsmouth, N. H., May 25 (Thursday).—(AP)—The United States navy early today completed a major epic of the sea—the perilous rescue of thirty-three men trapped since Tuesday on the ocean floor aboard the submarine Squalus.

The sunken craft was left peopled only by its twenty-six dead.

Under the giant searchlights of a fleet of mercy vessels, a rescue chamber bearing the last eight men and the operator finally was brought to the surface at 12:30 a. m. (eastern daylight time). But only after an escape from a second tragedy.

Four Hours in Bell.

For nearly four hours the unwieldy, 9 ton diving bell hung suspended 150 feet below the surface when a hoisting cable jammed.

The first group was rescued 29 hours after the submarine sank.

The last eight, who already had been imprisoned for more than 36 hours in the stale, gas-ridden but icy-cold air of the crippled Squalus, were jammed like sardines in the cramped rescue chamber.

Only the fact that a hose from the surface was attached to the bell, so that fresh air could be pumped down, prevented acute danger to the trapped men.

Foul Air Removed.

A second hose also was connected through which stale air could be drawn off.

As the bell finally broke the surface on its last tortuous trip, this message was flashed from the rescue ship Falcon:

"Eight men up on fourth trip. All in good shape and all survivors now out."

Thus was completed the roll of the living.

More than 40 fathoms below rested the dead, two of them civilian observers and one an officer—Ensign Joseph H. Patterson of Oklahoma City.

Order Search for Dead.

Even as the final eight were brought out alive the navy's high command gave the order to make the sea give up its dead. However, immediate diving operations were suspended until daylight because of the accident to the diving bell. Then the bodies of the lost will be sought so that the submarine itself may be blown out and raised.

Lieut. O. F. Naquin of Alexandria, La., commander of the Squalus, was the last to leave his ill-fated ship, glued to the bottom fifteen miles off Portsmouth since 8:40 a. m. yesterday, when water, pouring through an open air induction valve, flooded the after compartments during a practice dive.

Stepping from the rescue chamber with Lieut. Naquin in the

FATEFUL NEWS BRINGS JOY AND SORROW TO KIN

Portsmouth, N. H., May 24.—(AP)—Above the clicking of typewriters, the incessant ringing of telephones, and the babble of voices in the press room of the Portsmouth navy yard today rose an uncontroled sob, and tenderly a weeping woman was assisted to an adjoining room.

Mrs. Eugene A. Hoffman of Brooklyn, Mich., had been informed that her husband, a machinist mate, first class, was among those listed as dead aboard the sunken submarine Squalus.

Hundreds of miles away in a Washington, D. C., railroad station, Rumanian born Mrs. Robert Franklin Gibbs, who had not seen her husband in two years, learned through newspaper headlines of her husband's fate. Tearfully, she boarded a train for Portsmouth. She had left Lexington, S. C., for a reunion with her husband, unaware of the accident.

Wife Expresses Relief.

In Portsmouth the wife of one survivor expressed the relief of those whose loved ones had been saved.

"I felt about 75 years old before I heard my husband was alive and had almost lost hope," said pretty red haired Mrs. Carlton B. Powell, 23 years old, speaking to newsmen here. "Now I feel my own age." Powell, a machinist mate, was among the last survivors rescued.

In the widely separated mill cities of Lowell and New Bedford, Mass., two mothers, worn with anxiety, had but a single thought when told their sons were safe.

"Thank God!" said Mrs. William F. Fitzpatrick of Lowell, mother of William J. Fitzpatrick.

"Thank God!" exclaimed Mrs. Adelaide Madeiros of New Bedford, mother of Leonard S. Madeiros.

Another Mother Joyous.

That thought was repeated in Greenwich, O., when another mother, Mrs. John Washburn, a telephone operator, received a telegram from the navy saying her "Robert is alive and well."

But those who saw the unnerved and unidentified wife of a member of the Squalus crew will never forget her. With the tiny hand of her 6 year old son clasped tightly in hers, she walked back and forth outside the navy yard administration building. And the child never complained.

A woman who said she was the wife of Elvin L. Deal, Copper Hill, Tenn., a machinist mate, second class, listed among the dead, fainted on the steps of the administration building after she insisted she be told of the chances for her husband to be saved. She was cared for by friends.

Launch Sister Ship Today Without Public Ceremony

Groton, Conn., May 24.—(AP)—The newest submarine completed for the United States navy, the Sealion, will be launched tomorrow at the plant of the Electric Boat company, but because of the mishap to the submarine Squalus, there will be no public ceremony.

Largest Lead in History!

During the six-month period ended March 31, 1939, Tribune net paid total daily circulation averaged 903,922. This was 473,811 greater—110% greater—than the average net paid total daily circulation of any other Chicago newspaper, and the greatest volume and percentage of lead for any six-month period on record.

As Tribune circulation increases, Tribune advertisers get greater results at decreasing cost.

Lt. Nichols Depicts Courage of Crew on Ocean Floor.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Lieut. John C. Nichols, a Chicagoan, last night told the story of the sinking of the United States submarine Squalus.

Lieut. Nichols.

It is a straight narrative. It deals with the heroism of men trapped in steel walls on the bottom of the Atlantic, with their hopes, their fears, and their joy when they knew their rescue had begun.

The story is without embellishment or sentimentality. Nichols, the first of the Squalus' officers to be brought ashore, told it, calmly, in a matter of fact fashion, to The Tribune in a telephone interview from the naval base hospital at Portsmouth, N. H.

Fifteen Survivors Ashore.

Nichols and fourteen other survivors were landed there late in the afternoon.

It was the lieutenant's belief then—at the time of the interview—that some of the men in the rear compartments of the submarine, given up for dead by most naval officers, may still be alive.

"They may be safely walled up in the rear torpedo room," he said. "When I left the rescue ship preparations were being made to rescue them. If they are alive they have an escape hatch through which to leave the sub."

That was the only speculation in Lieut. Nichols' story. The rest is factual:

Tells Start of Trouble.

"We left the naval base at 6:30 a. m. Tuesday," he said. "We had orders to practice fast dives. At 7:40 a. m. we received our O. K. to go down. One minute later the order to submerge was given by Lieut. O. F. Naquin, the commander.

"Everything seemed to be in order. The ship dropped down perfectly. She leveled off at 50 feet. A few minutes later we in the forward compartments had the first word that anything was wrong. The control room was informed the after-engine room was flooded.

"The Squalus began to handle heavily. An order was given to blow the tanks and ascend to the surface. The motors were stepped up to full speed.

Ship Fails to Respond.

"The crew worked fast, but the ship failed to respond. Communication with the rear compartments was cut off. We couldn't communicate with the engine room nor with the men in the rear torpedo room.

"Then the motors went out. With them went the lights. The Squalus began to sink. Whatever was wrong was aft. Apparently the ship was taking in water by the air vent valves. The forward compartments were shut off, by water-tight doors, from the flooded after parts.

"With no power the Squalus continued to sink. The descent seemed to be slow. We settled on the bottom. There was no great jar.

Comes to Rest at Angle.

"She settled at an angle of about 10 degrees by the bow. My guess was that she was at about 210 feet from the surface. (Other estimates made the depth 240 feet.)

"There was no panic among the men. All stayed at their stations. Orders were obeyed instantly. Lieut. Naquin told everybody to keep their heads. If they did, he said, everything would be all right.

"He was correct, so far as the personnel forward was concerned. The flooding had been localized and only a little water seeped in on us.

"Pretty soon the forward marker buoy was sent up. We knew this would give our location and bring help. Then we sat down to wait—and listen for the rescue ships. We wondered how long it would be until some one came along and found the buoy and the telephone wire attached to it.

Great Faith in Rescuers.

"At 12:40 we heard the beat of the engines of the Sculpin, a sister ship. It was a great relief to all of us when she communicated with us on the phone. After that it was a question of holding out. We had great faith in the diving bell.

"The main thing was to conserve air—to use as little as possible and keep the supply pure. We purified it, when it got bad, with soda lime. When we had to, we released some of our oxygen.

"The men didn't talk much, nor move around a lot. Talking and moving both burn up oxygen. As it was, our supply stayed in excellent shape until just before the rescuers arrived.

"But we listened. After the telephone line went out we waited for the clank of divers' feet above us, and we tapped out messages in code on the iron above us.

Suffer from Cold.

"It was cold there on the bottom. In the forward torpedo room, where I was stationed, the temperature ranged between 34 and 36 degrees. Aside from the cold we were not very uncomfortable. Although the ship's power was gone, we still had lights—hanging lamps that worked on storage batteries.

"For food we had our emergency rations, but we didn't eat much. We just sat most of the time, conserving strength, saving oxygen, and wondering. Most of the men stood up well physically. Two in each forward compartment—four in all—became a little sick, or perhaps just weak.

"None of them made any complaints. They didn't make any dramatic speeches. We all figured how long it would take the Falcon to arrive. We knew when she came that everything was going to be all right.

Lieut. Nichols Ordered Up.

"When the bell finally was attached to the escape hatch, the men in the torpedo room were commanded to ascend first. The order included me specifically. With me went the men who seemed most nearly exhausted.

"Hope never left any of us. We knew that the rescue equipment was fine. I had seen the bell tested. Besides, we all had our Momsen lungs [individual breathing devices] and we could have attempted to get out in them if the other rescue efforts had failed.

"There is some question whether, at our depth, men could have withstood the water pressure and the cold, but the lung was still a hope."

The lieutenant said he could not hazard a guess as to why the valve failure had occurred. He believed it was closed at the start of the dive. He was forward at all times and the flooding was aft, so he had no personal contact with the cause of the disaster.

Catnap as They Can.

There had, he said, been little sleep for those in the Squalus. They caught catnaps when they could, but through all of Tuesday night some of the men kept tapping messages to the rescue forces. Some of these were received.

"Every man did his duty," was Nichols' summary.

He and the fourteen enlisted men who came up in the first and second bell loads were placed on the coast guard cutter Harriet Lane in the late afternoon and reached the naval yard dock at 5:40 p. m. Chicago time.

Wife Waiting at Dock.

Awaiting them there was a small group of relatives, who cheered wildly as they came down the gangplank. Lieut. Nichols and all but two of the others were able to walk. These two were on stretchers. All were placed in ambulances and taken to the base hospital, where it was said a few days rest at most probably will restore them to full health.

Lieut. Nichols' wife, Eloise, was at the dock. So was the lieutenant's brother, Frederick.

A few minutes after the rescue, Frederick, who has been in Portsmouth since Tuesday afternoon, called his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Nichols of 6705 Stewart avenue, to tell them that the lieutenant was safe.

The mother, almost overcome, could not answer phone queries yesterday. Mr. Nichols said:

"That's fine. But have you news of the others? Let us hope all can be saved."

Lieut. Nichols, who will be 29 years old next month, was fourth in command of the Squalus. He was graduated from the United States Naval academy at Annapolis in 1934 and was assigned to the U. S. S. Maryland for two years. He then spent two months in submarine school in New London, Conn., and was assigned to the S-26.

He was married in Honolulu while on the S-26, returned to Philadelphia last December, and went to Portsmouth in January. He has a daughter, Louise, one year old. His brother, Frederick, is employed in the New York office of the Chicago Tribune advertising department.

Rescued Sailor

STORY OF CREW MEMBER

(Editor's note: Judson Thomas Bland, 30 years old, of Norfolk, Va., electrician's mate on the submarine Squalus, in better condition than some of his fellow survivors, gave the following interview last night. He was clad in hospital pajamas, bathrobe, and sandals.)

Portsmouth, N. H., May 24.—(AP)—"I'm very happy to be here to say I was with a very fine bunch of shipmates. I never saw a crew handle so well a situation that really needed good handling.

"We made a perfectly normal fast dive. It was a test dive and the test superintendent was timing it and clocking it as we went down.

"Then something happened. It just couldn't be helped. It was one of those things that might go wrong with any complicated mechanical device.

"We started taking in water through the ventilation valve. We knew something had gone wrong aft. The captain came below.

[Bland, in using the term "captain," referred to Lieut. O. F. Naquin, commanding officer of the Squalus. Naval men always refer to a ship's commander as "the captain," regardless of his actual rank.]

"The captain was in complete charge at all times. All of his orders were carried out immediately.

"The men worked to shut off the water. Then the diving officer came below and gave orders to blow the tanks. We took a terrific angle. It was about 45 degrees, I think, with the bow up. One of the men closed the door to the after part of the ship. It took superstrength to do it, and I don't see how he did it.

"All the men possible got out of the after compartments. I don't know if all the after compartments were flooded. I hope they were not.

Every Man Aboard Is Calm.

"We lost all power and had no communications astern. No one was excited at any time. Every one was living in the hope we'd be found. We fired smoke bombs at regular intervals. We heard the Sculpin's engines around 3 o'clock and knew she was there.

"We knew it was the Sculpin because her engines are just like ours. We were greatly relieved. We knew we had been found and had nothing to worry about.

"Every word from every man was a cheerful one. Beating on the hull was our only means of communication. Two men forward and two in the after part of the bow kept beating signals all the time we were down, in spite of the great cold and darkness.

"We got very good results. We were told the Falcon would arrive at 4:30 this morning. We knew she had excellent equipment and wonderful divers. I'm not afraid to say that not one man ever thought he would not be rescued.

Air Becomes Foul.

"The air got a little bad just before we came up because we were trying to conserve the oxygen. When the first rescue party came down, you can imagine how happy we were. We sent up the weakest men first. I was in the second party.

"I hope all the rest will be found."

When he finished telling his story, Bland answered questions. Asked whether there was any sign of panic, Bland said:

"None whatsoever."

To a query as to where the men went when the Squalus went down, he replied:

"I was in the control room."

"How long after the dive was it before you realized you were in trouble?"

"At least a minute."

"Were you in position to see the workings of the induction valve?"

"No, I wasn't."

"Did any chlorine gas form in the submarine?"

"About an hour before coming up, chlorine formed to a small extent in a forward compartment, but we had our masks ready."

"Did you try to contact the after compartment?"

"We tried for hours by telephone without results."

"How did you pass the time?"

"Speaking of the various ways they might attempt to rescue us and the things we would do to meet whatever situation arose. We were prepared to make our own escape."

Bland said he had been in the service for 12½ years. His wife, Nadine, met him at the dock and kissed him.

"She was very happy to see me and have me back again," Bland smiled. He has a daughter, Lola Rochelle, 14 months old.

BOARD WILL SEEK CAUSE OF SUB'S TRAGIC FAILURE

Washington, D. C., May 24.—(AP)—A special inquiry board will undertake to determine why one or both of the big air intake valves were left open in the submarine Squalus, causing it to sink to the ocean bottom. The board will be named after rescue and salvage operations are completed.

Does Your Breath Shout 'FALSE TEETH'?

Stera-Kleen Prevents False Teeth Odor—Cleans Without Brushing

"False teeth odor" is the curse of denture wearers. Ordinary brushing or antiseptics often will not remove scum and food particles that collect on your plate or bridge. This uncleanliness gives off the most offensive of breath odors—you do not know if you have it—but others do.

Prevent this odor by using STERA-KLEEN and make sure of absolute cleanliness. STERA-KLEEN dissolves scum and food particles from the tiny crevices of your plate that brushing does not reach. It is safe—economical—easy to use.

Stir a little STERA-KLEEN in water, put in your plate or bridge for a few minutes. Rinse, and it is ready for use without brushing. Daily use prevents "false teeth odor." Get STERA-KLEEN today. Only 30¢ a package at any drug store.

DETAILS OF A RIDE TO OCEAN FLOOR IN A RESCUE BELL

How Science Has Beaten Death Under Water.

(Diagram on back page.)

The navy's new diving bell, successfully used yesterday in the rescue of men entombed aboard the submarine Squalus, was developed under the direction of Commander Allen R. McCann of the navy, and is known as the McCann bell. Properly speaking, it is a rescue chamber and differs vastly from the older forms of diving bells. The chamber was used for the first time in a rescue yesterday.

It was developed by Commander McCann in 1929-'30 at the Washington, D. C., navy yard. The bell came into being as a result of the sinking of the submarine S-4 off Provincetown, Mass., on December 17, 1927, with a loss of forty lives. A board of naval and civilian experts suggested it.

At Scene of Rescue.

Commander McCann was at Portsmouth, N. H., yesterday to assist in the rescue operations. He was graduated from the naval academy in 1915 and entered the submarine branch of the navy in 1919.

The rescue bell was hailed yesterday by naval and diving experts as the most advanced and promising gear developed to date for undersea rescue work. It is superior over earlier bells in that it permits rescue operations to be carried on at normal or nearly normal air pressures. Fresh air comes through tubes from the rescue vessel at the surface to those in the bell.

Weighs Nine Tons.

The McCann bell weighs nine tons. It is ten feet high, and about seven in diameter, except at the bottom where it is clamped around the submarine hatch. At this point it is five feet in diameter. It is built to withstand external pressures of 165 pounds per square inch, much more than was needed in the Squalus rescue work.

The bell is composed of two chambers, an upper one about six feet deep, the lower four or a little more.

Capt. John D. Craig, Chicago diver who recently inspected the apparatus and other deep sea experts yesterday helped to trace the step by step procedure of the operation of the bell.

A steel cable reaching downward from the center of the bell is attached by a diver to the hatch of the submarine. Turnbuckles are attached to "eyes" welded into the submarine. Thus the bell is anchored to the submarine when it is still at the surface.

Drawn Down by Winch.

A winch in the bell draws it down to the deck of the submarine. This winch is driven by an air operated motor also within the bell. An attendant [sometimes two] rides down in the upper chamber of the bell. He has telephone and air connections with the surface. The upper compartment contains all the operating gear except the reel for the down haul wire.

A motor, driven by air from the rescue boat above, is geared to the reel in the lower compartment.

The descent is aided by water ballast which has been introduced at the surface. The ballast helps to steady the bell in its descent and when it lands atop the submarine hatch.

Drawn to Submarine Deck.

As the cable is reeled in, the bell is drawn flush against the submarine deck. Around the escape hatch of the submarine a rubber cushion gasket presses tightly against a circular steel plate.

After the seal is made the operator opens valves and drives air into the lower chamber, expelling the water into the sea. This transforms the lower chamber into a giant vacuum cup which is held rigidly to the ship by outside water pressure.

The operator now opens the hatch between the upper and lower chambers of the bell and descends to the deck of the submarine where he opens the vessel's escape hatch. [This can be done from within the submarine if the men inside can be reached and told when to do it.]

Men Leave Submarine.

The men in the submarine now come up one at a time through the submarine hatch into the lower chamber, then through the open bell hatch into the upper chamber. Then the submarine hatch is closed.

Next the safety hatch between the two bell chambers is closed. The lower part of the bell is now allowed to fill with water, breaking the seal to the submarine. Next, water is blown out of the ballast tanks to compensate for the weight of the rescued men. Buoyancy returns to the bell and it starts to rise.

The bell is guided in its ascent by a cable attached to the rescue ship. If the ascent is too rapid, the speed may be retarded by a brake connected with the cable attached to the submarine.

On reaching the surface the chamber may be hauled out of the water by a crane. A small hatch on top is opened. Then the rescued men climb out or are lifted out.

The cable attached to the submarine remains in position and the bell may be made ready to return for another load.

Bells Have Origin in Antiquity.

Appliances to aid divers have existed since the days of Aristotle, the Greek philosopher and scientist, who lived in the fourth century before Christ. These earliest instruments were vessels which when inverted retained the air within them and did not permit the water to enter. The same thing happens when one pushes a glass, upside down, into a tub of water. Pliny talked about aids for divers. Roger Bacon in 1240 invented a contrivance to aid men in working under water.

The modern diving bell up to the development of the new McCann chamber employed the same ancient principle.

But water pressure increases with depth, compressing the air. Thus in the early diving bells there was the problem of great air pressure and of a limited availability of air. McCann's bell solves that with its upper sealed chamber, against which increased water pressure at great depths has no effect.

Commander Allan R. McCann, under whose direction the navy's rescue chamber was developed, flew from Washington, D. C., to Portsmouth, N. H., to be on hand for rescue of survivors from sunken submarine.

Log of Submarine Squalus

Portsmouth, N. H., May 25 [Thursday].—(AP)—An unofficial log for the submarine Squalus, sunk in 240 feet of water off this port, follows:

TUESDAY, MAY 23.

6:30 A. M.—[Eastern standard time]—Submarine Squalus departed from the navy yard on cruise to practice fast dive.

7:40 A. M.—Informed navy yard it was preparing to descend for one hour.

10:20 A. M.—Navy tried to contact Squalus by radio but was unsuccessful.

10:30 A. M.—Submarine Sculpin dispatched to investigate

12:40 P. M.—Sculpin reported by radio finding smoke bomb and engaging in brief telephone conversation with Squalus via marker buoy. Contact broken off.

2:30 P. M.—Cruiser Brooklyn ordered to proceed from the Brooklyn, N. Y., navy yard for Portsmouth.

9 P. M.—Contact resumed with forward compartment of Squalus which reported "conditions satisfactory, but cold."

10 P. M.—Coast guard cutter Harriet Lane leaves Portsmouth navy base for scene with diving gear.

10:30 P. M.—Sixteen diving experts arrive at Portsmouth from Washington, D. C.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 24.

2:26 A. M.—Coast guard cutter 409 leaves Portsmouth for disaster scene with sixteen divers and six officers.

4:30 A. M.—Submarine Sculpin reports arrival of Falcon, submarine rescue ship.

6:30 A. M.—Admiral C. W. Cole goes aboard Falcon to direct rescue operations.

9:15 A. M.—First navy diver descends toward Squalus.

9:22 A. M.—Diver reaches deck of submerged submarine.

10:40 A. M.—Rescue chamber, first time used in actual rescue work, is lowered. Divers going down two at a time at intervals.

12:18 P. M.—Falcon reports rescue chamber starts up with first seven survivors.

12:45 P. M.—First seven survivors brought up and taken aboard Falcon.

1:30 P. M.—Navy authorities announce probably twenty-six more safe and that little hope remains for the other twenty-six.

3 P. M.—Rescue bell comes up with eight more survivors, one of whom not previously believed safe.

3:30 P. M.—Rescue bell makes third descent.

5:50 P. M.—Nine more survivors brought up in rescue chamber.

5:50 P. M.—Third trip of rescue bell brings up nine more survivors. Officials announced ninth man also brought up on second trip, raising total to twenty-five known saved.

5:50 P. M.—First fifteen survivors brought ashore and taken to hospital.

7:51 P. M.—Downhaul wire on rescue chamber jams when final trip being made with last eight known survivors.

11:30 P. M.—Last eight known survivors brought to surface after rescue chamber was suspended 150 feet beneath the surface for nearly four hours.

THURSDAY, MAY 25.

12:30 A. M.—Nine more survivors brought ashore.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

33 FROM SUNKEN SUB ARE SAVED; DIVE FOR 26 DEAD

Prepare to Bring Up Bodies, Then Lift Sub.

early morning hours today was his executive officer, Lieut. William T. Doyle Jr. of Baltimore, second in command of the Squalus.

Thus four of the five officers were saved, as Lieut. John C. Nichols of Chicago and Lieut. Robert W. Robertson of Quanah, Tex., were rescued earlier.

Almost simultaneously with the final rescue an indication came from Rear Admiral C. W. Cole, commandant of the Portsmouth navy yard, who directed the fight to save the Squalus' crew, that the nine men brought up in the third trip of the diving bell were in poor physical condition.

Nine More Brought Ashore.

In a radio message Admiral Cole said:

"Am sending nine men from Squalus for hospitalization and observation via Harriet Lane [coast guard cutter] arriving navy yard 1:30 a. m. daylight. Have ambulances."

The survivors docked at 1:50 a. m. and were taken immediately to the navy yard hospital. One man was on a stretcher. The arrival of this latest contingent brought to twenty-four the number of men landed by the rescuers.

As naval officials added the sad toll of the undersea accident it was found that only one of the three civilians aboard the Squalus during her preliminary trial run had been saved.

Harold C. Preble, a naval architect temporarily attached to the Portsmouth navy yard, was brought up on the first trip of the rescue chamber.

General Motors Aid Lost.

Behind him remained the bodies of Donald Smith of Cleveland, a representative of the General Motors corporation, and Charles M. Woods, an electrician attached to the navy department in Washington.

At the hospital here tonight naval officials expressed the opinion that all of the rescued will survive, although some suffered from shock and were in a weakened condition after being brought ashore. Most if not all of the survivors will be dehospitalized by tomorrow, it was stated.

High ranking naval officials declared they had not yet determined the reason for the tragedy. They intend to send down a diver to open the hatches of the flooded compartments and investigate.

Survivors Are Cheered.

Cheer upon cheer rose from the decks of the Falcon as the first seven survivors stepped into the free air. Each, as he was rushed to a decompression chamber, made history.

Not only was this the first time that the diving bell had been used for a wholesale saving of men actually trapped aboard a sunken craft, but it also marked the first recovery of men from a submarine crippled at such a depth—240 feet.

The rescue bell, which rose and fell on one mercy trip after another during the day, first was dropped over the side of the submarine rescue ship Falcon at 10:40 a. m., Chicago time, little more than two hours after a diver first reached the Squalus.

Approximately two hours later the bell brought the first seven survivors to the surface.

Chicago Officer Saved.

The first man to breathe free air after twenty-nine hours of confinement in the cold dark of the half flooded Squalus was Lieut. J. C. Nichols of Chicago.

A civilian navy employé and five enlisted men, who stepped out of the rescue chamber behind him, were rushed into a decompression tank and then taken to a Portsmouth hospital.

The scene was dramatic. Just as the bell broke the surface the sun came through the clouds, allowing Lieut. Nichols to step through a hatch in the roof of the chamber into a springlike atmosphere.

Overhead circled airplanes—civilian and naval. Around the Falcon, which raised and lowered the bell on a huge steel cable, a dozen ships stirred the surface. Many were civilian craft, but near by was the huge bulk of the cruiser Brooklyn, and almost alongside was a sister ship of the Squalus, the Sculpin. Near by were navy tugs and active coast guard vessels.

The scene of the accident is not far from the point off Provincetown, Mass., where the S-4 went down in 1927 with a loss of 40 lives.

First to Reach Sub

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Navy Diver Frank P. Miller carrying diving suit at Portsmouth, N. H. He was first to reach the sunken sub.

BY FRANK P. MILLER.
Diver at Portsmouth Navy Yard.

Portsmouth, N. H., May 24.—(AP)—I was the first diver to make the 240 foot drop to the submarine Squalus and spent fifteen minutes hooking on the descending line to the forward torpedo room hatch.

As I walked across the deck of the sunken craft noise of my heavy boots apparently penetrated to the men inside. At every step I could hear them tapping from within.

Although I was down on the sub only fifteen minutes, it took about seventy-three minutes for me to come up and recover. The water was extremely cold. It was a tough dive. The submarine lay on her starboard side at a five or six degree angle. There was no damage apparent.

It took me five minutes to connect the downward cable from the diving bell to the hatch.

Policeman Shoots Gunman; Threatened with Bullet

Policeman Harold J. Fuhry, 34 years old, 3114 Normal avenue, was sitting in his car last night at 45th street and Kildare avenue when he saw a man crawling out of the shrubbery near by. Though Fuhry was off duty and listening to his radio describe the submarine rescues, he was interested. In a moment the man stuck a gun over the door of Fuhry's car and made threats. Fuhry fired. Stanley Zwietleczki, 40 years old, 5544 South Oak Park avenue, was taken to the Bridewell hospital.

U. S. Submarines Go Down Safely 100,000 Times in Row

Washington, D. C., May 24.—(AP)—Naval officers said today that despite the Squalus disaster and the hazards of subsurface craft operation, American submarines have hung up a noteworthy safety record. In the eleven and a half years since the sinking of the S-4 with a loss of 40 lives, United States submarines have submerged upward of 100,000 times without a serious accident. The figure is based upon an average of 15 submergings a month by each of some 50 submarines regularly in operation.

The TWO Are YOU

There are TWO of YOU. One of YOU functions seven hours in business each day. You wear a business suit, maybe a semi-starched collar, confining speckless dark oxfords. You dictate to your office wife, you give orders, you take orders. You conform to pattern.

Then, there's THE OTHER YOU, the YOU of leisure who is an individualist, a hedonist, a man free from inhibitions. As the other you, you want to figuratively let your hair down, to be really comfortable in a smartly correct way.

You want a cool, drapy, full-cut sport suit for golfing, fishing, motoring, or to indulge your latent loafing proclivities. Boynton's display just such a shirt and slack suit tailored by Wilson Bros. for $5.95. Mix the colors or match the two pieces. If breezes blow, flaunt your freedom with a daringly gay kerchief tied round your neck.

At Boynton's you'll choose your casual wear in the spirit it's made for. The store is conveniently located at the Wabash Entrance to the Palmer House. It's open until eight each evening to provide for leisurely shopping during your leisure hours.

You've hit your inner stride

. . . . when you regain healthy per·i·stal·sis

Kinks smooth out . . . you swing along with joy and ease . . . once you hit your inner stride!

Inner stride takes its pace from a contracting . . . expanding . . . contracting motion in the intestines known as per-i-stal-sis. It's a motion you don't even notice till it slows down. Then you have that heavy, constipated sensation.

To clear the way for normal elimination, you probably need a quick, thorough flushing-out. That's when to get Eno!

What fluid-action does

Eno has fluid-action. It also exerts a mild stimulation. By attracting moisture to the intestines from other parts of the body, it flushes away accumulated waste gently, thoroughly. What quick, welcome relief!

Now you're ready to get back on schedule! You can hit your inner stride again!

Do you need "alkalizing?"

Because Eno also helps neutralize excess stomach acids, millions use it for this purpose. They like its sparkling, tangy taste. So will you.

Try Eno, when you're off-stride. Notice the new freedom when peristalsis is rhythmic, easy. Buy Eno today, at any drug store.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

PAROLE REFORM BILL AT PASSAGE STAGE IN HOUSE

Sponsor Beats Efforts to Weaken Measure.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—[Special.]—The Ward-Schnackenberg parole reform bill was advanced to third reading in the house late today, without substantial amendment. Efforts to weaken its provisions were defeated on motion of Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg [R., Chicago] who is the co-sponsor with Senator Harold G. Ward [D., Chicago], Mayor Edward J. Kelly's legislative spokesman.

When the measure finally was sent to the passage stage by a tap of the speaker's gavel, it bore only one minor change from the form in which it was approved by the senate. This was a technical correction in language suggested by A. L. Bowen, director of public welfare, and sponsored by Schnackenberg.

Judges Given Power.

The primary feature was left untouched. This permits trial judges who have heard evidence against defendants to fix a minimum and a maximum sentence within the limits of the indeterminate sentence act. Thus the power of the parole board to release convicts virtually at will would be curtailed.

Two series of amendments were offered by downstaters—Representative Joseph Sam Perry [D., Wheaton] and Sidney Parker [D., Texico]. Schnackenberg succeeded in tabling them by votes of 69 to 19 and 62 to 20, respectively.

Schnackenberg had the aid of an opponent of the measure in these efforts. Benjamin S. Adamowski of Chicago, the Democratic floor leader, told the house that while he would fight the measure on third reading, he did not believe it just to amend it against the wishes of the sponsor. "Let the bill go to third reading in the form that the sponsor wants it," Adamowski advised, "then vote it up or down according to your judgment."

Aimed at Fixed Sentence.

Representative Perry's series of amendments contemplated a gap of two years between the minimum and maximum sentences judges could impose. He offered the amendments, he said, to avoid such a sentence as a minimum of two years, eleven months, and twenty-nine days, and a maximum of three years—in other words, practically a fixed sentence.

In support of his motion to table Perry's amendments, Schnackenberg described the purpose of the measure.

"This bill," he said, "seeks to strengthen and improve the parole system by limiting and restraining the power of the parole board. We aim to protect the first offender from remaining too long in prison, and we aim to protect society from the vicious repeaters.

"The Perry amendments would emasculate the measure. He is opposed to the bill, so he is trying to cripple it. Since he has very definite ideas on the matter, he should introduce a bill of his own."

Speaker Hugh W. Cross [R., Jerseyville], called for ayes and noes on the motion to table, then verified the negative stand with a division.

Argues for First Offender.

Representative Parker's amendments would have permitted courts to fix only maximum sentences for first offenders, and minimum and maximum in the cases of repeaters. Parker argued the first offender was a special problem and the parole board should retain jurisdiction over him.

Schnackenberg replied by pointing out that one of the most vicious crimes of the century—the murder of Bobby Franks by Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb—was committed by first offenders.

Schnackenberg then read a letter he received from the wife of a convict who has served seven years of a sentence for manslaughter—for which the punishment is one year to life—although the maximum, with good behavior time off, is only eight years and three months.

"Where was the parole board in that case?" Schnackenberg demanded. "On the other extreme, we find men being paroled today who have been paroled from time to time since as far back as 1895."

No Word from Son

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Patterson of Oklahoma City as they read telegram at Chicago airport yesterday that their son, Ensign Joseph Patterson, was still aboard sunken submarine and probably dead.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Patterson arrived here by plane yesterday on their way to Portsmouth, N. H., where they will keep a vigil for their son, Ensign Joseph H. Patterson Jr., who was aboard the submarine Squalus, when it sank.

As they stepped from the plane they were handed a telegram from Ensign Patterson's father-in-law, Capt. H. R. Greenlee of the navy. It said their son had not been accounted for. Sadly they continued their trip. The ensign was still listed last night as missing. He was one of those believed imprisoned in the flooded section of the submarine. Ensign Patterson was 26 years old, a member of the American Olympic track team. The Pattersons live in Oklahoma City, Okla.

4 EX-INMATES OF ST. CHARLES SENT TO JOLIET

Four former inmates of the St. Charles School for Boys were sentenced to Joliet penitentiary yesterday by Judge Frank W. Shepherd in the Kane county Circuit court at Geneva.

Abraham Dean, 19 years old, pleaded guilty to assault to kill and was sentenced to 1 to 14 years. Last Nov. 30 Dean stole a pistol at the school and fired it at guards as he attempted to escape. The bullets hit no one, and Dean was captured when his ammunition was gone. He had been committed from Jerseyville in Jersey county.

Hobart Lambert, 15, and Sylvester Taylor, both of Cairo, Ill., and Talbert Jennings of Chicago got 1 to 10 year terms. All are colored. They attacked a guard and escaped from the school April 7, coming to Chicago in a stolen car. They were seized the next day. A fourth inmate, Anthony Guidry, who escaped with the trio, has been sentenced to 1 to 5 years in prison.

Girl, 14, Hangs Herself with Bedsheet in Room

Marjorie Pattishall, 14 years old, hanged herself in her room in the Chicago Home for Girls, a private institution at 5024 Indiana avenue, last night by tying a bedsheet around her neck and stepping off a chair. The girl's body was found by Miss Ruth Morland, night supervisor. A note indicated she intended to take her life.

DANZIG CHARGES POLE FIRED UPON NAZI; PROTESTS

Victim of Earlier Border Row Buried as Martyr.

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, May 24.—(AP)—A third shooting affair on the border between the Free City of Danzig and Poland today brought another protest from the Danzig senate. The border clash took place as Nazis buried the first victim of the border incidents in Kalthof with the personal condolences of Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

A German truck driver, en route from East Prussia to Germany across the Polish corridor, declared he was fired upon by a Polish border patrol at the Tczew [Dirschau] bridgehead. The driver was not hit.

Poles said a Polish frontier guard fired in the air when it appeared the German driver was attempting to cross the frontier on foot. A similar incident was reported a month ago at the same place.

Danzig Sends 2 Notes.

Arthur Greiser, the Free City's chief executive, sent two notes across the street to the Polish commissioner, adding to a series of protests exchanged since Gustav Gruebner, a Nazi, was killed Sunday in Kalthof.

In one note Greiser protested today's incident at Tczew. In the other he demanded recall of Thadeus Perkowski, assistant Polish commissioner in Danzig, whose chauffeur killed Greubner, and the chief Polish railway inspector.

Hitler sent a large lily wreath by a special airplane to Gruebner's funeral in Kalthof today. The slain Nazi was given a martyr's burial.

Britons and Poles Confer.

WARSAW, May 24.—(AP)—Although official confirmation was lacking, it was understood reliably today that a British military mission has begun conversations with Polish military leaders in Warsaw. It was believed secrecy was imposed because of a desire not to jeopardize negotiations for a British- Russian agreement.

Reach Commercial Agreement.

PARIS, May 24.—(AP)—France and Poland supplemented military ties today with a commercial accord under which the Polish government will buy electrical and automotive products and France will take Polish coal. The total value of goods to be exchanged was estimated at about $13,250,000.

PRAYER CRUSADE FOR SNITE STIRS FRENCH CHILDREN

BORDEAUX, France, May 24.—(AP)—French school children began a prayer crusade today for the recovery of Frederick B. Snite Jr., the Chicago paralysis victim on his way to the famous shrine of Lourdes in his "iron lung."

At Ruffec, between Tours and Bordeaux, the children gathered around Snite's motor car trailer while he was having lunch. They brought him flowers and prayed for him.

Their teachers said the children had asked permission to start the "crusade" and to urge that it be conducted throughout France. Snite is scheduled to reach Lourdes tomorrow.

MOLINE CONTRACTOR DIES.

BRITISH TROOPS TO JOIN FRENCH IN WAR GAMES

Maneuvers May Be Held at German Border.

PARIS, May 24.—(AP)—A French newspaper reported today that British troops would join the French army this fall in annual war games. The maneuvers usually are held in eastern France behind the Maginot line of fortifications facing Germany.

Louis Brette, military affairs writer for the newspaper Excelsior, said a battalion of English guards would take part in the Bastille day celebrations July 14.

"Contingents of British troops will participate in our coming grand maneuvers," he added.

Brette said the war games, in September, would bring a large delegation of British officers and troops.

War Office Is Silent.

Only authorized military information may be published in French newspapers under strict new regulations decreed by Premier Edouard Daladier. The war ministry, however, refused either to deny or confirm that British troops were coming to France, but said it was familiar with the report.

[In London a spokesman for the British war office said nothing was known there concerning the report.]

British officers frequently have been privileged observers at French army maneuvers in the past, but troops of the two powers have not worked together since they were world war allies. Then they were under the unified command of Marshal Foch. His successor in event of another great war is expected to be Gen. Maurice Gustave Gamelin, chief of the French army general staff.

Asks Report on Preparedness.

A full review of France's armed preparedness was asked by the senate army committee. It proposed a secret session of all senatorial national defense committees, including army, navy, air, finances, colonies, and foreign affairs, to hear reports from the government.

Such a meeting, which requires approval of the government, is a measure usually taken only in time of emergency.

Reports from Strasbourg, near the German frontier, said German troops had been able to reoccupy the first of the Limes line blockhouses, which were vacated when the Rhine rose to flood stage. German troops were said last night to have been seen quitting the concrete fortifications which Germany has erected opposite the Maginot line. Today the water was receding rapidly.

AGED MAN FOUND DEAD.

ENGLAND DODGES TAKING MOSCOW AS ALLY IN WAR

Plan to Curb Hitler Put on Shelf for a While.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 24.—The project for a working alliance between British imperialism and Russian bolshevism as an instrument to check Reichsfuehrer Hitler's expanding Germany, today was placed on the shelf until at least next month. The plan has been hanging fire for six weeks.

The shelving took place after a meeting of the cabinet. It had been announced that the cabinet session would be momentous. It was said that Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, arriving from Geneva primed with arguments gained from the French, would win over to his side cabinet colleagues who oppose signing a hard and fast alliance with Dictator Josef Stalin.

Deadlock Still Exists.

On the contrary, Prime Minister Chamberlain in the house of commons indicated that the deadlock between the British and Russians is for the moment still complete. He said he could say nothing until the house reconvened after the Whitsuntide holiday on June 5.

"Some further points still remain to be cleared up," Chamberlain said.

The soviets appear to be standing pat on an ironclad military alliance with immediate staff consultations.

The British want a more evasive agreement and one which would be hooked up with the sanctions clause of the league of nations covenant, or article XVI., which caused many headaches during Premier Mussolini's conquest of Ethiopia.

[Article XVI. of the covenant provides for punishment of member states declaring war in disregard of the covenants providing for arbitration by the league and for mutual support in resisting the aggressor.]

Fears Allies Will Desert.

The Moscow government seems to think this is a British scheme to fix up something so that the British and French could run out on the soviet union if the latter gets tangled up with Hitler.

British official spokesmen and propaganda for the last week have been announcing that the Russian deal was practically assured. Chamberlain, however, told commons that recent conversations Halifax had with the French and Ivan Maisky, soviet ambassador to London, have only "made clear all relevant points of view."

"I have every reason to hope that as a result of the proposals we now are in a position to make on the main question arising, it will be found possible to reach a full agreement at an early date," the prime minister continued.

New Proposals Reported.

It was reported in London that the cabinet had dispatched a note to Moscow with these new proposals. They apparently relate to a scheme devised here to hook up any agreement with article XVI. of the league covenant. The Reds already have virtually turned down this scheme on the grounds that it leaves vague the ways and means of putting the proposed alliance machinery into operation if the need arose.

On the other hand, these new proposals will serve the purpose of keeping negotiations going on—an important objective.

16 Killed in Palestine Arab Clash with British

JERUSALEM, May 24.—(AP)—Casualties in a brush between British troops and Arabs near Tulkarem yesterday were listed officially today as at least fifteen Arabs killed and scores wounded, a British major killed and a corporal and two privates wounded.

Nonstop Flyer

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Francisco Sarabia waving from his plane after landing in New York yesterday. He flew from Mexico City.

New York, May 24.—(AP)—Francisco Sarabia, Mexican flyer, broke the Mexico City to New York speed record set by the late Amelia Earhart in 1935 when he landed at Floyd Bennett airport late today.

His flying time for the 2,085 miles was approximately 10 hours 48 minutes, compared with Miss Earhart's 14 hours 19 minutes.

Sarabia said he took off with 525 gallons of gasoline and had flown through severe thunder storms much of the way, frequently rising to 16,000 feet. Headwinds delayed him. His airplane, a Gee Bee monoplane of American manufacture, is designed to cruise at 200 miles an hour.

British Labor Party Again WhipsTories in By-Election

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 24.—The Labor party today won another parliamentary by-election victory in the south London district of Kennington. The district previously was held by the Conservatives. The Conservative party received a majority of 545 votes in the general election of 1935. Today the party was defeated by 3,596 votes.

GERMAN TROOPS IN SPAIN BOARD SHIPS FOR HOME

Weapons Left Behind for Franco's New Army.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIGO, Spain, May 24.—Three thousand Nazi legionnaires who fought for Generalissimo Francisco Franco in the Spanish civil war, embarked here today in transports which will take them home Friday.

Leaving behind vast quantities of modern military equipment and artillery, this first contingent of the Condor legion marched through Vigo and boarded the transports Sierra Cordoba, Stuttgart, and Wilhelm Gustloff.

As the Nazis were boarding the ships, a brilliant campaign mass was celebrated on the quayside before Cardinal Isidoro Goma y Tomas and 3,000 Spanish soldiers. At the end of the service Gen. Miguel Aranda was decorated with the Grand Cross of San Fernando. The legionnaires did not participate in the ceremony.

Troops Cheer in Unison.

The first Nazi contingent passed through the city at 7 a. m. At intervals the rest of the day the crunching sound of hundreds of hobnailed boots marching in unison marked the arrival of a new group—one battalion of 500 [a Spanish form of organization] at a time.

The troops marched in flawless precision, with every rifle at exactly the same angle. The soldiers cheered in unison: "Hitler, Franco, Germany, Spain." The total leaving is said to be 6,000, all of whom should be aboard the transports by tomorrow night.

Since the end of the war 60,000 Moors have been sent back to Morocco and now the Germans are going. The Italians will be next. Thirty thousand are expected to sail from Cadiz by the end of the month. They, too, are leaving behind modern equipment which is precious to the Nationalists.

Artillery Left Behind.

About 300 batteries of Italian and German artillery are in Spain. Some has been bought and paid for. The rest must still be settled for. Other equipment brought in by the Nazis and Fascists includes every type of modern weapons and ammunition.

Radio apparatus, portable broadcasting stations, firearms ranging from rifles to Italian 12-inch howitzers, long range 6-inch guns of the Germans, as well as predictors for anti-aircraft use, form the backbone of armaments in Franco's new army.

Italian Transports Sail.

NAPLES, Italy, May 24.—(AP)—Eight steamships sailed for Spain today to bring back Italian legionnaires who fought for Nationalists in the Spanish civil war.

AN AMERICAN PLATO

By CALEB

IN 1837, seven hundred Chicagoans cast their votes to elect a first mayor. William B. Ogden captured the winner's honors. To house said honors and himself, he had Van Osdel, the architect, build him a pretentious Grecian mansion; and there, twenty years later, one of the most eminent of his visitors was Ralph Waldo Emerson.

"The Sage of Concord" was then fifty-four—in the prime of his fame and favor with the cultured America of that day, and lecturing on his best-known subject, Transcendentalism. Evanston he found to be a town of six hundred souls; and chief theme of Mayor Ogden's conversation was the startling rise in land-values: both of which facts Emerson duly entered in his diary . . .

Today marks the one hundred and thirty-sixth birth-anniversary of our American Plato. In the fifty-seven years since his death, practically everything alterable on the planet's face has been altered; yet the serene central soundness and stylistic beauty of Emerson's writing have gone their direct way into thousands of lives, with influence undiminished. Indeed, one of the surest sanctuaries from the day's confusion that the earnest mind can find lies in an evening's quiet rereading of his lecture on The American Scholar, or of those essays on which his name will outride another century: Compensation, Self-Reliance, The Over-Soul, Nature, Spiritual Laws and Character.

The secret? A group of several unique gifts left in the Emersonian cradle. A splendidly upright ancestry. New England environment. A calm interlude in history, permitting mental growth to proceed apace. A coterie of literary neighbors and friends: Hawthorne, Longfellow, Whittier, Thoreau, Lowell; and that kindred spirit overseas: Carlyle. These, coupled with his own tolerantly Puritan outlook, gave Emerson power—and the glory followed . . .

Like the Bible, Lincoln biography, and Shakespeare—our book section reports Emerson among its constant and timeless sellers. And how fortunate that this is so: that the "best minds" still gladly accept the terse grace and brilliance, the counsel, of this American Plato! To anyone who heeds as he reads, the essay on Self-Reliance alone is a priceless prescription for great living; and as for quotability, no man has put pen to paper in the last or present century who can compare with him . . . If you have forgotten this, read a dozen pages of Emerson tonight—and you will see why his influence is immortal.

MOSCOW HEARS PRIVATE TRADE TO BE RESTORED

Parliament, Purged of 220, Meets Today.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, May 24.—Reports that a restricted form of private trade and small artisan industry soon will be authorized by the soviet Russian government have excited the inhabitants of Moscow. They are hoping for a return of limited private trade, which even soviet officials admit greatly would improve living conditions in Russia.

Moscow residents expect that the supreme soviet, or parliament, in its session which opens tomorrow in Moscow, will discuss this matter, and also the present food crisis and the need for more efficient distribution throughout Russia.

Although many districts are reported to have warehouses filled with food, the shortage in Moscow and other cities is growing worse daily. Many complaints have been published in the soviet press about what it calls failures on the food front.

Papers Confirm Shortage.

After a long interval, Moscow papers again confirm the existence of a stringent bread shortage in the capital and in other cities and industrial centers. Many other varieties of provisions, including meat, dairy products and vegetables, have not been obtainable since February.

Writing in the Sovietskaya Torgovlia, D. Pavlov, commissar of trade, blames poor organization for the bread shortage, which has caused widespread alarm. He demands more efficient work from government organizations handling the distribution of food supplies.

The session opening tomorrow will be the third for the supreme soviet, which the inhabitants of Moscow jokingly nicknamed the poodle parliament. The members will hear the latest decisions of the politbureau [political bureau] of the communist party on the soviet government's foreign policy.

To Convene After Delay.

Soviet officials expect that either Vyacheslav Molotov, acting commissar of foreign affairs, or A. A. Zhdanov, chairman of the foreign relations committee of parliament, will address the assembly on the foreign situation.

The session will convene after considerable delay, though it is a constitutional requirement that the assembly meet twice annually. In January a small item in Izvestia announced that parliament had been called, but the politbureau decided first to hold a session of the communist party, which had not met in five years [a violation of its statutes].

A third five year plan and other resolutions passed at the communist party convention are expected to be submitted now, and to receive the indorsement of the supreme soviet.

220 Deputies Executed.

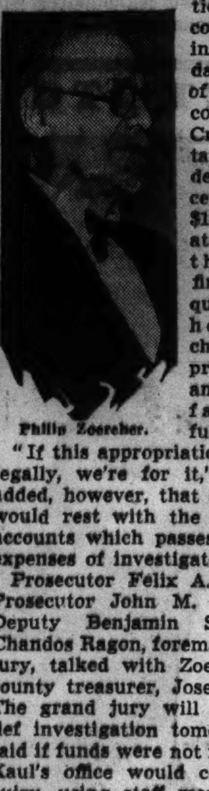
Of 1,143 members of both houses of the Russian parliament the Baltic bureau of THE TRIBUNE compiled a list of 220 deputies who have been executed since their election in December, 1937.

Army representatives suffered most heavily. Of 112 Red army deputies only forty-eight remain alive, most of these being noncommissioned soldiers. Among the higher officers who have been purged are Marshals Alexander Yegorov and Vassily C. Bluecher, National Commissar of the Navy Peter Smirnov, Admiral M. V Viktorov, Deputy General Ivan Fedko, and generals commanding the Leningrad, White Russian, trans-Caucasian, and far eastern military districts.

Of sixty GPU [secret police] officials elected as deputies only thirty-seven survive, according to the reports of executions and removals published in the Moscow press. A large number of other deputies, estimated at 180, also disappeared. Whether their seats will be filled with substitutes was not indicated. Local elections have not been held.

The first session of the supreme soviet on Jan. 19, 1938, elected a government of soviet Russia which consisted of twenty-nine commissars. Maxim Litvinov, who was removed suddenly and without explanation from his post of foreign commissar on May 3, is the twentieth commissar to be removed or executed.

INDIANA'S TAX CHIEF LEAVES LAKE COUNTY'S RELIEF QUIZ UP IN AIR



Philip Zoercher.

Philip Zoercher, chairman of the Indiana tax board, left the investigation of the Lake county relief mess in the air yesterday after hours of conferring with county officials at Crown Point. The tax board had ordered a 50 per cent cut in the $12,000 appropriation made by the county to finance the inquiry. Yesterday, however, Zoercher reversed a previous stand and appeared in favor of the funds.

"If this appropriation can be made legally, we're for it," he said. He added, however, that a final decision would rest with the state board of accounts which passes on claims for expenses of investigators.

Prosecutor Felix A. Kaul, Deputy Prosecutor John M. Stanton, Chief Deputy Benjamin Schwartz, and Chandos Ragon, foreman of the grand jury, talked with Zoercher and the county treasurer, Joseph E. Finerty. The grand jury will resume its relief investigation tomorrow. Stanton said if funds were not made available, Kaul's office would conduct the inquiry, using staff men as investigators.

ITALY COMPLETES HUGE PLANE FOR ATLANTIC ROUTE

ROME, May 24.—(AP)—Aviation sources disclosed today that Italy is preparing to bid for trans-Atlantic passenger travel with a forty passenger monoplane which has been completed at Trieste and is awaiting installation of its four motors.

The new plane, designed to rival America's big clipper planes, is technically described as a CANT Z512. It is reported it will have a top speed of about 310 miles an hour and it will carry a load of thirty tons. It may take the air in December or January with a maiden flight to New York.

Clipper Arrives in France.

MARSEILLES, France, May 24.—(AP)—The flying boat Yankee clipper arrived at Marseilles today at 12:45 p. m. [[illegible]:45 a. m., Chicago time] covering the first lap of her return trip from Southampton to New York in 4 hours 26 minutes. Inaugurating regular service across the Atlantic, the clipper is to take off for Horta, the Azores, tomorrow morning.

WIDOW DIES OF BROKEN HIP.

Mrs. Anna Thelen, 75 years old, died yesterday in St. Bernard's hospital of injuries suffered on May 17 when she slipped in her room at [illegible]12 West 25th place and fractured a hip. She was a widow.

YOUTH, 17, KILLS BOTH PARENTS AND SISTER, 25

Beaver, Pa., May 24.—(AP)—A middle aged couple and their pretty red haired daughter were shot and hacked to death today while they slept. Several hours later Coroner H. C. McCarter announced the couple's 17 year old son had admitted the slayings.

The bodies of Forrest Cooke, 45 years old, South Beaver township tax collector; his wife, Cora, 45, and their daughter, Eleanor, 25, were found in two beds in an unfinished attic bedroom of their rambling country home. Their faces had been smashed with the blunt side of an ax and the mother and daughter had been shot with a shotgun.

McCarter said the son, Paul Cooke, wept as he was taken into the room and cried out:

"I did it. They treated me mean."

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—[Special.]—Another step toward wiping out the syphilis scourge was taken tonight when the house passed a bill requiring physicians to make blood tests when they first examine expectant mothers. Earlier the house advanced to passage stage a bill to make several changes in the 1937 premarital examination law. Both bills are being handled by Representative Edward P. Saltiel [R., Chicago], sponsor of the pre-marital test law.

Edward P. Saltiel.

"The purpose of my newest bill is solely to prevent the birth of syphilitic children," Saltiel told the house. "Medical science has perfected its methods so that if a syphilitic woman is treated within the first five or six months of pregnancy, her child has a ten to one chance of being born free from the disease."

Points to Results.

The state health department recently treated 400 women in this class and only two of their children had contracted the disease when born, Saltiel said. Otherwise about 360 of the children would have been diseased on the basis of medical statistics, he said.

The proposed law would not make treatment compulsory. It would be left to the individual physicians to persuade their patients to submit to medical aid.

If the first blood test does not produce a conclusive result, another would be made, under the bill. Birth certificates would be required to show whether the tests were made, but not the result. The vote was 85 to 16.

The proposed changes in the Saltiel pre-marital examination law would improve the efficiency of the statute and make its operation more humane in certain situations, Saltiel said.

Any test for syphilis approved by the state health department could be made under the amended law, instead of only Kahn and Wasserman tests. Medical progress has perfected better methods and still newer tests are in prospect, Saltiel said.

Approved Laboratories Only.

Laboratories where the tests are made would have to be approved by the state health department and results of the tests would be reported on standard forms prescribed by the department.

As now, tests made by city health departments would be free of charge.

County clerks are now forbidden to issue marriage licenses if the physician's report indicates the presence of syphilis or gonorrhea. The three following exceptions will be made to this rule by Saltiel's amendments:

1. When the woman applicant for a license is pregnant. A physician's affidavit would be required.
2. When the woman has a living illegitimate child and the man acknowledges parenthood.
3. When a physician certifies that the marriage can be consummated without endangering the health of either party, if he finds one is a victim of noninfectious syphilis.

More than 150 fathers and sons attended a banquet last night in the rooms of the Woodlawn Boys club in the Woodlawn police station. Sponsors have arranged clubrooms, a gymnasium, and a library on the second floor of the station.

Speakers included the Rev. Harold L. Bowman of the First Presbyterian church; the Rev. William McDade of the Catholic church, and Jack Lewis, representing Rabbi Adam Neuberger. Capt. Thomas Duffy of Sheffield police and Capt. Patrick Collins of Woodlawn, and Aldermen Paul Douglas and Patrick Sheridan Smith of the 5th and 6th wards also were present.

Entertainment was provided by Sheldon Raben, 12 years old, of the Bradwell school; Jack Haniford of the St. Clair school, and Robert D. Allard of the Walter Scott school.

A Plea on Townsend Plan Put Up to Illinois House

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—[Special.]—The house executive committee, of which Representative Reed F. Cutler [R., Lewistown] is chairman, tonight recommended adoption of a resolution memorializing congress to give fair consideration to the Townsend old age revolving pension plan. Two hundred Townsendites from downstate communities had cheered speakers for the plan. Roy Webb of the Townsend national headquarters in Chicago said the legislature would not commit itself by adopting the resolution.

BLOCK ECONOMY TO GET CAMPAIGN HELP, IS CHARGE

Accusations Are Made by G. O. P. Minority.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—[Special.]—Charges that the joint economy committee was killed after the Democrat state administration "became fearful of the loss of padded appropriations for the political campaign of 1940" were made today by six Republican members of the committee.

These and other accusations were made in a so-called minority report of the committee which was dissolved three weeks ago with the aid of Democrats. Signing it were the chairman, Senator Earl B. Searcy, Springfield, and Representatives Clinton Searle, Rock Island; John A. Bingham, Galena; David I. Swanson, Chicago; Frederick W. Rennick, Buda, and Sam O. Dale, Fairfield.

Refused in Senate.

Senator Searcy presented the document in the senate and asked that it be printed in the journal. The Democratic presiding officer, Senator George M. Maypole, Chicago, ruled against him, however, holding that since no majority report had been filed, the minority report could not be received.

The seven Democrats and one Republican who voted to kill the committee have presented no findings since the midnight session when they took their action.

The case for economy as presented by the Republican signers of the minority report was trenchantly presented thus:

"The undersigned believe that governmental costs in the United States have reached a fearful and cataclysmic peak. They believe, further, that unless the present trend is stopped either government or private industry is headed for destruction.

Big Increases Cited.

"Whichever goes first will take the other with it. Federal expenditures today are ten dollars where, 25 years ago, they were one. Illinois state governmental expenditures today are nine dollars where, 21 years ago, they were one. One-fourth of the nation's total income goes now to taxes, direct and hidden, federal, state and local combined. Illinois is keeping pace with this dizzy fiasco."

A dozen charges were made as the result of the inquiries the committee did make before its death. Among them was recounted the testimony of George Ray, superintendent of the Vandalia State Prison farm.

"Testimony under oath charged Supt. Ray with having used state property in connection with the operation of his own private farm," the report declared. "This Ray did not altogether deny."

The report declared that when the committee was killed, it had before it unfinished investigations involving nepotism, padded pay rolls, useless branches of the state government, high handed tactics by some officials, and charges that pay rollers were using state automobiles for their personal joy rides.

EMPLOYMENT PEACE BILL WINNING WIDE BACKING, SAYS LANTZ

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—[Special.]—A united front composed of farmers and small merchants is supporting the employment peace bill, Senator Simon E. Lantz [R., Congerville], veteran leader of the agricultural bloc, said today.

Although it is opposed by union officials, Lantz said, the bill would give legitimate union labor a degree of protection that otherwise could not be obtained in fifty years.

Ten days' notice before a strike is called is required by the bill.

SENATORS VOTE BILLS ENFORCING DAIRY SANITATION

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—[Special.]—The senate today passed two bills to improve sanitary conditions surrounding the production and marketing of milk and milk products. They had the indorsement of the Illinois agricultural association as well as of city interests.

The bills, introduced by Senator Nicholas L. Hubbard [D., Mount Pulaski], now go to the house. One would provide state-wide sanitary requirements like those now enforced on the Chicago milkshed by the city board of health. The other would modernize the legal definition of pasteurization. A penalty is provided for labeling milk or milk products as grade A or pasteurized if requirements of the proposed laws are not met.

SENATE SLICES $10,000,000 OFF SUPERROAD PLAN

Downstate Program Cut Similar Amount.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—[Special.]—The senate today lopped $10,000,000 from Chicago's superhighway program and $10,000,000 from the companion program for secondary road construction downstate. The altered bills provide $90,000,000 for Chicago and $30,000,000 for downstate. They are in the senate on third reading, the passage stage.

Both cuts today were made from the state's proposed appropriations to pay all of the cost of the local roads and part of the cost of the urban construction. No change was made in provisions authorizing Cook county and Chicago each to spend $30,000,000 on the urban projects.

Ward Offers Amerdments.

Senator Harold G. Ward [D., Chicago], legislative spokesman for Mayor Edward J. Kelly, introduced the amendments. He said he did so at the request of the Illinois Agricultural association. Paul Mathias, secretary of the association, said his organization wanted to reduce highway department obligations for the remote future.

In addition to cutting the total amounts, the amendments reduced from 20 to 10 years the period in which the state's notes would be retired.

Interest Burden Cut.

The changes slashed approximately $15,300,000 in interest, as well as $20,000,000 in principal, from the proposed obligation upon the state.

On the other hand, the state's annual payments would be increased by these amendments from an average of $5,260,000 to an average of $6,990,000, and from a maximum of approximately $6,400,000 to a maximum of approximately $7,800,000.

Another amendment is being discussed to assure downstate that its deathproof construction will not be halted for a decade.

GIRL IS INJURED IN CRASH AFTER INDIANA PICNIC

Miss Eleanor Kistler, 3918 Johnson avenue, Western Springs, was one of five Purdue university students seriously injured last night in a collision of two automobiles while the students were on the way back to Lafayette, Ind., from a picnic. A sixth student, Robert Seybold of Indianapolis, was killed.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 329 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 258 were killed in Chicago, where 7,628 were injured in the same period.

POLICE CAN'T GET RADIOS; ORDER 68 AUTOS STORED

Sixty-eight new squad cars now being delivered to the Chicago police department are going to stay in garages until the city council finance committee authorizes expenditure of $3,300 for radio equipment, Commissioner Allman said yesterday.

Allman sent a request for radios to the committee a month ago. It was referred to a subcommittee. Yesterday he sent another request, but action was deferred with the announcement that the matter would have to follow regular council routine. The next council meeting is June 7.

"Sending the new cars out without radios would merely be sending the men for joyrides," Allman said.

WEST SUBURBS SEEK ONE WAY ROUTE TO LOOP

A one way trafic system between the western suburbs and the loop was urged yesterday at a meeting of far west side and west suburban leaders in the Oak Park club. The leaders, members of the Chicago Motor club's one way trafic committee, said the suburbs should be included in any one way system to the west. Proposals for a system terminating at the city limits have lately been considered.

Those at the conference favored a plan for using Washington and Warren boulevards for east bound trafic, and Randolph street, Maypole avenue, and West End avenue for a west bound lane. This system could easily be extended to the suburbs, they said. The alternate system under consideration, Jackson boulevard for east bound trafic and Monroe street for west bound trafic, could not be extended because these streets run into dead ends in the suburbs, the group said.

EFFORTS TO END C.I.O. AUTO PLANT TIEUP HIT A SNAG

Detroit, Mich., May 24.—[Special.]—Efforts to negotiate a settlement of the C. I. O. strike, allegedly led by Reds and which already has thrown more than 70,000 automobile plant employés out of work, struck a a snag today and dashed hopes for an early peace.

The Briggs manufacturing company's seven plants have been closed since Monday by the walkout of its 15,000 employés.

A company statement said that W. P. Brown, president of Briggs, had informed James F. Dewey, conciliator from the United States department of labor, that the controversy "perhaps has passed beyond the point of mediation."

In a radio address Homer Martin, president of the independent branch of the dual United Automobile Workers of America, charged the strike was inspired by Reds and that it was costing workers $250,000 daily.

"Only the strong arm squads and undemocratic activities of Emil Mazey, head of the Briggs local of U. A. W. A., have prevented the workers in the Briggs plants from repudiating him long ago," Martin asserted.

Pleads Guilty to Stealing $2,000 in Electric Power

Thomas Lamprake, 62 years old, pleaded guilty yesterday to stealing electric current worth $2,000 from the Commonwealth Edison company for his ice cream factory and delicatessen at 203 East 111th street. Assistant State's Attorney Robert Wright said the jumper Lamprake used was powerful enough to feed current to the elevated lines. Judge James F. Fardy continued a motion for probation until June 2.

GETS 1-10 YEARS IN $50,000 THEFT OF MERCHANDISE

John Jones, 56 years old, for eleven years a trusted employé of Montgomery Ward & Co., yesterday was sentenced by Judge Walter T. Stanton of the Criminal court to one to ten years in prison for larceny.

Jones, who was supervisor of night watchmen, pleaded guilty to stealing merchandise with a wholesale value of $50,000 during the last six years. He disposed of the loot through his sweetheart, Mrs. Josephine Russo, 27, of 1941 West Chicago avenue.

Mrs. Russo also pleaded guilty. With the consent of Prosecutor Gordon Nash she was placed on probation. Merchandise worth several thousand dollars was found in her home. Jones, who lives at 1465 Chicago avenue, and Mrs. Russo were arrested on April 10.

SLATTERY QUIZ ACTION SOUGHT IN HOUSE TODAY

Rep. Lund Demands to Be Heard on I.C.C. Inquiry.

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—[Special.]—Representative Arnold L. Lund [R., Riverside] today served notice that tomorrow he will ask that his resolution for an investigation of the Illinois Commerce commission during the chairmanship of Senator James M. Slattery be brought to the floor of the house for action.

Last week the executive committee postoned consideration of it indefinitely. Democrats on the committee asserted that since the United States senate is the judge of its membership, it was the proper body to inquire into Senator Slattery's actions. Lund insisted, however, that the Illinois house was the agency qualified to examine the affairs of the commerce commission. If the senator was guilty of any misconduct while chairman, he said, determination should be made by the house.

It was reported that Slattery was in Springfield last Saturday and Sunday. This report could not be verified.

STILL IGNORES SUBPENA.

Mrs. Ethel Johnson, daughter of Senator James M. Slattery, continued yesterday to ignore State's Attorney Courtney's subpena for her appearance at his office. It was the second day she had failed to appear.

Mrs. Johnson is wanted for questioning about stock transactions carried on under her name while Senator Slattery was chairman of the Illinois commerce commission. One of the deals was the purchase of $23,000 of Commonwealth Edison company stock while Slattery was in a position to influence rates and rules of the utility.

Obtains Two Subpenas.

Assistant State's Attorney Richard B. Austin, who has been investigating financial transactions involving public officials, attorneys, and public utility corporations for several months, caused subpenas to be issued on Monday for Mrs. Johnson and Charles [Chick] Evans, one time champion amateur golfer.

Evans responded and it is reported he verified information already obtained regarding the stock transactions from the records of Mitchell, Hutchins & Co., La Salle street brokers where he was employed. Evans was allowed to leave through a window and down a fire escape and thus evaded both photographers and reporters.

Mrs. Johnson did not appear; neither did she send any word. The subpena was left at her home, 2045 Birchwood avenue. State's Attorney Courtney refused to say what he would do if she continues to ignore him. Neither would he make any comment on progress of his long investigation or indicate when he would allow a grand jury to hear the results. The grand jury, however, has the power to demand that the prosecutor submit his information.

Expects Further Action.

Assistant Prosecutor Austin said that he could not discuss the inquiry. He surmised that if Mrs. Johnson continues to ignore the authority of the state's attorney the usual course will be taken to force compliance.

The usual procedure is to send a policeman after a witness who fails to respond to a subpena. If that fails, grand jury action is invoked and the chief justice of the Criminal court is asked to take contempt action to force the recalcitrant witness to testify or else send him to jail. This was done last week in the case of two witnesses in an inquiry into sales of candy to the schoolboard.

Senator Slattery in Washington said he knew of the stock deals made by his daughter. He explained he had given Mrs. Johnson the money from his safety deposit box as her share in the settlement of the estate of the senator's first wife. After Mrs. Johnson sold the stock at a $2,000 profit, the cash was replaced in the same safety deposit vault, he said.

Wins Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. ESTHER COOK.

Mrs. Esther Cook, 34 years old, 5842 South Francisco avenue, told Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday that her husband, Glenn, came home from a business trip on May, 1937, and said he was in love with another woman. Then he left her. Judge Finnegan granted her a divorce from Cook, an industrial engineer. Mrs. Cook's attorney, Norman Becker, said Cook had agreed to a $2,100 cash settlement and $110 a month alimony. Mrs. Cook also will get a $6,000 insurance policy.

ACT TO CONDEMN SITES TO BUILD 2 HIGH SCHOOLS

The board of education voted yesterday to condemn sites for two new high schools. One will be built on the block bounded by 36th street, Lithuanica avenue and 37th and Sangaman streets. The board already owns one-fourth of the block. The building to cost $1,000,000 will relieve crowded conditions at Englewood, Lindblom, Kelly, and Harrison high schools. The second area to be condemned is the block bounded by 109th and 110th street and Avenue H and Avenue J. The board owns the block from 108th to Avenue H but wants the second block for a high school to be built in the future.

Inquest Today in Death of Boy Hit by Concrete Post

An inquest will be held today into the death of Arthur Martin, 14 years old, 3134 South Racine avenue, who was injured fatally Tuesday evening when a concrete post fell on him at the entrance of the People's Gas, Light and Coke company plant at 31st and Benson streets. He died yesterday morning in County hospital. The youth was swinging on a cable swung between two concrete gate posts 7 feet tall and 20 inches in diameter when one fell.

WITNESS AVERS HE PAID MANTON $10,000 IN CASH

Price for His Acquittal, Defendant Says.

John L. Lotsch.

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—An amazing story of traficking with federal justice, one in which former Circuit Judge Martin T. Manton was accused of demanding and receiving $10,000 in cash and demanding a similar sum for another judge, Edwin S. Thomas, who, like Manton resigned under fire, was unfolded on the witness stand today by John L. Lotsch.

Manton, who resigned last Jan. 30, went on trial Monday on charges of conspiring with four co-defendants to obstruct justice and defraud the government of his impartial services through bribery steals totaling at least $186,146.

Yesterday the figure was raised to $225,996 through the testimony of Alfred F. Reilly, president of the Evans Case company, North Attleboro, Mass., that he paid Manton's alleged "bag-man," William J. Fallon, $39,850 on the promise of getting a favorable decision in a patent infringement suit.

Tells of Two Payments.

Over the objection of attorneys for Manton, former presiding judge of the federal Circuit Court of Appeals, Lotsch testified that he had given Manton $10,000 in cash in two payments of $5,000 each on two consecutive days in the judge's chambers on the twenty-fourth floor of the Federal building.

This, he declared, had been demanded as the price of his acquittal in a criminal prosecution against him for accepting a bribe while serving as a special master. He had made one payment of $5,000 and pleaded that he could not afford more, but, he said, Manton had exacted the full sum.

In return for the money, Lotsch testified, Manton had said that he would arrange to have Judge Thomas come down from Connecticut to hear the case. Later, the witness said, Manton told him that he had conferred with Thomas and that Thomas wanted $10,000 as his fee for fixing the case.

Testifies About $10,000 Loan.

At another point of the trial today, Lotsch, a defendant who pleaded guilty and took the stand as a witness for the prosecution, testified that after obtaining a loan of $10,000 for Manton in 1935, he was allowed to prepare a draft of the decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in a case in which he was counsel.

TAX PAYMENTS CALLED BEST IN LAST TEN YEARS

Early payments have increased collection of 1938 Cook county taxes 85 per cent over collections at the corresponding time last year, County Treasurer John Toman reported yesterday. Payments were said to be better than for any comparable period in the last ten years.

Toman reported that the amount paid on 1938 tax bills through Tuesday totaled $31,296,870. This compared with $17,014,905 collected through May 23, 1938. The figures include both real estate and personal property levies.

Of the total collected through Tuesday, payments on real estate amounted to $25,927,495, compared with $14,256,233 in 1938. Payments on personal property were $5,369,375, against $2,758,672 a year ago. The totals do not include payments made to treasurers of country towns.

POLICEMAN STRICKEN ON JOB.

Policeman Charles Ish, 61 years old, collapsed from a heart attack yesterday after he and his partner, John O'Halloran, had taken a patient to the psychopathic hospital in a squad car. Ish was taken to County hospital.

Director Caught Speeding to Safety Council Meeting

Toledo, O., May 24.—[Special.]—Dwight D. Hatcher, a director of the Toledo safety council, was arrested last night by a policeman on the charge of speeding fifty-five miles an hour. He said he was en route to a safety meeting. Today he was fined by Police Judge Homer A. Ramey.

STUDEBAKER CHAMPION

$699

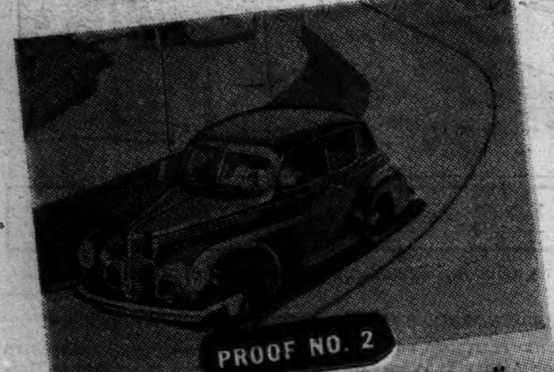
FOR A STUDEBAKER CHAMPION COUPE

DELIVERED COMPLETE IN CHICAGO AND SUBURBS

NOTHING MORE TO PAY

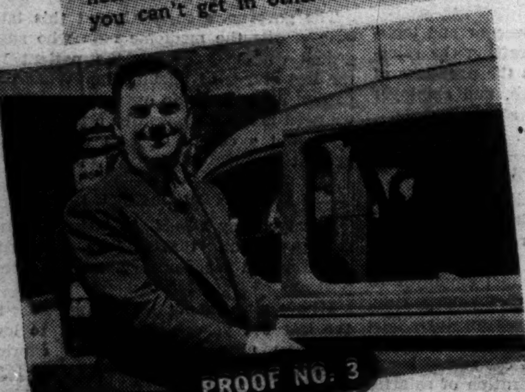
PROOF NO. 1

"It's as restful as an easy chair!"—That's what Pauline Manchester, pianist of 1582 Oak Ave., Evanston, says about her new Studebaker Champion. "I never dreamed a lowest price car could be so comfortable. My friends all love to ride in it."



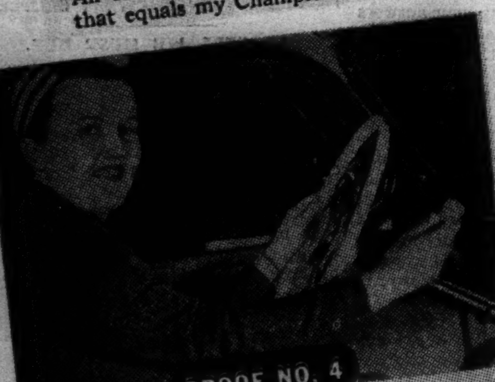
PROOF NO. 2

"It rounds turns with delightful steadiness," says Mr. L. A. Thomas, vice-president of Vitality Mills, Inc., of his company's new Studebaker Champion. "Studebaker's engineers certainly gave this Champion balance you can't get in other lowest price cars."



PROOF NO. 3

"It accelerates like a TWA Skyliner taking off," reports proud Studebaker Champion owner, W. H. Pluchel, District Manager in Chicago for Transcontinental and Western Air Inc. "I've never seen a lowest price car that equals my Champion for fast pickup."

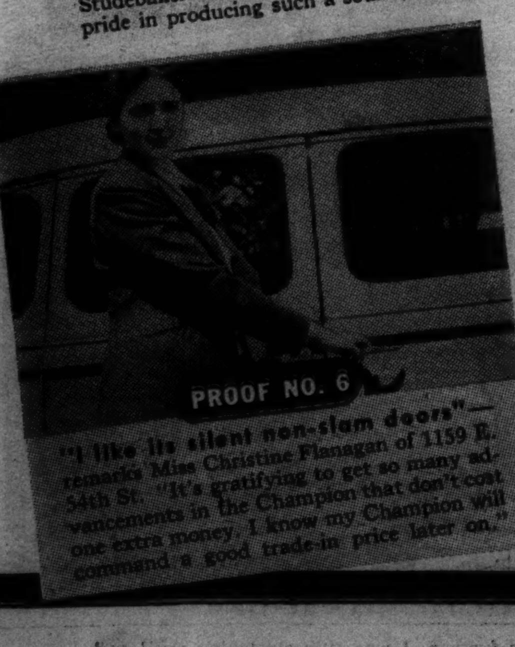


PROOF NO. 4

"It's the easiest handling car I ever drove"—states Studebaker Champion owner Mrs. Helen Tobias of 4806 Belmont Ave. "I like the gear shift at the steering wheel and the variable ratio steering for parking. An ideal car for a woman driver."

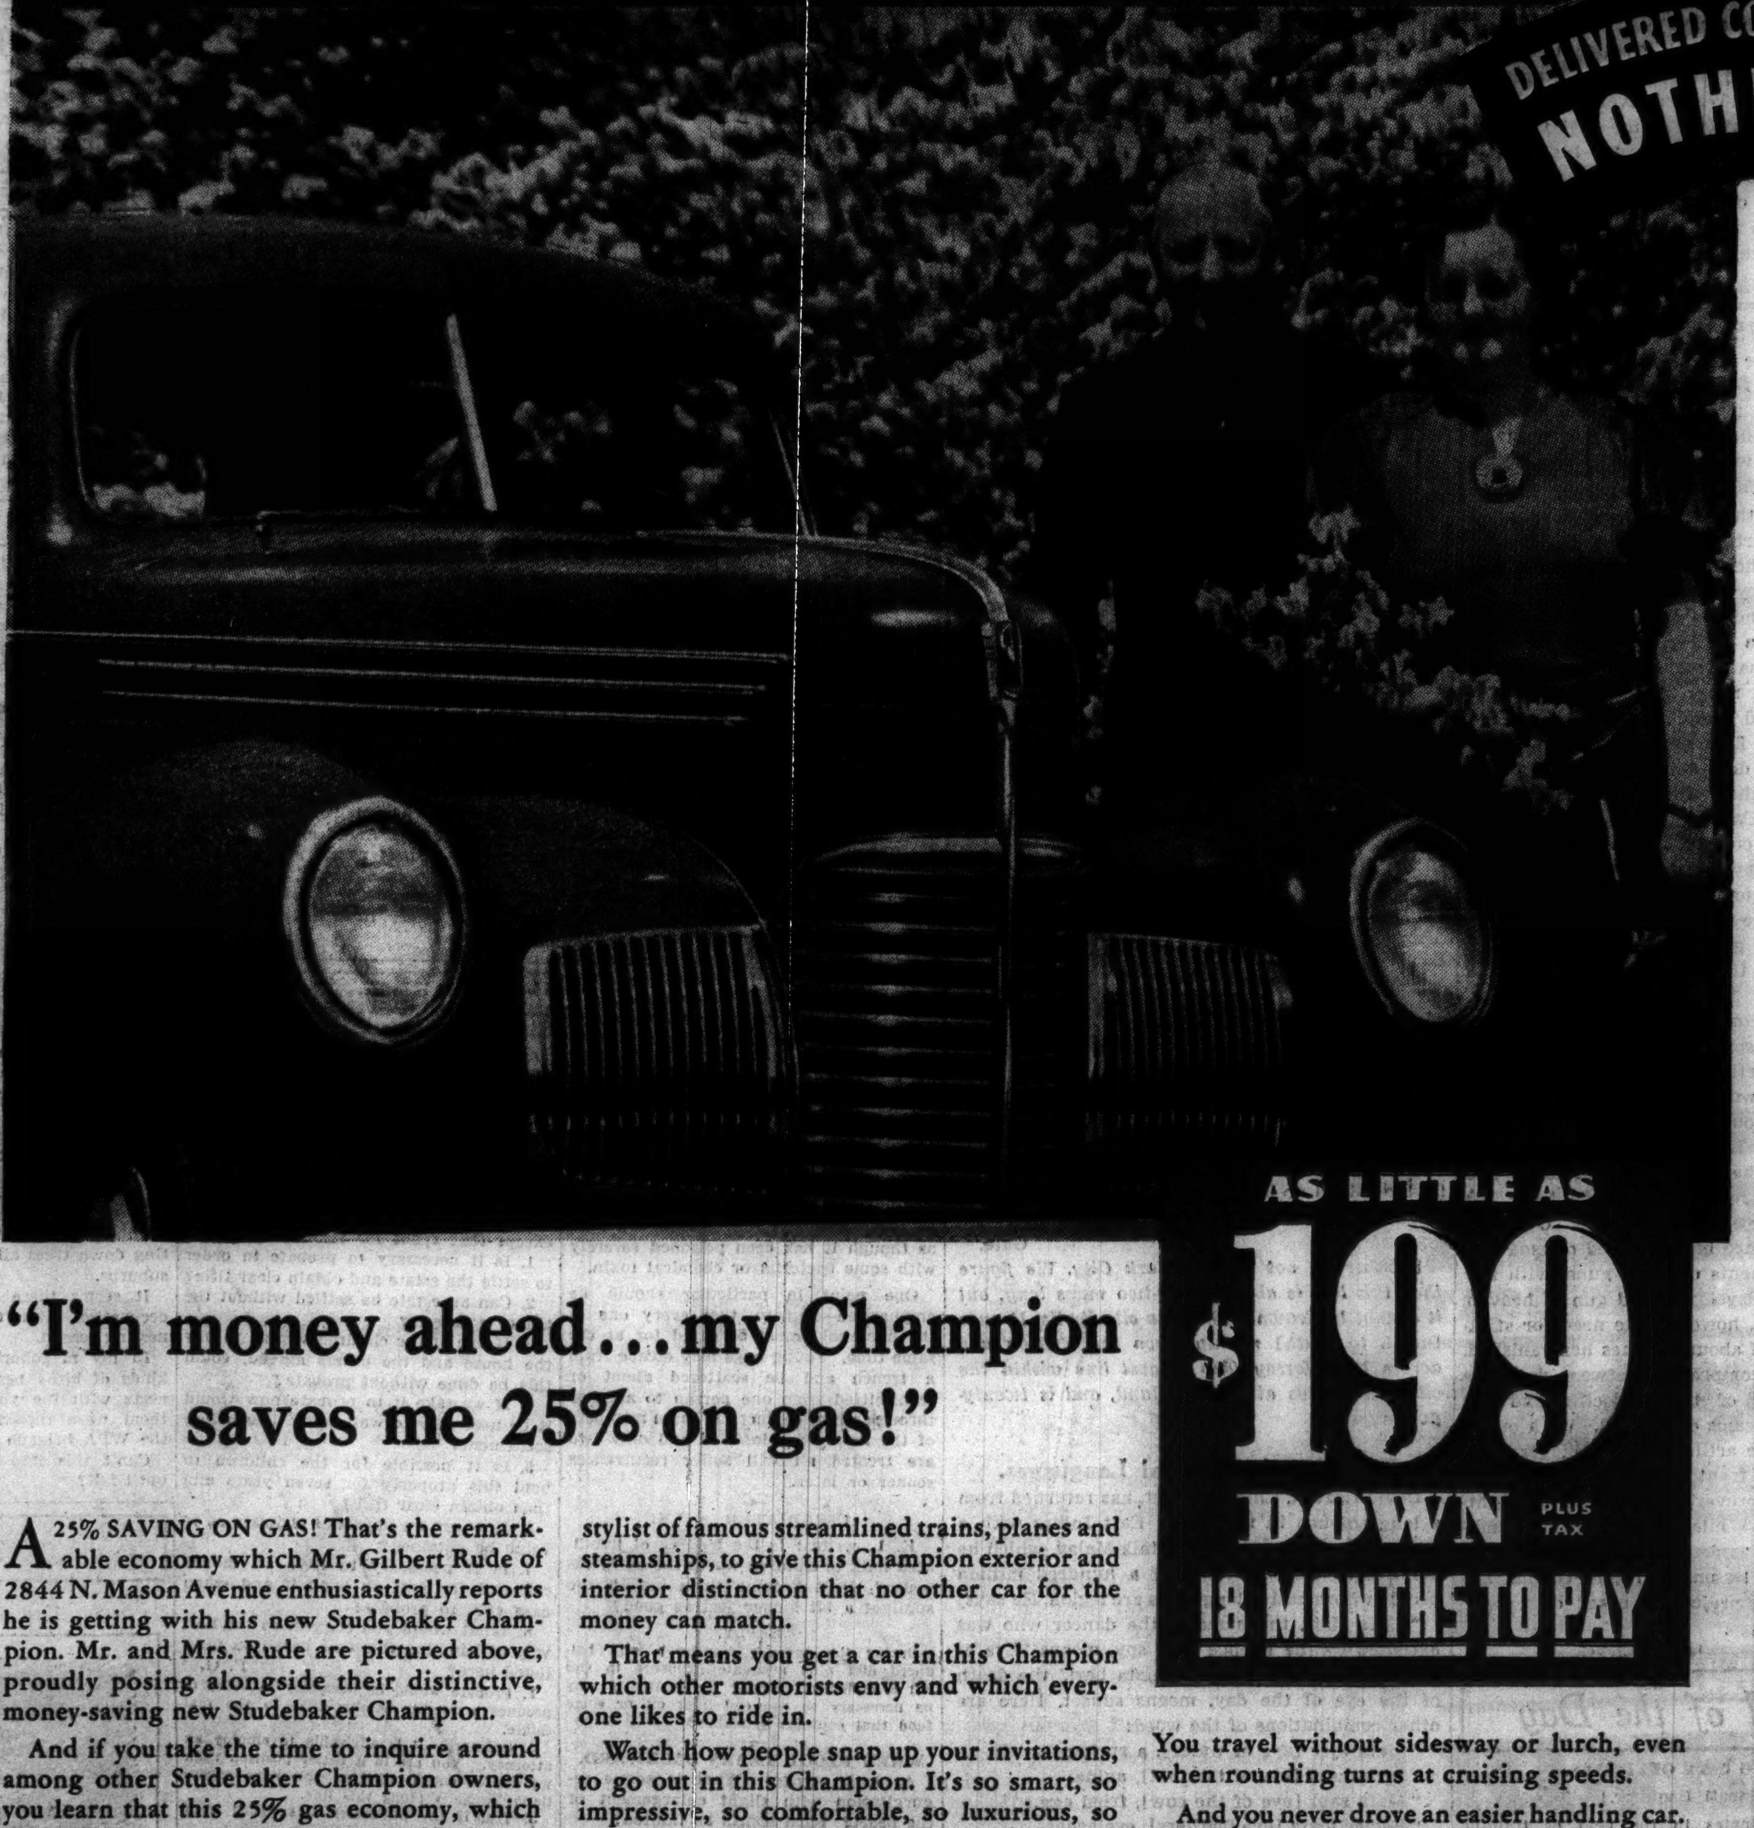
PROOF NO. 5

"You feel safe and secure in its strong solid body"—That's what Studebaker owner Dr. Matthew T. Lanser of 2200 E. 70th Place says of his Champion. "The great Studebaker craftsmen certainly must take pride in producing such a sound, solid car."



PROOF NO. 6

"I like its silent non-slam doors"—remarks Miss Christine Flanagan of 1159 E. 54th St. "It's gratifying to get so many advancements in the Champion that don't cost one extra money. I know my Champion will command a good trade-in price later on."



AS LITTLE AS

$199 DOWN PLUS TAX

18 MONTHS TO PAY

"I'm money ahead . . . my Champion saves me 25% on gas!"

A 25% SAVING ON GAS! That's the remarkable economy which Mr. Gilbert Rude of 2844 N. Mason Avenue enthusiastically reports he is getting with his new Studebaker Champion. Mr. and Mrs. Rude are pictured above, proudly posing alongside their distinctive, money-saving new Studebaker Champion.

And if you take the time to inquire around among other Studebaker Champion owners, you learn that this 25% gas economy, which the Rudes are enjoying, is matched by many other Studebaker Champion drivers throughout Chicago and suburbs. Studebaker's own tests show 10% to 25% savings over other leading lowest price cars.

It's styled to perfection by America's best designer!

You see right away that Studebaker stopped at nothing to make this Champion first among all lowest price cars in smartness and luxury.

Studebaker instructed Raymond Loewy, ace stylist of famous streamlined trains, planes and steamships, to give this Champion exterior and interior distinction that no other car for the money can match.

That means you get a car in this Champion which other motorists envy and which everyone likes to ride in.

Watch how people snap up your invitations, to go out in this Champion. It's so smart, so impressive, so comfortable, so luxurious, so sure-footed, they're thrilled to be asked.

Go for a trial drive and see how restfully it rides!

On rough roads or smooth, you get riding comfort in this beautifully balanced new Studebaker Champion that no other lowest price car comes close to giving you.

That's because Studebaker's 5-year-tested, self-stabilizing planar suspension and finest hydraulic shock absorbers are engineered into this Champion's chassis without extra charge. You travel without sidesway or lurch, even when rounding turns at cruising speeds.

And you never drove an easier handling car. Brakes, steering, starter, gear shift—all the driving controls—respond with delightful ease and a secure, solid feel. Steering wheel gear shift and non-slam Hancock rotary door latches are in-built into every Champion model at no added cost to you.

And think of it—for as little as $699 complete—or $199 down plus tax—you can be the thrilled owner of this safe, soundly built, economical Champion team mate of Studebaker's President and Commander. Come in and go for a revealing Champion trial drive!

Just a few of many advantages that you get in the money-saving new STUDEBAKER CHAMPION

THE THIRD TERM CONSPIRACY.

A. A. Berle Jr., assistant secretary of state, has outlined to the national economic committee what is actually the Roosevelt third term program. He appeared as an expert, presented by the Securities and Exchange commission, which has charge of the development of opinion and information in the monopoly inquiry.

The program, Mr. Berle explained, is based on the assumption that the private financial system does not work, that the next major downturn of the business cycle will produce an explosion, that the present government spending is not sufficient to take up more than a fraction of the capital goods production, and, finally, that the government will have to enter into the direct financing "of activities now supposed to be private."

Mr. Berle then conceded that this financing, this creation of wealth on government credit at the rate, say, of 4 billion a year, would result in the taking over of productive enterprise and that "over a period of years the government gradually will come to own most of the productive plants in the United States."

This scheme does not represent new thought. Mr. Berle was one of the original revolutionaries who were brought to Albany before the 1932 nomination. He and Raymond Moley and Rexford Tugwell were in the group of conspirators, known as the brain trusters, who discussed with Candidate Roosevelt the plans for the great reformation to follow his nomination and election. On the Albany front porch and in the library the future was explored and the general design for the economic, social, and political makeover of the United States was agreed upon. There has never been a major deviation from the plans then and there drawn up. Each step has been taken in accordance with prearrangement and for fulfillment the third term now is required.

During the first term Mr. Tugwell was the principal spokesman, aided by Mr. Wallace, whose assistant he was in the AAA. Although Mr. Roosevelt has lightly conceded from time to time that he was making a revolution, his part, as a campaigner, has been to allay suspicion and persuade the people that nothing shocking to their traditions and instincts was in the mind of any New Dealer. While trying to quiet any alarms which might be raised by a perception of how all the New Deal policies drove toward the common center of a subversive program, he was, nevertheless, successful in raising the class controversies, establishing alien class distinctions, and arousing prejudices, all of which would be useful when the time came to bring all the activities of his administration to their focal point.

Mr. Tugwell explained the collectivist objectives to be realized when the government could bring the productive enterprises of the country into a system in which quotas would be assigned to manufacturers and producers and the capital for each enterprise allocated by the government in accordance with that quota. One of the first steps would be the national licensing of corporations. Senator O'Mahoney, chairman of the committee Mr. Berle addressed, has introduced a licensing bill and is now supporting it. Allocation of capital is Mr. Berle's government financing of private industry. It and the quota system of production represent the fundamentals of Russian socialism. They give the soviet dictatorship the control of Russian economy.

The approach to such a change would require the repression of private enterprise until the revolutionaries would be given the chance to say, as Mr. Berle said, that it had failed; to say, as he did, that the "private financial system as at present constituted does not work."

What may seem strangely opposed or indifferent to the welfare of the people in the acts and utterances of Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers is only a part of the consistently advanced plan to give the United States a social, political, and economic order which Lenin would recognize as virtually his own. What seem to be heresies and ridiculous inconsistencies in the acts of the administration are such only if the assumption is that the government is trying to make a system of free enterprise work. The governmental policies are absurd only if they are accepted as a part of the old American democratic system. They are not absurd as interlocking factors in a program to abolish private capital and free enterprise; to establish in their stead the socialist state, the planned society, and the managed economy.

The otherwise senseless maneuvers of government make sense when they are viewed in the light of their true purpose. The farmers who have submitted to Mr. Wallace may not realize that they have been subsidized to accept the government quota system and that they are well on their way into the scheme which later is to be applied to industry and finance. They are already well Russianized in procedure, if not in spirit. When the planned society has reached its blooming the commissar will be on the farm as well as in the factory.

Mr. Roosevelt has had opportunity to reconstruct the Supreme court in accordance with his wishes. His appointments are all to the left wing and he may reasonably hope that if he gets his third term he will find no obstacle placed in his way by judicial decision. His other appointments have revealed his foresight in planning the revolution by giving each place available to a man prepared in idea and desire to operate such a government as Mr. Berle outlined. Only in Mr. Amlie's appointment was the scheme checked.

A third term will be necessary for the revolution because it is inconceivable that the final breakdown will occur before November, 1940. The country can stand punishment another year. The revolutionaries cannot within that time present the accomplished fact of a totally collapsed capitalism and a hopeless privately managed economy. Therefore, if the revolution is to succeed, Mr. Roosevelt must be put in the White House for another four years.

ONE WAY STREETS.

Two proposed systems of one way streets have been recommended to the city council to relieve choked trafic on the west side. They should not be considered as substitutes for elevated highways or for the proposed Congress street development.

They have, however, sufficient other advantages to recommend immediate construction. They are comparatively cheap. The proposed Jackson-Monroe system can be placed in operation, it is estimated, for less than $300,000.

They can be opened for use within a few months. Construction of the more pretentious superhighway projects, even when funds are found to finance them, will be a matter of years. There is no reason why the west side should wait that long for relief when means of relieving it in part are at immediate hand. Four or five years of immediate trafic improvements are worth the price of the systems, regardless of the fact that their utility for local trafic would continue after superhighways were finished.

No surface highway can be made as safe as an elevated highway, but the one way streets would be materially safer than the present crowded west side boulevards. One way trafic removes the hazards, both to drivers and pedestrians, that arise from opposing streams of trafic.

The southern of the two proposed systems, using Jackson boulevard and Monroe street, has two seeming advantages. It can be placed in operation at a much lower cost, although the final cost will be not much smaller than the extension eastward and westward of the present Washington boulevard-Warren avenue one way system. And it has outlets at the east through Grant park to the north and south high speed arteries. There is no reason, however, why both projects cannot be undertaken. Unless public hearings bring forth more valid objections than have appeared to date, the council should authorize them.

IS THE 75 OBSOLETE?

The current issue of the magazine Army Ordnance carries a report by Brig. Gen. Henry J. Reilly, one of the foremost American military critics, on the battlefield testing of modern artillery in the Spanish war. Gen. Reilly spent four months with Franco's army.

He reports that the Germans, who supplied much of Franco's artillery, speedily found that their 77 millimeter field guns, a modernized version of their world war gun that paralleled the famous French 75 and the American 3 inch gun, were of too small a caliber. Heavier 88 millimeter guns more than compensated for greater weight by increased range.

The infantry had decided opinions on the merits of the light field gun during the world war, but its opinion does not seem to have borne proper weight with the artillery and the ordnance department. In "Cantigny," an infantryman's story of front line combat, Jeremiah M. Evarts gives vivid testimony to the ineffectiveness of the German 77 as compared with heavier weapons, particularly the 155 millimeter, a counterpart of the 6 inch gun or howitzer. A single passage illustrates the viewpoint of the man under fire:

"Each man experimented in finding cover by digging a hole of some variety in the side of the parapet. Sometimes a direct hit on the parapet from a 77 would bury the occupant undamaged under a couple of feet of earth. Anything larger than a 77 meant no further worry."

At the close of the world war our army had several thousand French 75's, undoubtedly the most efficient field guns of their time. Our field gun development since has consisted of modifications and improvements of these guns, with few if any attempts to develop a field gun of heavier caliber. Meanwhile, however, the need for sticking to the caliber of about 3 inches has vanished. Such guns were a compromise between desirable range and weight of the projectile and the burden that horse teams could haul. With motor power replacing the artillery horse, bigger guns become feasible for front line use.

Generals have a proverbial weakness for fighting the last war. While we are spending millions of dollars to modernize our armed forces, it will be tragic if lessons of recent combat are ignored because of prejudices based on experience two decades ago.

Editorial of the Day

TRAINING CITY OFFICIALS.

[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

Cincinnati predominates in the field of training recruits for administrative jobs in municipal government, but apprentice systems of this type are in vogue now in a total of eighteen cities, a survey by the International City Managers association reveals.

At the time of the census, Cincinnati had eighty-seven university students working part time at city hall. Other cities engaged in the experiment, including Toledo, San Diego, Wichita Falls, Dallas, Morgantown, W. Va., Beloit, Wis., and Westerville, O., employ altogether a total of 108 apprentices in administrative posts of their city governments.

In ten of the eighteen cities which have undertaken the apprentice system the apprentices enter training with the understanding that satisfactory work will gain them permanent employment. The administrative job-learners are all college graduates, mostly having majored in political science, public administration or engineering. Their ages range from 21 to 34 years, and few have had previous experience. During the training period, which varies according to the city, their salaries range from $50 to $175 a month.

The system is relatively new, yet old enough to present results to illustrate its worth. Eight former apprentices have become city managers. Others have taken posts of various kinds in municipal government. A number have gone into state service. But only three have changed to private business after embarking upon their apprenticeship for municipal government service.

The plan is one that might well attain wider popularity in the United States with excellent effect upon city government as a whole. Clearly, it is desirable to attract to public service college trained young men who desire government careers. In most instances, however, the problem is not to attract them, but to make actual experience available to them.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

WE RISE TO REMARK.

The odd and ugly name for the lost submarine Squalus caused us to search for an explanation. In classic Latin [Varro, Pliny, Ovid] it means some kind of sea fish. In zoölogy its plural, Squali, designates a division of "elasmobranch" fishes which includes the sharks.

* * *

We hear that the city and park authorities are campaigning against the cottonwood tree, even to the point of using axes; and we intend to go into a huddle of indignation with Roberts Mann, our Lord High Forester. The idea that some trees are "dirty" because they shed leaves, tassels, or seeds profusely is a peasant notion that will have to be discouraged. We have even heard the catalpa, one of our favorite trees, called "dirty."

* * *

Can any one give us an adequate description, a phonetic rendering, or a phonograph record of the historically famous "rebel yell"? We are planning to use it against tax collectors.

* * *

See an article by Albert Jay Nock in the current American Mercury for an interesting clarification of the contemporary muddle of political philosophies. He finds that they all boil down into two schools: Individualism, implying voluntary coöperation, and Statism, implying forced coöperation. He regards "liberals" as an eternal menace to freedom because of their inevitable drift, in seeking fulfillment of their utopian wishes, toward Statism.

SONNET TO THE GOLD COAST.

Time was when this our Gold Coast looked its name,
With golden sands and em'rald trees and grass,
While from the East the sapphire billows came
Beneath a turquoise sky; but now—alas!
In summer often one could see green jade,
Now light, now dark; at twilight, palest blue,
As mist or clouds, or the sun's angle made
The water seem to take on changing hue.
O, I have seen such treasure in the sky
Of rubies, opals, pearls, gray, pink and white;
The winter shore with agates heaped up high;
The heavens hung with diamond stars at night.
And now—a prison scene the eye does meet:
Fence, stonework, guard tower, searchlights, all complete.

Gaycelle.

A View from the North Side "El."

Chalmers place should be mentioned in the category of odd streets or squares of Chicago. It is so little known that taxi drivers have to be told how to reach it. It lies just east of the north side "El" tracks, between Fullerton and Belden avenues.

Two groups of nine or ten houses face each other across an oval parklike section of lawn and trees. The houses, three storied, of brownish red brick, are connected and of similar architecture. Their ivy covered walls and velvety lawns give the place a settled air, a kind of old world charm. The houses are, indeed, of the old world; for they are replicas of a group of London houses seen and admired many years ago by the first Mrs. Cyrus McCormick. They are a part of the Presbyterian Theological seminary, whose school buildings, chapel, and dormitories occupy the east end of the property.

Ardee.

QUEEN IN THE GARDEN.

The garden is festive with flowers,
The garden is sweet for a queen.
The arbors are lavish rose bowers.
Such tulips I never have seen.

The garden has orioles, poppies,
And columbine (small swaying trees);
No queen could find honey that's sweeter
Although she were queen of the bees.

New York's Longest Line.

Apropos of the item, "Chicago's Longest Dimension" [29¾ miles, 5-19-'39]:

New York City from the southern limits of Staten Island or Richmond borough to the upper Bronx at Yonkers is about forty-three miles.

Gate.

[Yonkers is not in New York City. We figure that this line is about thirty-two miles long, but it cannot be drawn within the city limits. It runs [north to south] mainly down the Hudson and across New Jersey. The longest line within the city limits ends at Coney Island, and is twenty-five miles.]

The Class in Oriental Languages.

David Leavitt, Chicago artist, has returned from a long sojourn in the Dutch East Indies with a rare accomplishment: he can talk Malay, which he admires as the Esperanto of a hundred million people whose native languages are legion. He says:

"Mata Hari, the name of the dancer who was executed by the French as a spy, means 'Eye of the Day,' or the sun. 'Mati mata hari,' the death of the eye of the day, means sunset. Here are other combinations of the word:

"Mata ajer [eye of water], a spring.

"Mata kaki [eye of the foot], ankle.

"Mata sapi [eye of the cow], fried egg.

"Bacloc mata [eye feathers], eyelashes.

"Some day I hope to have a studio with my East Indian trophies on the wall and a Malay servant to whom I can shout in the imperial third person:

"Djonhos! Tuan minta whisky sama ajer-batoc. [Boy, master wants a highball.]"

Stagedoor John Technique.

My favorite stagedoor was at the Illinois theater. It was just across the alley from the baggage room of the vanished Stratford hotel. The girls could rush across there after the curtain, and come through the telephone booth room. IF you both looked as well to one another then as when she was on the stage and you were in the first row, there was a pretty how-do-you-do. If not, there was merely an adieu.

A Looper.

SO THIS IS LITERATURE!

Bring me the cleanser, mother,
For my spirit within me grovels;
Bring me the disinfectant—
I've been reading some current novels.

The Acme Furnace Fitter.

The cold wave of this week was "snowball winter," so called because it's about time for the garden shrub popularly known as "snowball" to come into bloom. "Snowball winter" is an old Chicago custom which has almost lost its name.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

GET RID OF SCABIES.

THERE are about as many causes of itching as there are diseases. The manifestation is so general—and at times so elusive—that one may find it difficult to identify the origin.

Whenever the symptom exhibits itself physicians think of the possible presence of a parasite. One such—Acarus scabiei—has been known for about three centuries. Unfortunately the human skin seems to allure this "wee beastie" and once well established it is not easy to eradicate. The female—barely visible to the naked eye—tunnels into the outer layers of the epidermis where she deposits her eggs. Within from six to eight weeks she will lay about fifty. Each hatches three or four days later and the offspring is full grown in less than two months. The typical burrow, which ends in a blind pouch, may be a half inch or more in length and is best seen on the hands or wrists.

The annoyance increases at night. The individual may be entirely free from trouble for most of the day but when warm in bed greater activity on the part of the uninvited guests is observed. This is evidenced by an almost uncontrolable desire to scratch. If the surface of the body is examined carefully, finger nail marks from "digging" will be found mingled with the channels and some scaling. The areas involved may include the spaces between the fingers, the wrists, abdomen, and buttocks.

Treatment consists first in a complete change of bedding—blankets as well as sheets—as reinfection from this source may occur. The victim is then instructed to take a hot bath, scrubbing the regions vigorously with plenty of soap. After drying, medicated ointment is applied to all portions which have been invaded. The preparation should be patted on rather than rubbed in and the coating need not be heavy. Laundered sleeping garments are then donned. The following morning—without bathing—the patient dresses in sterile clothing including a suit that has been dry cleaned.

Among the well known medicaments is a mixture of sulphur and some fatty material. This is all that is required in the majority of cases. If employed as directed for five or six nights in succession it should destroy the mites. With infants and young children the ordinary commercial compound [U. S. P.] is too strong and should be diluted to half strength.

Pyrethrum has also been recommended and is utilized in the same manner. But some patients will be sensitive to the substance and it is well as a precaution to make tests for possible allergy. The so-called Danish salve is useful when freshly concocted and will give 90 per cent or more of cures within twenty-four hours. If the salve is kept for some days or weeks little effect will be obtained because its favorable results depend upon the liberation of hydrogen sulfide as soon as it comes in touch with the cuticle. Unfortunately, it is too harsh for many skins and may be responsible for signs of irritation.

Those who are unable to banish these pests within the prescribed interval are probably reinfecting themselves from articles of clothing or from their bedding. The insects are so tiny that it takes thorough boiling in soapsuds to kill them—at least in heavy fabrics. Occasionally blankets will become contaminated and the "rascals" may live for quite some time without food.

No plan of management should be pursued for more than five or six days. In fact, any drug may be responsible for a dermatitis [inflammation] if used for too long a period. As we can well understand the rubbing of clothing or scraping with soiled finger nails may occasion swelling and increased redness due to the planting of bacteria. In such a situation the "tracks" can no longer be recognized and the surface will look as though it has been poisoned severely with some bacterial or chemical toxin.

One point in particular should be emphasized—namely, that every one in the household must be cared for at the same time. Young bugs may escape from a trench and be scattered about or transmitted from one person to another through slight contact. If three members of the family are infected and only two are treated all will suffer recurrences sooner or later.

IRRADIATED MILK.

K. L. writes: Is the feeding of irradiated milk to children worth the extra expense? Isn't keeping them out in the sunlight a bit longer just as good?

REPLY.

During the summer months a well balanced diet plus adequate exposure to Old Sol is sufficient. During the winter it may be necessary to use cod liver oil or some food that contains vitamin D.

WHEN BLOOD LEAKS BACKWARD.

A. J. M. writes: What is aortic regurgitation with slight enlargement of the heart? Must sports be limited?

REPLY.

When the valve [between the left lower chamber and the aorta] does not close tightly, some of the blood leaks backward. The result is enlargement of the left ventricle. This is nature's way of making certain that a sufficient amount of fluid enters the general circulation despite the leak. If the cardiac muscle is healthy, moderate exercise may be indulged in. Quite a different situation is presented when the valve opening in question becomes narrowed. This calls for reduced activity.

ENEMAS PERMISSIBLE.

M. L. writes: Is it safe for an elderly invalid to continue with enemas? She has taken them for many years.

REPLY.

The enema habit is not a good one to start, but in the case described it is permissible. At this stage it probably would be impossible to build up the tone of the bowel wall.

DON'T LOOK AT THE SUN.

C. F. writes: Is there any ground for the belief that looking directly at the sun benefits the eyes because of the actinic rays striking them?

REPLY.

A dangerous practice. It is not safe to outstare even a lighted 60-watt bulb. Why tackle the sun? Protect these delicate organs [eyes] from strong light.

SMOKING AND RHEUMATIC HEART.

E. T. writes: Is it advisable for a person with a rheumatic heart to smoke or drink?

REPLY.

Why burden your organs of elimination? You are already handicapped. We say no.

CROWDING IN "L" CARS.

Chicago, May 20.—There has been comment lately about improving "L" transportation on the west side. Recently three Oak Park stops have been added to the Maywood-Westchester trains. Consequently there are about once again as many people riding these trains, but, of course, the "L" company would not think of putting on any more cars. People getting on at stations toward the end of the loop are entitled to seats just as well as the earlier passengers, and there should be accommodations for all. The way it is now a person can't even stand in comfort. An "L" conductor once said they couldn't make any money unless the trains were crowded and people standing.

I wonder just how many of the so-called executives have ever stood on a crowded "L." I certainly wish they would try it some time.

CANNED BEEF THE ISSUE.

Chicago, May 23.—Having read the letters of Will Farlow and Mid-West Farmer in SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE, the injustice of both prompts me to ask for a little of your space, in fairness, to tell them that our President did not say Argentine beef was better than our own, but distinctly named "canned" beef. The facts are that American packers do not can much beef at all and none of the best. As a consequence, Argentina, which does can much beef, and its best, produces a better item and a cheaper one.

A VOICE FOR VANDENBERG.

Chicago, May 22.—THE TRIBUNE'S editorial declaring Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan the most useful member of the United States senate should prove the keynote to expressions in behalf of that able, versatile, and tireless leader which will result in placing him at the helm to chart our ship of state into a harbor of social and economic soundness.

Let's join with the governor and legislators of Michigan in drafting the reluctant senator who knows the problems of the student, the employé, and employer alike. He is a man for all the people.

W. B. FREEMAN.

WANT SALARY CUTS RESTORED.

Chicago, May 22.—A city employé signing himself as Fair Play "resents the teachers being given a raise at present." If he really believed in fair play he would be willing for school employés to have a full restoration of salary cuts. That is all they are asking for. The employés of the city and of all other local government except the school board have had complete restoration of salaries for one to four years. The school employés, who took the largest salary slash, are still taking a 9.8% cut. They hope to do better in 1940; hence the new pegged levy bill.

KERMIT EBY,
Executive Secretary, Chicago Teachers' Union.

COAST GUARD AND THE NAVY.

Chicago, May 22.—Among your answers to test questions one, relating to names of navy tugs, is incorrect.

All United States coast guard cutters are named after Indian tribes, and small United States navy tugs, of which there are a few, are named after islands.

The navy has a number of ex-mine sweepers which are used as seagoing tugs and they are named after birds.

The coast guard comes under the head of the treasury department. Only in time of war does the coast guard become a part of the navy.

IN THE NESTING SEASON.

Chicago, May 22.—The WPA are cutting down trees all through the city and suburbs.

It seems there could be some other occupation given these men during the nesting season.

In my neighborhood there are many kinds of birds besides sparrows. Their nests with the young birds already in them were thrown into the street by the WPA brigade last Thursday.

Can't this tree cutting be postponed until fall?

ELEVENTH HOUR ECONOMY.

Chicago, May 22.—A few years back an investigation disclosed the fact that Henry Horner, while seeking the nomination for governor, had created approximately 1,600 temporary jobs for his political workers. The salaries of those jobs were paid at that time by the same taxpayers that Gov. Horner now proposes to save from bankruptcy.

The governor's suggestion at this late date recalls the medicine man who suggested cough drops for the patient in the last stages of pneumonia. What the patient needed was an oxygen tent. What we need is not a preventive against more taxes but a cut of at least 50% on all present taxes.

JOHN J. MANGAN.

FAVORS THE PARCEL POST.

Chicago, May 21.—E. A. Anderson says in THE TRIBUNE that railway express is a better and cheaper service than parcel post.

I have made about 15,000 shipments in the last five years and have yet to lose a parcel post shipment while express orders have a casualty rating of 3% loss, not including damages. Why use express? Because the postoffice will not accept packages over seventy pounds.

No, Mr. Anderson, you have never done shipping of any account or you would not make such a statement. As for loss by the postoffice each year, charge that to the franking privilege and second-class mail.

SHIPPER.

TO SELL WE MUST BUY.

Chicago, May 18.—In answer to 100 per cent American, Perry ч. Smith, who probably has never stepped outside of his own little circle. I think Argentine beef is better. Does that make me un-American? Congress is loaded with Mr. Smith's type of Americanism. He should try to understand that if we in North America wish to continue to sell to Latin American countries we must buy—or isn't that his idea of Americanism? Does he know that over 90 per cent of all trucks and passenger cars in that country, as well as the ·ther Latin countries, are North American cars?

AS CLEAR AS MUD.

Chicago, May 21.—If a fellow asks you to explain why folks go hungry because there is too much to eat, and you don't know the answer, just call him a lousy communist. This will make as clear as mud why folks go hungry because there is too much to eat. But at least it shows you know as much as the average congressman.

ESTATE ASSETS.

Chicago, May 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Both parents passed away two years ago leaving no will. They owned a house. There are four children [all of age] who have been collecting rent from the property. This rent money is intact except that spent for taxes.

1. Is it necessary to probate in order to settle the estate and obtain clear title?
2. Can an estate be settled without the aid of a lawyer?
3. If one of the children wished to buy the house and the others agreed, could this be done without probate?
4. If we take it to probate now would it be necessary to wait some time before settlement?
5. Is it possible for the children to hold this property for seven years and then obtain clear title?
6. How can an impartial estimate as to value be obtained?
7. Is it necessary to have all money collected for rent on hand if and when case goes to probate?
8. What would you suggest as the best way of handling this case based on facts listed here?

P. G.

1. Probate would be necessary in order to produce a readily salable title to the real estate.
2. Ordinarily it is advisable to employ an attorney. You are in a better position than we are to decide whether you have exceptional capacity along this line.
3. Yes, if the purchaser is satisfied with the title as it stands.
4. Under Illinois law, creditors are allowed a year in which to file their claims. Ordinarily there is no distribution until the end of such year.
5. By judicial rule the limitation period on claims is seven years, and hence your chances of satisfying a purchaser would be better after the seven years.
6. Take the matter up with a local broker.
7. Depends on whether the estate is solvent.
8. Employ an attorney and leave the choice of procedure to him.

1. Who was king of England when Thomas à Becket was killed?
[a] Henry II., [b] Edward III., [c] George I.
2. The words loot, chintz, bangle and thug came into English from what language?
[a] Chinese, [b] Hindustani, [c] German.
3. Where is the Ubangi river?
[a] Southern Brazil, [b] eastern Siberia, [c] central Africa.
4. What fear would you have if you were afflicted with hematophobia?
[a] Fear of high places, [b] fear of animals, [c] fear of blood.

BRITAIN NEVER WILL WAR ON U. S., KING DECLARES

Cites Long Reign of Peace in Winnipeg Speech.

WINNIPEG, May 24.—(AP)—King George VI. observed British empire day in this heart of the Canadian prairies today with a world-wide radio address which extolled "the faith in reason and fair play" which he said was shared by Great Britain, the United States, and his dominion of Canada.

This joint faith, he said, was "one of the chief ideals that guides the British empire in all its ways today."

"Canada and the United States have had to dispose of searching differences of aim and interest during the past hundred years; but never has one of these differences been resolved by force or by threat," the king said.

"No man, thank God, will ever again conceive of such arbitrament between the peoples of my empire and the people of the United States."

Longest He Ever Broadcast.

The king paused in his tour of Canada with Queen Elizabeth to make the address, the longest he ever has broadcast. He gave the 800 word speech in a resonant voice, slowly as always. His words were carried throughout the far-flung empire, honoring Queen Victoria's birthday, across the principal radio networks in the United States, and to France and other countries.

The king and queen arrived in this metropolis and capital of Manitoba, at 11:30 a. m. [Chicago time], with the most precious of all gifts to the wheat producing prairies—rain. And in return they received a warm western welcome on a chilly, sunless day.

American flags waved with British flags on some buildings and in many hands along the streets where it was estimated 50,000 visitors from below the international border braved bad weather to join the 250,000 people of Winnipeg.

Minnesota's Governor Present.

The American visitors included Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, a large delegation from the American Legion, fourteen American bands, and many school children from Minnesota and North Dakota.

Rain ran down the queen's neck as she stood under a dripping canopy for presentations. The king's right hand ached from being caught in a door last night. But the queen never lost her smile nor the king his poise.

In the open car the queen carried a small dark red umbrella to protect her golden tan costume and mannish hat of peaked crown. The king wore a new raincoat over an admiral's informal uniform.

The first stop on Winnipeg's wide streets was at the city hall, where civic interest, apart from welcoming the sovereigns, was fixed on whether Laborite Mayor John Queen would wear a new silk top hat which was a gift from Mayor Ralph Day of Toronto.

There was his honor in the shining tile and correct formal dress, even though he had announced he would not dress up for the king. He had changed his mind on receiving the hat. Most of his colleagues were in plain business suits.

After the city hall reception, there was one at the legislative building. Premier John Bracken declared that "the civilization that is now being built, on these western plains, will necessarily be different from the civilization of the British Isles," but professed proud allegiance to the crown.

Then there was a luncheon at government house, where Lieut. Gov. W. J. Tupper presided; a drive through twenty-six miles of Winnipeg streets and a St. Boniface city hall reception.

Hudson Bay Pays the Rent.

In the late afternoon King George stopped at old Fort Garry, now a Winnipeg park, to take part in a unique ceremony. He received from Patrick Ashley Cooper, the governor of the Hudson Bay company, two elk heads and two rare black beaver pelts. These were to be paid by the trading company, which was founded in 1670, whenever the king or his heirs visited the company's domain.

Today offered the first opportunity in history for the payment of the "rent" to a reigning monarch.

Leaving at 8 p. m. [Chicago time] the royal party was scheduled to make a twenty minute stop at Brandon at 11:10 p. m. and then reach Regina, Sask., at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Festival Queen

ESTHER ANN WALKER.

Ontario, Cal., May 24.—[Special.]—Esther Ann Walker was chosen Queen of Oranges to rule over the festive picnic at the All-States festival here. Thousands of gallons of orange juice were served to representatives of forty-eight state societies at what was called the world's largest picnic table. More than a mile long, the table was set up in the Euclid avenue parkway.

QUEEN MOTHER SUFFERS ACHES AFTER CAR CRASH

LONDON, May 24.—(AP)—Queen Mother Mary was officially stated tonight to be suffering from stiffness and troublesome pain as a result of the automobile accident in which she was bruised yesterday. However, her "progress is taking a satisfactory course," said a bulletin issued at Marlborough house, her home. "An x-ray examination excludes any damage to the bones. The condition of the eye is improving."

The eye injury was disclosed only today. This injury, "although painful, is not a source of anxiety," an earlier bulletin had said.

Queen Mary listened to the radio broadcast of her son, King George's empire day speech in Winnipeg and a broadcast of the Derby at Epsom Downs. Queen Mary, who will be 72 years old on Friday, canceled an advance birthday party planned for tomorrow.

Later Tavern Closing Hours Urged by Ald. M'Dermott

A new set of tavern closing hours was proposed by Ald. James J. Mc Dermott [14th] in a resolution introduced in the city council yesterday. He would close drinking places at 2 a. m. on weekdays and 3 a. m. on Sundays, instead of an hour earlier. And places with amusement licenses he suggested, could remain open an hour longer, to 3 and 4 a. m., respectively. McDermott contended that the present rigid enforcement of the closing law is driving customers to drink outside the city and costing Chicago bartenders and waiters their jobs.

TRUSTEE BEGINS QUIZ ON COST OF SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Scans Contracts; Board Re-elects McCahey.

Trustee Bernard L. Majewski announced yesterday that he will examine current board of education contracts to determine whether or not the board is being gouged by contractors.

Majewski's curiosity was aroused by specifications prepared by the board's business manager for the purchase of crayons. Instead of setting a standard for the crayons to be bought, the specifications called for the crayons under a trade name.

Contracts to Be Studied.

Majewski protested, asserting that lower prices could be obtained if the business manager merely set a standard for the goods to be purchased. The trustee then asked permission to examine all present contracts. President James B. McCahey said the board would be happy to have Majewski examine them.

McCahey was reëlected to a seventh term, and Vice President Irwin N. Walker to a second. All the trustees voted for the reëlections except Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, who passed her vote. She explained later that she objected to some of McCahey's remarks in his recital of the board's accomplishments under his régime.

McCahey Lists Achievements.

McCahey said that with the board's help he would continue his program of operating the schools for the benefit of the children while giving due consideration to the taxpayers. Among the recent accomplishments of the board he listed the following:

Reduction of the interest rate on school anticipation warants to 1¾ per cent, the lowest rate in the board's history; reduction of the board's funded debt by 2 million dollars; reduction of the unpaid tax warants outstanding by 8 million dollars, and provision for fifty-six new school buildings or additions, to cost $9,600,000.

Nero Revised: Hero Saves Fiddle While Home Burns

Two families were routed yesterday morning when fire attacked a two story frame dwelling at 3127 Kenilworth avenue, Berwyn, causing damage estimated at $7,500. Fireman Charles Rolnik made two trips through the smoke and flames on the second floor to save a violin 200 years old belonging to Betty Smith, 19, a Morton Junior college violinist.

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acid waste in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be over-worked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of poisonous waste.

When functional kidney disorder permits poisonous matter to remain in the blood, you won't feel well. This may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. If you have trouble with frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning, there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

TRIALS TO TEAR VEIL FROM GRAFT IN PENNSYLVANIA

High Democrats Face Hearing Within Month.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Harrisburg, Pa., May 24.—[Special.]—Trials of twelve Democratic leaders on charges of official corruption arising from scandals in the administration of former Gov. George H. Earle are expected to start here in the state capital within a month.

Topping the list of the political bigwigs under indictment is David L. Lawrence, state chairman of the Democratic party and state secretary in the Earle cabinet.

Airing of the dirty linen of the Earle administration hangs on a court ruling. The defense has moved to quash the indictment on technical grounds, such as the charge that District Attorney Carl B. Shelley of Dauphin county had an illegal number of assistants in the grand jury room during the investigation.

The decision rests with Judge Howard W. Hughes of the quarter sessions court of Washington county, who was designated by the State Supreme court to preside over the trials. Judge Hughes is expected to rule this week.

Party Fight Bares Graft.

Revelations of widespread graft and corruption in Pennsylvania's affairs originated with the Democrats themselves during the primary campaign a year ago. In a fight for control of the party, the ticket backed by United States Senator Joseph F. Guffey was defeated by the nominees of the Earle-Lawrence faction.

At the peak of the campaign, the state attorney general, Charles J. Margiotti, asked District Attorney Shelley to start the grand jury investigation. Gov. Earle immediately fired Margiotti.

During the summer, Earle's new attorney general, Guy K. Bard, attempted to block the grand jury action by superseding Shelley. When the Supreme court refused to countenance this move, the Democratic controled state legislature at the instigation of Gov. Earle began an abortive inquiry to whitewash the accused.

Democrats Lose; Jury on Job.

However, the Democrats were snowed under in Pennsylvania on election day. Gov. Earle, the Democratic nominee for senator, was defeated by the veteran Republican, Senator James J. Davis, and Earle's running mate, Charles Alvin Jones, was beaten in the race for governor by Judge Arthur H. James, the G. O. P. standard bearer.

Then the grand jury went to work in December and the indictments of the twelve men, and two men who have died, followed.

The grand jury in one of its presentments recommended that Ex-Gov. Earle's possible connection with the graft ring be investigated further.

It will be recalled that Earle admitted he took $26,000 in what he called "loans" from Matthew M. McCloskey, Philadelphia contractor. McCloskey subsequently enjoyed more than 10 million dollars' worth of contracts on public works projects. The contracts were awarded by the general state authority, of which the chairman was Earle.

Two cases involving charges that Sunday movie and beer legislation were sold for high sums in 1935 have been outlawed by the statute of limitations.

Here's Case in Brief.

A résumé of the findings of the grand jury and the charges against the twelve Democratic defendants follows:

State Chairman Lawrence was indicted for conspiracy to defraud the commonwealth, statutory blackmail, and violating the election laws. Lawrence is alleged to have extorted $5,000 from a gravel contractor doing business with the state, failed to report the payment to the party organization, and influenced the writing of gravel specifications so that only one contractor, a political friend, could comply.

Lawrence and Ralph M. Bashore, secretary of labor and industry in the Earle cabinet and secretary of the state Democratic organization, were indicted for forcing state employés to fork over campaign contributions.

Levy on Workers Charged.

Under indictment also for unlawfully levying money from state employés are Carl K. Deen, resident secretary for the state Democratic organization in Harrisburg, and five other Democratic politicians.

James P. Kirk, Democratic chairman of Alleghany county and Pittsburgh city treasurer, and H. H. Temple, former chief engineer for the department of highways, were indicted for defrauding the state by running a racket on contractors' insurance.

Kirk's alleged representative, Victor Skok, and the late Warren Van Dyke, head of the highway departments, were also indicted.

Roy E. Brownmiller, secretary of highways in the Earle cabinet, was indicted for the $1,670,000 pay roll fraud in Luzerne county during the last election campaign.

The grand jury reported a total of 30,000 men employed by the state and WPA engaged in improving 734 miles of state roads in the county.

ACT TO REDISTRIBUTE MILLIONS IN MISSOURI INSURANCE RATE CASE

Jefferson City, Mo., May 24.—(AP)—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark has directed State Insurance Superintendent Ray B. Lucas to take immediate action to recover for Missouri policyholders the $8,000,000 involved in the O'Malley compromise.

Lucas will go to Kansas City Monday to ask a three judge federal court to set aside the $9,500,000 fire insurance rate compromise of three years ago.

Under that compromise the insurance companies and agents got 80 per cent, the policyholders 20 per cent. Monday, when Boss Tom Pendergast of Kansas City pleaded guilty to income tax evasion, United States District Attorney Maurice Milligan charged the compromise was made possible by payment of huge sums to Pendergast and R. Emmet O'Malley, then state superintendent of insurance. Stark later ousted O'Malley, who now is under indictment on tax evasion charges.

FORMER CHICAGO WOMAN DIES.

Holland, Mich., May 24.—[Special.]—Mrs. Charles Jeanicke, 73 years old, a resident of this vicinity for fifteen years, died today. She was born in Germany and was a former Chicago resident. Funeral services will be held Saturday in Oak Park with burial in Waldheim cemetery, Chicago.

U. S. ARMY LIEUTENANT KILLED IN AIRPLANE CRASH IN MICHIGAN

Marlette, Mich., May 24.—[Special.]—Lieut. Hamilton McClure was killed today when his army airplane crashed near here while he was on a routine training flight over eastern Michigan. The plane smashed into the ground about 75 yards from where a farmer was plowing. McClure was the only occupant of the ship.

The pilot of a plane that had accompanied Lieut. McClure on the flight from Selfridge field near Detroit said he was in radio communication with McClure a few moments before the crash. Suddenly McClure's plane dived from their position above the clouds and plunged to the ground.

Lieut. McClure was 27 years old. He was the son of W. B. McClure of Fort Worth, Tex. The young officer was a member of the army air reserve attached to the 94th pursuit squadron and had reported at Selfridge field on March 1, 1938.

FOUND SLAIN IN JUNGLE.

Clinton, Ill., May 24.—[Special.]—A man identified by a card on his body as James Ross, 55 years old, of Kansas City, Mo., was found slain early this morning in the "jungles" on the Illinois Central railroad right of way near here. The man had been struck over the eyes with a sharp instrument.

HOW MARY AND BILL SAVED MONEY ON THEIR TRIP TO THE SAN FRANCISCO WORLD'S FAIR AND SAW TWICE AS MUCH!

1 MARY: Southern Pacific's got something here. They have four routes to California. We can go to the San Francisco World's Fair on one route, return on another and see twice as much of the West.

BILL: Humph! I'll bet it costs twice as much, too!

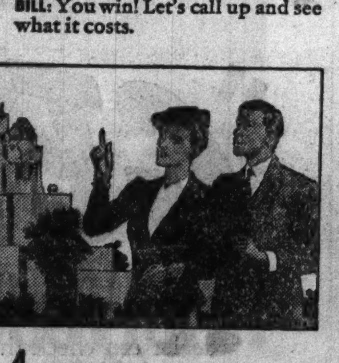
2 MARY: No. From here we can go one way and return another for the same rail fare we'd pay to go and return on the same route. And they have two marvelous trains that are just made for people with big ideas and little pocketbooks, like us—the Californian on the Golden State Route and the San Francisco Challenger on the Overland Route.

BILL: You win! Let's call up and see what it costs.

3 MARY: Imagine getting a whole dinner on the train for 35¢ and luncheon for 30¢ and breakfast for 25¢. Pinch me, I must be dreaming!

BILL: No, you're not dreaming. This is the Californian, and the stewardess says this swell scenery we're passing through is Southern Arizona. I just saw an Indian.



4 MARY: This San Francisco World's Fair is the most beautiful thing I ever saw. I wouldn't have missed it for anything.

BILL: You said it. We've seen the whole world, right here on Treasure Island.

5 (going home on the San Francisco Challenger) MARY: This train is just like the Californian—easy on the budget.

BILL: ... but the scenery's different. Now I see what they mean by "see twice as much."

CREDITORS SUE VINCENT BENDIX IN BANKRUPTCY

Debts 3 Million; Admits Huge Realty Losses.

A petition requesting that Vincent Bendix, president of the Bendix Aviation company and several firms manufacturing automotive parts, be declared an involuntary bankrupt was filed yesterday by three Chicago creditors in the federal District court at South Bend, Ind. It was charged that Bendix has debts exceeding $3,000,000 and assets of less than $500,000.

Vincent Bendix.

The court appointed Thad M. Talcott of South Bend receiver for the personal finances of Bendix, who has twenty days in which to answer the petition.

Through his attorneys, Samuel B. Pettengill and G. A. Farabaugh of South Bend, Bendix issued a statement attributing his financial difficulties to unfortunate Chicago real estate transactions in the pre-depression days. At one time he controled Chicago properties valued at more than $5,000,000, including the former Potter Palmer residence on Lake Shore drive and a square block south of it. On all of it he took heavy losses, he said.

Says Industries Aren't Involved.

"I wish to make plain," he said in the statement, "that this matter does not involve the Bendix Aviation corporation or any affiliated companies.

"Substantially all my debts except one secured loan are due to contingent liabilities. Over ten years I personally guaranteed certain large bond issues on Chicago real estate. Other guarantors who might have shared the responsibility have been unable to do so, leaving me to meet the obligations practically alone.

"Asset values have constantly shrunk while my obligations increased through accrual of interest and taxes. This has created a burden which has become impossible for me to carry.

Women Bondholders Sue.

"I wish to make it clear that substantially all obligations for which I personally received the proceeds have been paid or are secured. The debts I did not pay are mostly those resulting from guarantees of real estate bonds in 1928 or growing out of double liability on bank stocks."

Bendix recalled that a judgment for $2,058,000 had been rendered against him in the Superior court here last January. This judgment was in favor of the City National Bank and Trust company as successor trustee. It was based on his guarantee of a $1,600,000 bond issue of the Michigan-Delaware-Chestnut Realty trust, which proposed to erect a building on Michigan avenue south of the Palmolive building. The site is now a parking lot.

Among the bondholders of Michigan-Delaware-Chestnut are Mrs. Margaret Fischer, Mrs. Celia Daniels, and Mrs. Marie Simmonds, who filed the bankruptcy petition through the legal firm of Schwartz & Cooper of Chicago. Each has a claim ranging from $710 to $2,840 against Bendix under his guarantee.

MELVIN PURVIS MAY BECOME NEW CHIEF OF EVANSTON POLICE

Melvin H. Purvis, one of the chief actors in the slaying of Bandit John Dillinger, may be the new chief of police of Evanston, it was indilated last night. There were unconfirmed reports that Mayor Henry D. Penfield had talked twice to Purvis, who is at Charlotte, N. C., and that Purvis is in "a receptive mood."

Melvin H. Purvis.

All that Mayor Penfield would say last night was that "you have hit it pretty close." William O. Freeman, who has resigned, will relinquish the position July 1.

Purvis is now writing his "Dillinger memoirs" in the southeastern city. He was recently reported to be considering a post with the North Carolina state police.

O. W. Wilson of Wichita, Kas., who on Tuesday was reported to have been asked to take the job, said yesterday that he was not a candidate.

BODY TAKEN FROM LAKE.

The body of an elderly man was taken from Lake Michigan off Monroe street last night. A notebook with the name "Mr. Iacovetty, 901 South Loomis street, third floor front," was found in a pocket.

JAPS MAY MARCH INTO SHANGHAI'S FOREIGN SECTION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, May 24.—Important developments today indicated that Japan, far from withdrawing its military forces from the international settlement of Kulangsu at Amoy, has decided to send troops into the international settlement of Shanghai. This action probably will be taken unless Japanese demands for reorganization of the municipal council and for curbing anti-Japanese agitation are heeded.

Declaring Japan has a natural right to send its forces into international settlements to clean up hostile elements, a foreign office spokesman said: "Japan's objective is to place China's sovereignty under its control and all parts of China ought to be regarded as being under Japanese control."

The newspaper Hochi predicted that Japan will increase the strength of a landing party at Kulangsu due to the provocative and insulting attitude of the Chinese.

[The Japanese navy on May 12 landed a force which occupied Kulangsu. The United States, Britain, and France thereupon landed naval parties, each of exactly the same size as the Japanese force—forty-two men.]

American and Wife Freed by German Secret Police

VIENNA, May 24.—(AP)—The release of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rosson, American citizens who were arrested at Graz, Austria, nearly a month ago, was announced today. They had been held by the gestapo [German secret police] on charges of photographing military objects. Their arrest was attributed to a "misunderstanding." Rosson, a motion picture photographer, had received authorization from the German military authorities to take certain pictures, it was said in diplomatic circles. Two British citizens, Jack Whitehead and William Allen, held on the same charge, were released at the same time.

G. O. P. JUDICIAL RIVAL POPS IN ON DEMOCRAT RALLY

Hits Nonpartisan Tag on Campaign Group.

The Citizens' Nonpartisan Judicial Campaign committee, organized to support the Democratic nominees in the election of June 5, was treated to a surprise yesterday at its first public demonstration, a meeting in the Palmer House.

Arnold R. Baar, one of the nominees on the Republican ticket, suddenly spoke up from the rear of the room, was recognized by Chairman Henry F. Tunney, and then launched into a discussion of the question whether the name selected for the committee was chosen accurately. He wanted to know how the organization could be a nonpartisan one when the one purpose of its existence is to support the Democratic ticket.

Explains His Viewpoint.

"As a Republican candidate," Baar said, "I regret to oppose some of the sitting judges, whom I know to be able, experienced, and qualified. But I am wondering if the people who have joined this so-called nonpartisan committee know what they are doing.

"I can understand a Republican's being for a Republican ticket and a Democrat's supporting a Democratic ticket, but I can't understand how a nonpartisan group can indorse and support what I consider a partisan ticket."

Most of the Democratic nominees were present, and Republican Baar did not have to wait long for an answer. Several were offered. The chief one came from Circuit Judge Hugo M. Friend, a Republican now running under the Democratic label.

Judge Poses Questions.

"Don't you know," the jurist asked Baar, "that the principle of coalition is ninety-one years old in this community and that it has been approved repeatedly by the people of Cook county because it has operated to keep the courts free of political domination?

"Don't you know that the Republican convention first voted in favor of coalition and indorsed the sitting judges with one exception, and then, without a public explanation, proceeded to nominate an entire ticket giving no recognition to the sitting judges?

"Don't you know that the Republican sitting judges accepted nomination on the Democratic ticket with the understanding there would be coalition to insure the election of independent judges?'

Warns G. O. P. Members.

Baar admitted that coalition has operated well in the past but he warned the Republicans on the Democratic slate that, if this Democratic ticket wins, there will be no Republicans supported by the Democratic organization in the next judicial election.

Through their publicity committee, of which Rupert F. Bippus is chairman, the Republican nominees as a group struck at their adversaries with an attack on Judges Stanley H. Klarkowski and Michael Feinberg, Republicans on the Democratic ticket. The principal citation was a quotation from the report of the Chicago Bar association's committee on receiverships and foreclosures in 1933. That report condemned both of these judges.

HORSERADISH MAN'S SLAYER GETS 1-14 YEARS

After the state had finished presenting evidence to a jury in a murder trial at Geneva yesterday, the defendant, George Cibleski, 60 years old, suddenly changed his plea to guilty and threw himself on the mercy of the court.

Judge Frank W. Shepherd sentenced Cibleski to 1 to 14 years in Joliet penitentiary on a manslaughter count in the indictment against him. Cibleski was charged with slaying Fred Speiker, 58, with an ax in Speiker's home at 962 Sard avenue, Aurora, Feb. 25.

Speiker was an Aurora character known as "the horseradish man." He employed Cibleski to make deliveries for him and they lived in a basement room.

Mercy Dash Baby, 10 Days Old, Awaiting Operation

A baby, 10 days old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray James, Sandusky, O., was in Mercy hospital yesterday after an automobile dash from Sandusky. The infant is suffering from a stomach obstruction and was given an immediate blood transfusion Tuesday night. His mother said that an operation probably would be performed soon. She and the child were brought here by the baby's uncle, Dr. Thaddeus Jasinski, a Chicagoan.

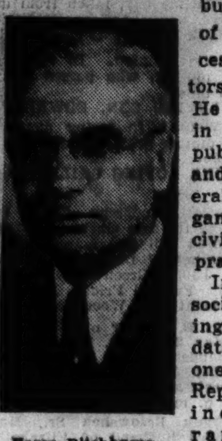
EYE DITCHBURNE, BROUILLET AND CLARK CAREERS

3 Seek Judicial Posts on G. O. P. Ticket.

[This is the seventeenth in a series of articles on candidates in the judicial election of June 5. Today's sketches discuss three Republican candidates.]

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

As an assistant state's attorney from 1927 to 1933, Harry S. Ditchburne was one of the most successful prosecutors on the staff. He was a leader in the war on public enemies and received several threats from gangland. Many civic groups praised his work.



Harry Ditchburne.

In the bar association balloting on candidates, he was one of the six Republican nominees indorsed, ranking first among the nominees on his party's ticket with 1,273 votes. The bar committee on candidates called him well qualified, pointed to his excellent record as a prosecutor, and added: "He is courteous, able, and upright. He is a lawyer of experience and possesses a judicial temperament."

A Native of Chicago.

Mr. Ditchburne is 53 years old. He was born in Chicago, received his early education in the public schools and was graduated from the John Marshall Law school in 1910, coming to the bar that year.

After his resignation from the state's attorney's staff in 1933, he was a candidate for judge of the Circuit court. He was also a candidate for state's attorney on the Republican ticket in 1936. He is president of the 1940 club, a G. O. P. organization for the party's success next year. He is married and lives at 317 West Marquette road.

CLARK N. U. ALUMNI HEAD

Harold J. Clark, another of the Republican candidates indorsed in the bar association vote, is president of the Northwestern University Alumni association and has frequently held public office in Evanston. He was city attorney for the suburb in 1922 and is now a member of its board of local improvements.

Harold Clark.

Mr. Clark, who is 47 years old, was born in Syracuse, N. Y. He is the son of Prof. J. Scott Clark, who was head of the Northwestern university English department from 1892 to 1911. Mr. Clark took his law degree at Northwestern in 1915. He was a member of the varsity track team.

Lieutenant in World War.

During the world war he was a lieutenant of field artillery at Camp Taylor, Ky. He was a director of the Chicago Crime commission from 1923 to 1928 and is a director of the Evanston Y. M. C. A. He was Republican precinct committeeman from the 7th ward in Evanston in 1922.

In the bar election he polled 854 votes on 2,083 ballots. The candidates' committee called him well qualified, saying: "He possesses integrity, an even temperament, and a pleasing and courteous personality. He is fair minded, diligent, and serious in purpose."

Mr. Clark is married and has a son and a daughter. He lives at 1630 Ashland avenue, Evanston.

BROUILLET ONCE NEWSBOY

Hector A. Brouillet has been a practicing attorney in Chicago for 31 years. He was born on the west side 52 years ago, worked as a newsboy during his grammar school days and took his degree from the Chicago Kent College of Law in 1908.

Hector Brouillet.

He entered the corporation counsel's office in 1917 and from 1918 to 1922 was a trial lawyer in the city attorney's office. He was in the law department of the sanitary district from 1922 to 1926, being chief attorney the last two years.

Although Mr. Brouillet was one of the sanitary district lawyers named by the bar association in charges of pay roll padding during the district's whoopee era, he was later cleared of the charges. He was a candidate for the Municipal court in 1936.

The bar committee report on him read: "He is a lawyer of considerable experience, whose clients commend him for honesty and proficiency in his professional work. We doubt his capacity for judicial office." In the bar election, the lawyers gave him 117 votes on 2,083 ballots.

Mr. Brouillet lives at 3532 South California avenue. He is married and has a daughter.

Love Comes a Cropper on a Stolen Bicycle

Miss Shirley Levin of 1414 North Washtenaw avenue rode on the handlebars. Arnold Chalen of 2146 Evergreen avenue pedaled. She's 23. He's 28. They're in love. But do you think Richard Hoffman of 3268 Palmer street thought they were a charming sight when he saw them last night? Not at all. Richard, who's 15, had them arrested, because, he said, it was his missing bicycle they were riding. Miss Levin said she bought the bicycle from a stranger for $11.

REFUSE TO INDICT SUSPECT IN GARY GIRL RAPE DEATH

The Lake county [Ind.] grand jury took issue in a report yesterday with the office of Sherif John Knotts for its handling of the case of Henry W. Schurg, Gary cement plant worker, jailed in connection with the death of Frieda Borman. Miss Borman disappeared last Oct. 29 while on her way to her home in Gary. Her body was found near Griffith, Ind., ten miles south of Gary, on Nov. 3.

Schurg confessed he offered Miss Borman a ride home, and then raped her when she repelled his advances. The grand jury, however, refused to indict him in this case.

"Publicity was such that an impression was created in the public mind that there was an iron clad case of murder against the defendant," said the jury report, "whereas there was no evidence at all except the uncorroborated statement of a man who appears to be mentally irresponsible." The grand jury did, however, indict Schurg for the rape of another Gary girl last Sept. 1. She was 16 years old. A sanity hearing will be held May 31.

NEW REGULATION OF RADIO CALLED CENSORSHIP PERIL

Short Wave Stations Must Promote Good Will.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—The federal communications commission today put into effect regulations governing short wave broadcasting that were seen here as tightening the commission's grip on radio.

The regulations state that only programs that reflect the culture of the United States and promote international good will can be broadcast from this country. Violation of the ruling is punishable by refusal to renew a station's license.

The order was sugar-coated for short wave broadcasters because one section granted short wave stations permission to transmit commercial and sponsored programs for the first time. It was specified, however, that commercial program continuities give no more than the name of the sponsor and the general character of the commodity, utility, service, or attraction advertised.

Order Held Peril to All Radio.

To observers in the radio industry, the commission's ruling was seen as dangerous to radio. If the commission can set up program standards for international stations, it is only a step to the setting up of standards for domestic stations, it was said.

The FCC already has a hand at the throat of radio generally in its practice of forcing stations to seek license renewals every six months, although the law would permit licenses to run for three years. Radio chains and radio stations are constantly faced with the danger that their licenses may not be renewed. As a result, the administration exercises virtual censorship over the radio and has been able to hijack radio time for propaganda purposes.

The setting up of program standards for domestic stations would enable the commission to sign the death warrant of stations owned by the national administration's foes, although these foes obey every present regulation, it was said. Such a step, it was added, would subject the existence of radio stations to the whim of political powers.

Attacks on Dictators Recalled.

At the FCC it was said the commission had no ulterior motive in promulgating the new regulations for the nation's short wave broadcasting stations, thirteen in all.

A commissioner, who refused to be quoted, said the regulations were issued solely in the interests of creating good will.

Asked if he considered international broadcasts of President Roosevelt's attacks on dictators in the class creating good will, the commissioner said: "I have plenty of troubles on my hands now without getting involved with the White House."

C. V. ESSROGER, 63, BANKER, DIES; RITES TOMORROW

Funeral services for Charles Victor Essroger, vice president of the First National bank and treasurer of the Chicago Board of Trade, will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow in the Church of the Redeemer at 1420 East 56th street. Burial will be in Oak Woods cemetery.

Charles V. Essroger.

Mr. Essroger, who was 63 years old, died Tuesday night in the Illinois Central hospital. He suffered a heart attack on May 17 in the locker room of the Flossmoor Country club after playing nine holes of golf. His home was at 5555 Everett avenue.

Mr. Essroger was educated in the Chicago public schools, joining the bank in 1893. In 1918 he became assistant cashier, a position he held until 1920 when he was appointed a vice president. In 1922 he joined the Board of Trade. Four years later he was elected a director and in 1927 treasurer.

Mr. Essroger also was treasurer of the Chicago Board of Trade Clearing House corporation, the Chicago Curb Exchange association, and the Cleveland Telegraph company. His club memberships included the Bankers, Union League, Flossmoor Country, and South Shore Hunting clubs.

His wife, Georgena, died in 1937. Surviving are a son, Charles Victor Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Jerome L. Wiener.

SCHOOLBOY DIES SHIELDING GIRLS FROM EVIL TALK

Attica, Ind., May 24.—[Special.]—Resentment over obscene language used in the presence of high school girls cost the life tonight of Robert Keys, 16 years old, a junior at the Attica High school. He died in a hospital at Danville, Ill., 30 miles west of here.

Keys was among a group of twenty-five pupils who visited a tavern in Belgium, a small mining community four miles south of Danville, after a junior-senior reception at the Attica High school Friday night. Many of the girls were in evening dress.

Annoyed by language used at a table at which three men sat, Keys objected to the men. When they left, he followed them outside. He was knocked unconscious by one. The three men were arrested and released on bond of $3,000 each on charges of deadly assault. They are Jake Sink, owner of a Danville tavern; Tom Lavinka, an ex-pugilist, and Frank Major, a former tavern owner.

F. C. SPALDING, 65, CAMP ORONOKO DIRECTOR, DIES

Frederick Chase Spalding, vestryman of St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church and dean of the proofroom at the Chicago Daily News, died yesterday in St. Luke's hospital after a long illness. He was 65 years old.

Mr. Spalding was born in Riverside and entered newspaper work at the age of 14 with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Later he joined the Interocean, and since 1908 had been with the Chicago Daily News.

Mr. Spalding was widely known for his work at Camp Oronoko, Berrien Springs, Mich., of which he was director for twenty-five years. This camp originally was intended only for the choir boys and Boy Scouts of St. Chrysostom's church. Under Mr. Spalding's direction it grew in scope and hundreds of boys and girls from all parts of the city and of various religious affiliations spent the summer at Camp Oronoko. Mr. Spalding is survived by his sister, Mrs. Frank G. Tabb, with whom he lived at 2016 Sunnyside avenue.

ELECTION CLERKS AND JUDGES FIND SCHOOL IS PLAY

Cook county's election judges and clerks, 2,335 of them, went back to school last night, and the remainder will follow at intervals until June 3, when all will have been exposed to lessons.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday announced abandonment of the radio system of instruction which has been in vogue for two years. The trouble has been, he said, that puzzled officials can't ask questions of a radio.

Answers to voting problems are now incorporated in a drama, "A Day at the Polls." The first showing was at Marshall High school last night, before a packed house.

ALDERMAN URGES FIVE YEAR RELIEF RESIDENCE LAW

Passage of legislation providing that a citizen must live in Chicago for five years before becoming eligible for relief, a WPA job or other public assistance was urged at the city council meeting yesterday by Ald. James J. McDermott [14th]. The present rules call for one year of residence.

Ald. McDermott introduced a resolution calling upon the state legislature to pass such a law, applicable to cities of more than 50,000.

"Thousands of persons from rural districts," said McDermott, "are attracted to Chicago in the hope of finding jobs, but many or most of them ultimately find their way to the relief stations."

Over the protest of Ald. Earl B. Dickerson [2d] the resolution was referred to the judiciary committee.

John H. Happ, 71, Former Milwaukee Banker, Is Dead

Milwaukee, Wis., May 24.—[Special.]—John H. Happ, 71 years old, former banker of Racine and Milwaukee, died yesterday at San Diego, Cal. Mr. Happ was born in Racine where he first engaged in banking. After coming to Milwaukee he represented the Continental and Commercial Bank & Trust company here for 25 years. He retired several years ago. He was a talented musician. Mr. Happ was unmarried. Funeral services will be held at St. John's cathedral Monday morning, with burial at Racine.

CITY FIGHTS BILL FOR LAKE MUD AT 6C A CUBIC YARD

Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes held in an opinion yesterday that the state has no right to charge the city for 200,000 cubic yards of lake bottom to be used as fill for the new $20,000,000 filtration plant off 79th street.

The plant is being built on an artificial peninsula. The city asked the state's permission to dredge the sand and muck needed for fill. Carter Jankins, chief engineer of the state division of waterways, set a price of 6 cents a cubic yard, a total bill of $12,000 for the job.

Hodes was asked for an opinion by Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works. Hodes did not dispute that ownership of the lake bed is vested in the state, to be held in trust for the people. But in effect, he said, the city proposes only to transfer the sand and muck from one part of the lake to another. And the state already has given its approval to the project by issuing a permit for construction of the filtration plant.

OBITUARIES

Detective Cornelius Kennedy.

Detective Cornelius Kennedy, 41 years old, of the cartage detail, died yesterday in the Loretto hospital following an operation a week ago. He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth; a daughter, Patricia, and two brothers, Attorney Francis J. Kennedy and Policeman Bernard Kennedy. The two policemen were to have been called as state's witnesses yesterday at the trial of their brother, accused of conspiracy to obstruct justice. Bernard was excused when word came of his brother's death. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 9:30 a.m. in St. Peter Canisius church with burial in Mount Carmel cemetery.

Mrs. Lillian Janet Morley.

Baltimore, Md., May 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Lillian Janet Morley, 73 years old, mother of Christopher Morley, the novelist, and Felix Morley, editor of the Washington Post, died tonight. The two sons were with her. A third, Frank Morley, is a member of a London publishing firm. Mrs. Morley had been in poor health since the death of her husband, Professor Frank Morley of the Johns Hopkins university, in October, 1937.

Mrs. Mary A. Kehoe.

The funeral for Mrs. Mary A. Kehoe will be held tomorrow at 9:15 a.m. from the chapel at 3604 Ogden avenue to St. Matthew's church. Mrs. Kehoe, a native Chicagoan, was 74 years old, the widow of Miles Kehoe, a state senator in the eighties. She was the mother of Policeman Frank Kehoe of the Lawndale station. Her home was at 3256 Fulton boulevard. She died on Tuesday.

Mrs. Henry Gradle.

Mrs. Henry [Fannie Searls] Gradle, the first woman graduated from Northwestern university, died yesterday in Santa Barbara, Cal. She was 88 years old and was born in Waukegan, Ill. Mrs. Gradle was graduated from the University of Michigan medical school in 1877, but never practiced. Her husband, whom she married in 1879, was Dr. Henry Gradle, professor of ophthalmology and otolaryngology at Northwestern. He died in 1911. Mrs. Gradle lived in Chicago until 1914 when she joined a son, Roy, at Santa Barbara. Another surviving son is Dr. Harry Gradle of Highland Park. Funeral services will be held in Santa Barbara.

Mrs. Julia Hardiman.

Funeral services for Mrs. Julia Hardiman, 73 years old, will be held Friday at 9:30 a.m. in St. Clara's church with burial at Mount Olivet cemetery. Mrs. Hardiman, who lived at 6537 University avenue, died Tuesday in Mercy hospital. She is survived by a son, Martin J. Hardiman, secretary-treasurer of Tatman, Inc., china merchants, and fourteen grandchildren.

John F. Miller.

Culver City, Cal., May 24.—(AP)—John F. Miller, 67 years old, former newspaper man and pioneer film producer, died in the United States veterans' hospital at Sawtelle today. Miller produced films in New York starring Ruth Roland and Grace Cunard, before coming here in 1920. He was employed on newspapers in Buffalo, N. Y., and Los Angeles.

Dr. Rafael Palma.

MANILA, May 24.—(AP)—Dr. Rafael Palma, 64 years old, Filipino educator, historian, philospher and journalist, died tonight of a brain tumor and lung complications.

STOP CHEATING JEWS! GERMAN POLICE COMMAND

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

VIENNA, May 24.—The American Express company travel office here was fined $3,200 by the police today for overcharging Jewish emigrants for steamship tickets by demanding various kinds of illegal special fees. The official announcement said that everybody should take note the cheating of Jews would be punished just as severely as the cheating of Gentiles. A campaign is on to eliminate profiteering by persons whom Joseph Buerckel, Nazi co-ordinator, recently described as "White Jews."

BLEACHED HAIR CASE A MISTRIAL; JUROR IS JAILED

Hubert Heintz.

Discovery that a juror was on probation for crime stopped the trial yesterday of two attorneys charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice. The juror was Frank Scanda, 30 years old, 728 West 17th street, a WPA foreman. He was sentenced to 100 days in jail for contempt of court.

Judge William J. Lindsay was hearing the case against Edward A. Fisher and Francis J. Kennedy, former federal prosecutors who are now in private practice. On the witness stand was Hubert Heintz, son of a wealthy Winnetka broker. It was the arrest of Hubert Heintz as the robber of a loan company office that brought about the charges against his attorneys.

Tells of Stay in Loop Hotel.

Heintz, who is 30 years old, had testified that Kennedy and Fisher secreted him in a loop hotel after he confessed his crime to his father. He said the lawyers kept him there until they could get his hair bleached and until he could grow a mustache.

In a previous confession to police, Heinz said that he held up the loan company, at 3150 Lincoln avenue, on Nov. 4. He said he was not arrested until Nov. 21, after police had traced his auto. Witnesses to the robbery described the bandit as dark haired and smooth shavn, so when Heintz appeared in Felony court after his arrest with light hair and a mustache he was freed. Investigators were not satisfied, however, and continued their work with the result that Heintz was rearrested and confessed.

Yesterday while Heintz was testifying two policemen wandered into the courtroom. They were Peter Murphy and James Barron of the detective bureau. They recognized Juror Scanda as a man they had arrested in April.

Tell Prosecutor of Case.

At the noon recess they told Assistant State's Attorney Morris G. Meyers of their discovery. The prosecutor looked up the records. Scanda had been placed on six months probation on April 11 by Municipal Judge Eugene J. Holland for possessing stolen auto license plates.

Scanda, when questioned by Judge Lindsay, admitted that he had lied when asked if he had ever had an interest in a criminal case. He said he didn't consider his case a crime.

Over the objections of Kennedy and Fisher, and their attorney, James M. Burke, Judge Lindsay then declared the case a mistrial and continued its rehearing indefinitly.

LOVE MYTH RIDES FOREVER OUT OF EVANSTON'S LIFE

A twenty year old touring car that had not moved for ten years sputtered down fashionable Lake Shore boulevard in Evanston yesterday under its own power, and took away with it the town's most romantic love story and its moldiest grudge.

The automobile had sat since 1929 under the portico of a house at 1024 Lake Shore boulevard. Romantic myth makers had built around it a story of a bride whose husband had died in the house as they were about to drive off on a honeymoon trip. According to the legend, she left the car standing there and became a recluse. But Tuesday Mrs. Anna B. Porter, 60 years old, the heroine of the tragic fiction, exploded the legend.

She did so because she was tired of being peered at by curious passersby. She complained to City Attorney Crittenden C. Jarvis, and told him the circumstances from which the myth developed. She had decided because of numerous complaints by the police about the way she kept her grounds, about her dogs, and about her old car, that Police Chief Freeman was persecuting her to make her sell the property. So she let everything stay as it was to spite him. When told Tuesday that Freeman had resigned she offered to have the car move and to landscape her grounds. She is the widow of Dr. Albert G. Porter, who died in 1908.

ETHICS REARS ITS UGLY HEAD IN MAXWELL ST.

Old World Bazaar Faces Modernism's Threat.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Maxwell street, Chicago's famous old world bazaar, is to be modernized.

Maxwell street, looking east from Newberry avenue.

This sad, earnest bit of news comes from the Maxwell Street Merchants' association. They plan to streamline the 4½ block market, to make pushcarts and street stalls a uniform size, and to pull store fronts back in off the sidewalks. They plan to encourage friendliness instead of rivalry, to ban the puller-in who shoves the shopper into his shop, and to introduce a new word, ethics, into the Maxwellian vocabulary.

All This Will Be Gone.

Gone will be the Maxwell street that teems with humanity, vegetables, and cheap shoes that the curious come to see; Maxwell street, where fresh fish and old furs are displayed side by side; Maxwell street, where pomegranates and scarlet geraniums come in pushcarts and sightseers come in droves; Maxwell street, where lace is sold by the penny and squabs are sold on the leg; Maxwell street, where the streets are filled with stalls, and no stall is like any other, and the cries of hawkers blend into shrill, strange music.

Maxwell street must be modern.

But yesterday Maxwell street was as it always has been, filled with color, noise, banana peelings, children, music, dirt, and piles of merchandise from screwdrivers to 15 cent ties, from rugs with all the colors of Joseph's coat ["Lad-ee, lad-ee, have my beautiful rug for only $1.98!"] to gorgeous green suits for men and used baby bonnets. The fragrance of garlic rode high on the wind.

No One Knows of It.

Change Maxwell street? No one seemed to know of it; no one seemed to care. A fishwife, reposing in layers of fat beside her piles of fresh shrimp, shrugged her shoulders, chased a fly from her whitefish. "So?" indifferently. "So how can they?"

A bearded Armenian selling laces and cheap dresses for fourteen years in the same rough stall [half of which he carries home at night] clutched his laces possessively. "Maybe yes, maybe no," he said. "My stall suit me fine. What's wrong?"

And the pullers-in, gentlemen of resource and of lungs, simply refuse to accept the new ruling. They stare in bland contempt.

FIND 92 PER CENT OF PUPILS HAVE FAULTY TEETH

Of 8,308 public school children examined since March, 92.2 per cent have defective teth, Dr. Floris van Minden, education committee chairman of the Chicago Dental society, announced yesterday. The examinations are being made by 200 volunteer dentists as part of a campaign sponsored by the Dental society, the Mouth Hygiene council, and the board of education. Surveys have been completed in twelve elementary schools.

According to Dr. van Minden, 7,658 pupils were found to have 37,154 defective teeth. He said 2,383 of the children are now having their teeth fixed.

MOSELEY FAILS TO APPEAR; QUIZ SET NEXT WEEK

Injustice Done Hamilton, Rep. Thomas Says.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—Irked by the failure of Major General George Van Horn Moseley, retired, to appear for questioning, the house committee on un-American activities continued today until next week its inquiry into anti-Semitic propaganda in the United States.

Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] said that Gen. Moseley had promised to come to Washington from California to accept a subpena but had gone instead to Atlanta, Ga., where his personal records are located. Gen. Moseley is expected to testify before the committee next Monday.

The retired general has been named in testimony before the committee by witnesses as the man whom they wanted to "lead a drive against communism and Judaism." The witnesses told of numerous conversations with the general in which the idea of a military régime for the United States was discussed.

Sees Unfairness to G. O. P.

As the committee recessed, Representative J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.] commented that the testimony at times had appeared to be of the "smear Republicans" variety. He declared that an injustice had been done to Chairman John D. Hamilton of the Republican national committee, who was summoned before the committee because he had exchanged several letters with Dudley P. Gilbert of New York, who helped to distribute anti-Jewish literature.

"I hope this Democratic controled committee, which has a splendid record for impartiality in the past, is not permitting partisanship to enter into the investigation," said Thomas.

Thomas said also that he would insist upon a thorough checking of the amazing story given the committee by Gilbert concerning meetings of a group of persons close to the administration at which the overthrow of the government was plotted. Committee members have branded the story fantastic and incredible.

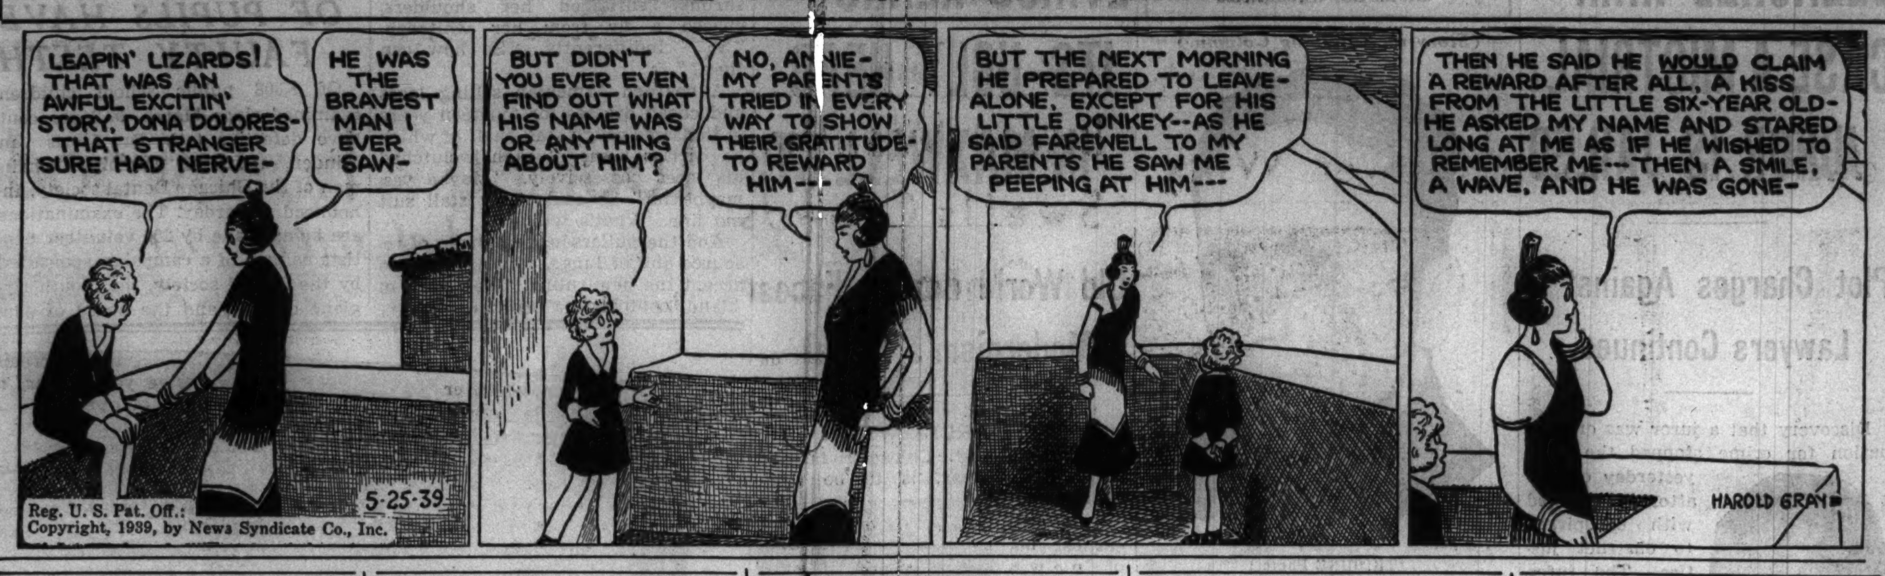
Tells of Contribution.

Howland Spencer of New York, who sold his Hudson river estate opposite that of President Roosevelt's to Father Divine, colored evangelist, was named as a contributor in today's testimony to the Knights of the White Camellia, an anti-Semitic organization.

George E. Deatherage of St. Alban's, W. Va., head of the organization, said that Spencer chipped in about $300 after Deatherage and James E. Campbell, army reserve captain from Owensboro, Ky., had made a money hunting expedition to Newport, R. I., in the summer of 1936.

Deatherage said he had three tons of printed evidence regarding a conspiracy of communists and Jews to overthrow the government. This evidence is hidden in the West Virginia hills, he declared. He agreed to hand it over to a committee investigator who would accompany him.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Past-Mister?



LEAPIN' LIZARDS! THAT WAS AN AWFUL EXCITIN' STORY, DONA DOLORES- THAT STRANGER SURE HAD NERVE-
HE WAS THE BRAVEST MAN I EVER SAW-
BUT DIDN'T YOU EVER EVEN FIND OUT WHAT HIS NAME WAS OR ANYTHING ABOUT HIM?
NO, ANNIE- MY PARENTS TRIED IN EVERY WAY TO SHOW THEIR GRATITUDE- TO REWARD HIM---
BUT THE NEXT MORNING HE PREPARED TO LEAVE- ALONE, EXCEPT FOR HIS LITTLE DONKEY--AS HE SAID FAREWELL TO MY PARENTS HE SAW ME PEEPING AT HIM---
THEN HE SAID HE WOULD CLAIM A REWARD AFTER ALL, A KISS FROM THE LITTLE SIX-YEAR OLD- HE ASKED MY NAME AND STARED LONG AT ME AS IF HE WISHED TO REMEMBER ME---THEN A SMILE, A WAVE, AND HE WAS GONE-

OIL FORTUNE HEIR PAYS WIFE $3,000 IN BACK ALIMONY

Robert G. Stewart, petroleum engineering consultant, paid $3,000 in back alimony yesterday and avoided a possible jail sentence for contempt of court.

Stewart's former wife, Mrs. Phyllis Shaw Stewart, 35 years old, 5853 Winthrop avenue, obtained a judgment for the arrearage before Judge Rudolph Desort on May 10. She had been awarded $750 a month in April, 1935, when she divorced Stewart on the ground of desertion.

Stewart has remarried and lives in Camarillo, Cal. He is the son of Col. Robert Stewart, former chairman of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. Stewart wrote his former wife's attorney that he would be in Chicago tomorrow to discuss a $250,000 lump settlement.

IF IT'S Borden's IT'S GOT TO BE GOOD

SAYS BONNIE ELSIE, THE BORDEN COW
"My milk has got to be good . . . and how!"

"Yes, a cow must be better than ordinary
To furnish milk to a Borden dairy.

So they keep me well and they keep me quiet;
They feed me up on a special diet.

They bed me down in an airy stable
Kept as neat as your kitchen table.

They watch my health and my way of living
And the quality of the milk I'm giving.

So let me repeat, as a cow of schooling,
'If it's Borden's it's got to be good!' No fooling!"

Elsie is right! Borden's Quality Control is your assurance of top quality in milk and foods made from milk.

So why not change to Borden-Wieland milk and cream this very day! The phone is BITtersweet 8600.

EAGLE BRAND
MAGIC MILK

LEMON PIE FILLING—WITHOUT COOKING! Always perfect! Never runny. Never too thick! Try it. You'll never make lemon pie filling the old way again! Be sure to use BORDEN'S EAGLE BRAND Sweetened Condensed Milk—NOT evaporated milk.

1⅓ cups (1 can) Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
½ cup lemon juice
Grated rind of 1 lemon or ¼ teaspoon lemon extract
2 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons sugar
Baked pie shell (8-inch)

Blend together Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk, lemon juice, grated lemon rind (or extract), and egg yolks. (It thickens just as though you were cooking it, to a glorious creamy smoothness!) Pour into baked pie shell. Cover with meringue made by beating egg whites until stiff and adding sugar. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 10 minutes or until brown. Chill before serving.

Order Borden's Eagle Brand from your grocer today. "Magic Recipes" with every can.

Many Arrange Holiday Trips for Week-end

BY JUDITH CASS.

SOME fortunate ones are taking advantage of the long holiday week-end that Memorial day on a Tuesday provides to pay early visits to their summer homes. There will be quite a number of Chicagoans going north to Harbor Point, Mich., for the week-end, most of them taking the first through train of the summer tomorrow evening. The junior Joseph E. Otises, however, did not wait for the through train to Harbor Springs, for she left Tuesday and he last night.

The Otises' guests, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter, will go by rail tomorrow night, and so will Lawrence Callahan, Mrs. Robert M. Curtis and her son, Ted Russell; the Louis C. Sudlers and their little son, and Mrs. Sudler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson L. Barnes; the William Wallers and Mrs. Robert C. Orr. The Robert W. Hymans are driving north to their home on the point today.

Otises and Carpenters Plan to Go Fishing

The Otises and Carpenters plan to spend most of their time fishing. James R. Offield is just back at home after an expedition to his fishing camp in northern Michigan, up beyond Harbor Point, where he and his wife have their summer home. Mr. and Mrs. Offield will not join the Chicago colony at the point for this week-end, however.

Other vacationers who are enjoying fishing are the George Henneberrys, who are after tarpon instead of brook trout, for which the fishermen in Michigan are angling these days. The Henneberrys are at Useppa Island, off the west coast of Florida, fishing in three famous tarpon fishing spots on that coast, Boca Grande, Captiva, and Red Fish passes. Mrs. Henneberry already has caught her first tarpon, a 25 pounder, and her husband has two to his credit so far this trip, a 40 pounder and a 60. The Donald McPhersons and the Alfred Cartons just recently returned from stays on Useppa. Mr. Carton reports that after seven years he finally landed one of the big game fish on this trip.

Atherton Richardses In City for Few Days

Mr. and Mrs. Atherton Richards arrived yesterday for a brief stay in Chicago on their way to San Francisco from New York, where they have been since mid-February. They will sail on June 1 for their home in Honolulu. The former Helen Hughes Dulany and her husband are at the Drake hotel.

The neighbors probably wondered when they saw a squad car and two policemen draw up to the James Mann Millers' new home in Wisconsin avenue, Lake Forest. They didn't know that the representatives of the law were only delivering a reply to the invitations the Millers had sent out to a housewarming cocktail party next Sunday. The clever invitations were gotten up in legal terminology with "subpena" in large letters across the top and a beribboned seal at the bottom. Mr. Miller is an attorney.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller moved recently from a house in Woodland road to the one they are occupying now.

Allendale Farms to Have Benefit.

On New Year's eve, 1890, a young Princeton graduate, who just had started practicing law in Chicago, came across eight little homeless boys huddled in a barrel to keep warm. He offered them a night's lodging. Out of this hospitable act has grown Allendale Farms, a 280 acre tract in Lake Villa on which 100 boys live, work, and are educated.

Edward L. Bradley was the boys' host that cold night 49 years ago. Sympathy in their plight was aroused quickly, and led by Mrs. Abram Poole, mother of Ralph H. Poole, who was generous in her contributions, a number of Lake Forest families—the Dicks, Farwells, Scudders, and Shumways—helped to establish Allendale Farms.

These families have continued their support and are active on the board of directors. The third generation is especially well represented on the committee that is in charge of a dinner-dance to be given at the Onwentsia on Saturday, June 10, to raise funds for the farm.

There hasn't been a benefit for the organization since the opening of "The Royal Family" in 1929. Mrs. George M. Silverthorne Jr. is chairman of the party. Mrs. William D.

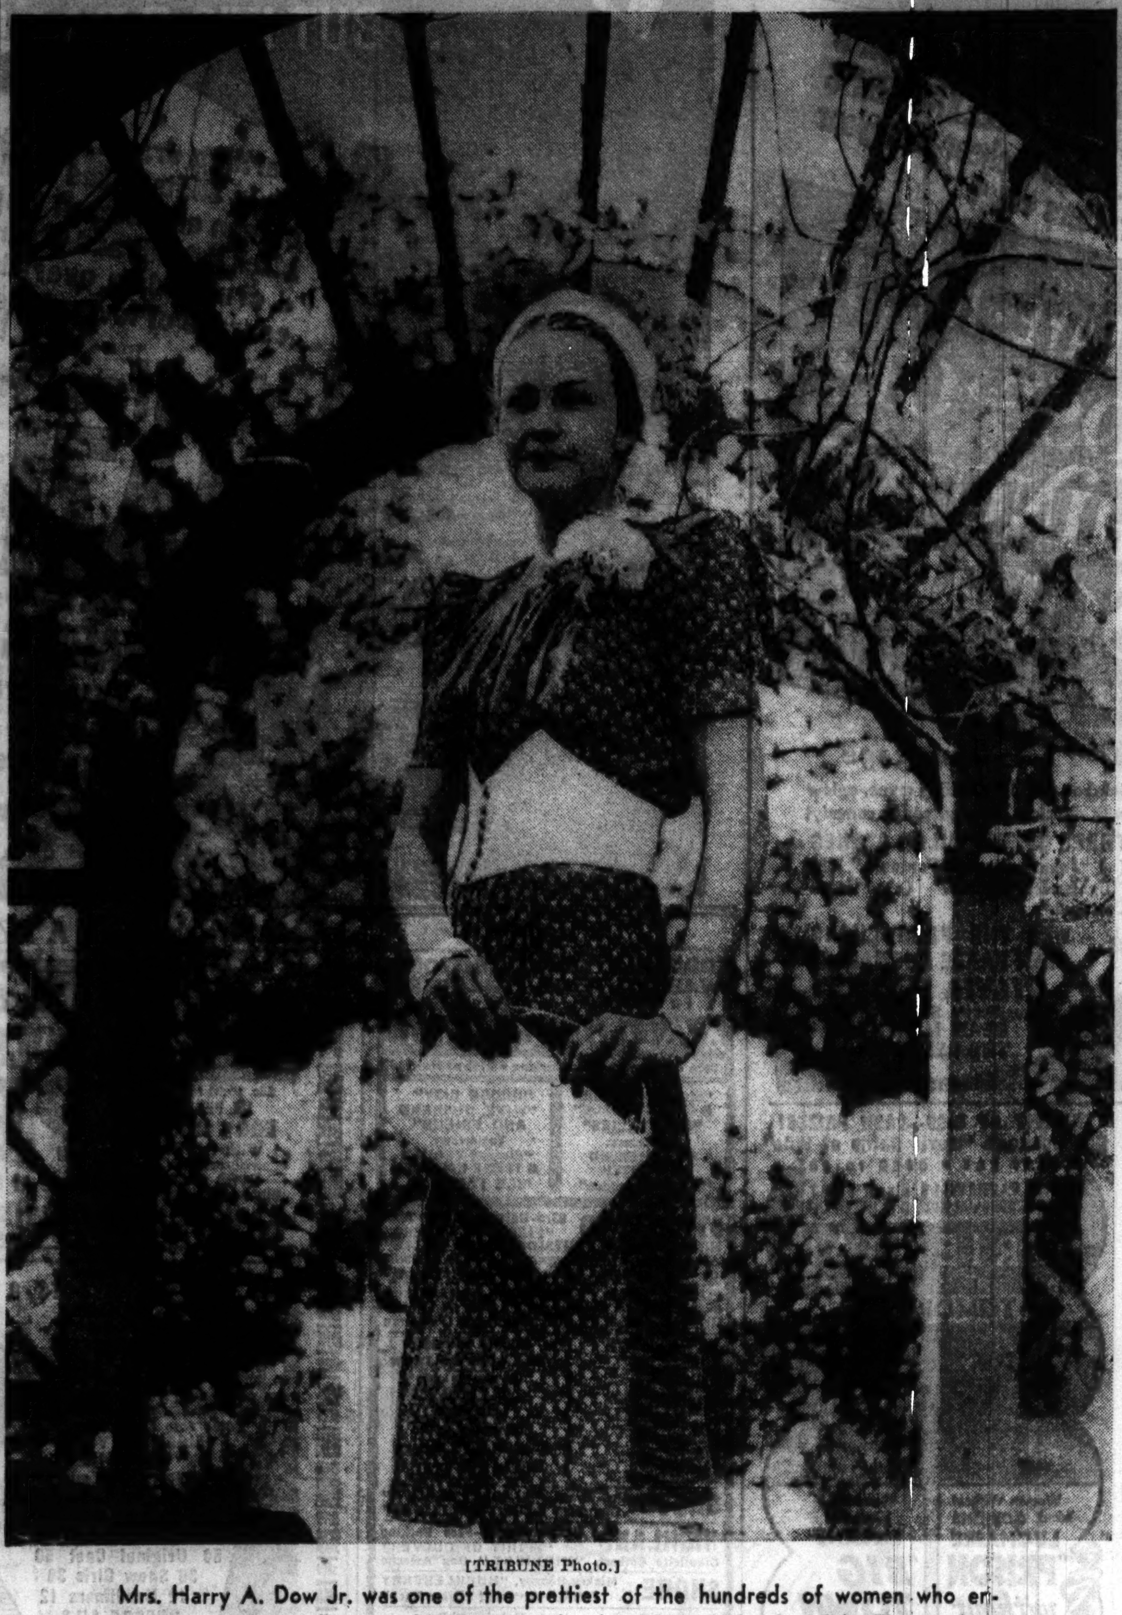
Evanston Garden Club Holds Flower Walk



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Harry A. Dow Jr. was one of the prettiest of the hundreds of women who enjoyed a garden walk yesterday arranged by the Evanston Garden club. The gardens of Mrs. Gabriel F. Slaughter in Ridge avenue (where the picture was taken) and Mrs. Raymond Wieboldt in Central street were on exhibition. Mrs. Dow was Miss Margaret Gurley until March 25.

Bright Weather Swells Crowds at Garden Tour

Yesterday's bright sunshine added several hundred dollars to the treasury of the Evanston Garden club. The beautiful spring afternoon caused hundreds to accept the club's invitation to stroll through gardens. Consequently, the homes of Mrs. Gabriel F. Slaughter and of Mrs. Raymond Wieboldt had dozens upon dozens of visitors, most of whom finished a pleasant afternoon of "gardening" at the old lighthouse on Grosse Pointe, an historic bit of land on the lake front. Nearly every one who stopped to buy a plant from a curbside stand at Mrs. Bowman Johnson's home peeked in at her specious garden.

Some of the proceeds from the tour and from the sale of plants at Mrs. Johnson's will go toward the maintenance of a nature trail, leading from the lighthouse down the bluff, which was started two years ago by the club. The plants, trees, and flowers along the trail are native to Illinois, and marked with their names.

The interior of the Slaughter house, one of the oldest in Evanston, was of as much interest as the old-fashioned garden. The rear of the house is put together with pegs. Among those assisting Mrs. Slaughter was her daughter, Miss Betty Slaughter, who had just arrived for a two weeks' visit from Cleveland, where she lives.

"Be sure to look at the clematis on the garage," Mrs. Wieboldt told the visitors to her garden. "It never has blossomed so well." Also in full bloom at the Wieboldt's was a Bechtel crab tree near the entrance.

Mrs. Johnson and the plant committee had to replenish their stock three times so well did the plants sell. Garden accessories also were sold.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

The Observation Post.

Hollywood, Cal., May 24.—Most striking looking youngster on the screen currently is Rita Hayworth, who plays the rôle of Richard Barthelmess' wife in "Only Angels Have Wings." . . . The sultry youngster has that certain something which is difficult of definition but pleasant to behold. . . . She should be a trouper, as she is one of the Cansinos, most famous of the Spanish dancing families that once held forth in vaudeville.

Warner's, with "Dodge City" and "Dark Victory," hold the biggest box office double of the year. . . . Universal comes closest with Deanna Durbin's biggest grosser, "Three Smart Girls Grow Up," and Crosby's "East Side of Heaven."

Paramount's "Union Pacific" is doing sock business. . . . "Dodge City," which will wind up with a domestic gross of $2,300,000, looks like the money picture of the season. . . . Last season it was "Boys' Town."

Twentieth Century-Fox should cash in quick on the terrific worldwide publicity which the Dionne quints have newly won, if you don't mind a split verb. . . . Cameramen tell me that the most difficult problem of lighting is presented when a blonde and a brunette star have to be photographed in the same scene. . . . One or the other invariably suffers.

At a party last night we were making up a list of performers who were considered first rate stinkers by their screen colleagues. . . . All of them have vanished from pictures, exterminated by their own meanness. . . . It takes time, but water finds its own level.

On the heels of the successful preview of "Good-bye, Mr. Chips," Colony theater in Hollywood has reissued Robert Donat's 1936 picture, "The Ghost Goes West." . . . The amazing thing is that Donat, great in 1939, was so vapid in 1936. . . . In "The Ghost Goes West" he registers so vaguely that it is incredible he'd become, three years later, one of the fine actors of our day. . . . or perhaps he was handicapped by the burden of carrying a comedy.

Russian film, "Alexander Nevsky," playing at the Esquire, is quite the dreariest hodgepodge I've seen, badly directed, badly written, badly paced. . . . In Paris I went to see the Moscow Art Players with Morris Gest and was struck with the magnificent acting of many of the players. . . . This Russian film, however, is bankrupt of performances and the two girls playing the femme leads are incredibly bad.

No more interesting face in this colony than that of Mrs. Sam Goldwyn. . . . In connection with the latest submarine disaster read submarine inventor Simon Lake's castigation of the government in his book for our failure to adopt safety devices down through the years. . . . It makes your hair stand on end.

Robert Benchley's shorts invariably are amusing. . . . I like best the one where he buys the magic games for his bratty son. . . . May Robson's flair for comedy never demonstrated more forcefully than in the night court drunk scene in "Kid from Kokomo." . . . Miss Robson, who plays a drunk so, is a teetotaler.

In "East Side of Heaven" Crooner Crosby is supported by Joan Blondell, wife of Crooner Dick Powell, and by Irene Hervey, wife of Singer Allan Jones. . . . Things that are annoying: Fay Bainter's prop smile.

The gag going the rounds is that one of the majors will move its local studio to England, shift its London city to Hollywood . . . because the London studio is turning out all of the M-G-M. hits.

If Paramount ever casts Bob Hope in a good picture he'll be a screen comedy sensation. . . . So far they've given him wretched material and he's overcome it via his radio popularity. . . . "Never Say Die," his latest, is doing a lot more business than expected.

Observation: I never have seen Thomas Mitchell in a poor screen performance. . . . Ditto for Charlie Coburn. . . . Street Scene: Tough Hombre John Garfield wheeling a baby carriage in which reposes his 6½ month old daughter.

Girls who make the greatest number of clothes changes out here are the ushers in the bigger theaters. . . . They change costumes each time a new flicker is previewed. . . . When "Folies Bergeres" arrived at the Chinese Grauman the ushers were trimmed down to the epidermis. . . . The French stage show has been doing big business incidentally.

Richard Dix's "Man of Conquest" is doing puh-lenty of business at national boxoffices. . . . This is another good one turned out by Republic, which is boosting its product to big-time caliber, all of which is good for the industry.

A Denim Suit Gives You Style at a Low Price

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Sure signs of summer! The first of the new denim suits. This year they are cut with an exciting flair to the short skirt and a longer length to the jacket. There are four stunning and effective colors.

These outfits are the two piece winners with a price mark around six dollars. They make supertravel and country outfits, as well as taking the prize for good simple daytime town suits. Turquoise blue, coral red, a nice faded blue and a royal blue give the shopper a good selection. White stitching trims the pocket flaps on the jacket and outlines the short sleeves and the gores in the skirt.

Long sleeved jackets will arrive later in the same sort of suits in the same summer denim.

Bouquet hats are just that . . . a nosegay of cornflowers, poppies, and yellow daisies in one fetching combine tied with green streamers. Another is of apple blossoms, pale pink and pale green foliage, a third is of daisies, and so on. . . They are the smallest sort of a summer top and are decorative and easy to wear . . . a relief from the headache bands or the turbans every one wears.

These bouquet hats go with street clothes as well as dress parade costumes . . . with or without the flattery of a colored or white veil.

Have you seen the three piece outfits priced around ten dollars that are the last gasp in subtle color combination and smart summer charm? The skirts are flared and smoothly fitted and made of a cool dull novelty cotton. Under blouses are of spring flowered cotton resembling a garden chintz. They're cut with round necklines and short sleeves and tuck under the skirtband. The third piece of the costume is a snug fitting short sleeved jacket of plain material in a contrast color with a curved neckline and buttons down the front.

Four grand color combines are ready for the rush of shoppers, but the pink skirt, white coat over the print blouse and the leaf brown skirt with apple green jacket are favorites.

French Trade Mission Finds America Fears War More than France

"We have less fear of war in France than you have here," said Etienne Fougere, head of the French Economics mission to the United States. He spoke yesterday at a reception for the mission in the offices of the French consulate, high in the Palmolive building.

Acting as host in the absence of Rene Weiller, consul general, was André François Alabrune, the vice consul. The guests appeared to be enjoying America. They sipped the "vin d'honneur," a delicious champagne, and tasted dainty pastries.

The mission, made up of thirty-five French manufacturers, is on its way from New York to San Francisco on a good will tour. A typical member is François Goffi, ironmaster, of Paris. He manufactures automobile parts and sells all kinds of steel for cars and airplanes. He will visit American iron works and stamping mills.

The mission is alert for trade possibilities between France and America as well as to build good will.

The wives of the mission members were dressed ultraconservatively.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Did you ever stop to think how important the quality of radiance is, especially under electric lights? Some of the prettiest women look so dim most of the time they seem like part of the wall paper design. And some with the least classic features stand out magnificently in the crowd.

This striking effectiveness is not entirely a matter of natural coloring. What's natural coloring nowadays, when you can, in a sense, change it at will? It's a matter of bearing, in part. Notice the next radiant woman you see and notice how beautifully she carries herself. There's also the element of exquisite, finished grooming. The makeup is right, there are no eyebrows straggling, and the hair is brilliant with luster. But most of all, it seems to us, cameo-clarity of complexion is necessary.

If you don't have a clear complexion you must do all the corrective exercises to court one. Your skin must be cleansed, gently stimulated, and generously oiled if it's inclined to be dry. Make your makeup definite. Be sure you apply lipstick properly, accentuating the lipline sharply and cleanly.

And, above all, fake a little with a foundation. We know one liquid that can usually do it. In the right shade [there are several to choose from] it gives the skin an elegant glow. Not ruddy, but just right. We've seen it do the trick many a time. It's rather like a liquid powder in consistency and can actually be used to give a dull finish. Our own preference is to use it in a light peach shade, with a little darker powder over this. It's wonderful at night. And not a bit theatrical.

This seems better suited—at least for regular use—to somewhat oily rather than dry skins, although it can be blended with a certain type of cream for use on skin that has a serious lack of oil. In either case, for the woman whose complexion looks a little muddy it's a lovely, radiant coat.

Coolidge Critique.

Mention of Ian Keith's Hamlet brought in the story of John Barrymore's call on President Calvin Coolidge in the White House when Barrymore was appearing in Hamlet in Washington. Ushered into the presence of the laconic Cal, Barrymore couldn't think of anything to say. Finally the President broke the silence, which had become embarrassing.

"I saw you play Hamlet," he said. "I saw E. H. Sothern play it, too. His clothes were prettier than yours," added Mr. Coolidge reflectively.

SYNOPSIS.

Jeff Hunter, an American mining engineer, awaits execution in a Mexican jail by order of Pancho Banderas, rebel leader. A peon friend helps him escape to Texas. Jeff meets Joan Raleigh, lost in the vastness of her feudal estate, and assists her home. He meets her brothers, Bill and Phil, and Phil's wife, Mary Lou. When they learn Jeff went to college with their cousin, Raeburn, he is invited to be their guest. An old feud against the Raleighs is being renewed under the leadership of Butler Lane, suspected of poisoning their aunt, his wife and forging her will. Banderas, routed from Mexico, has joined Lane. Jeff offers to try to make peace with the better element, and with Jim Williams, starts for the ranch of Carl Nielsen. They are pursued and fired on by Banderas and his men, but manage to reach the Nielsen ranch. Banderas and his men appear. Jeff disarms the bandit and his men. Nielsen is shocked by the outlaws. The feud has prevented a romance between beautiful Olga Nielsen and Bill Raleigh. Next morning Nielsen leaves with Jeff for a conference with Phil Raleigh. Joan and Phil are missing—kidnaped in their own plane and made the prisoners of Banderas. Jeff, Jim Williams and Raeburn Raleigh trail Lane Butler to the ranch of his ally, Rannigan. When Butler leaves Jeff confronts Rannigan and is forced to shoot one of the gangster guards. He forces Rannigan to lead them to the kidnaper's hideout.

INSTALMENT XXXIV.

RANSOM TERMS.

With deceptively cool contempt Phil drawled an answer. "Too many in this, Lane. Thought you had more sense than to tie yourself up this way. Of course I get your idea. Pancho will be rubbed out in the war. When it's over you expect to toss Mallow and Sowder and the other local fools you are using as pawns to the law as sacrifices while you escape in the scramble. Not a chance. They'll squeal on you to try to save themselves. Right now they are figuring on a way to get out with their hides whole. Come clean, Mallow—and you, Sowder. Are you going to take the jolt for Lane?"

Raleigh had scored a hit. He could see Mallow's tricky eyes slide suspiciously for a swift instant to Lane, who was blandly waving aside what Phil had said.

"An old trick, but it won't work now," the man from San Antonio replied. "You're the man on trial, not any of us. You needn't try the red herring game on us. Just step this way with Mr. Mallow and me for a little talk. We'll leave Joan in charge of Pancho and the other boys."

"No," Joan cried, before she could stop the word.

Butler Lane turned his thin smile on her. He spoke gently, but both the Raleighs read a threat in every word. "Just for a few minutes, my dear, for I'm sure your brother means to be reasonable. Don't be afraid. Pancho is a very gallant gentleman."

The doubtful eyes of Raleigh picked up Pancho and the other men. "I'm not going out of sight of my sister," he said bluntly.

"Not necessary," Lane assured him. "Just a few yards this way."

Phil followed him reluctantly. He knew that Lane was already turning on the thumb screws. Either he had to accept the terms proposed or take whatever consequences might come to his sister. That Lane would turn her over to Pancho he did not for a moment believe. Bad as Sowder and Mallow were, they would not stand for that. But the huge shadow of Banderas' lawless lust was hovering over her. Given a chance, it was likely to pounce on its victim. Lane wanted Phil to understand that clearly.

After Phil Raleigh and Butler Lane had come to a tentative agreement, one that was to be ratified later by the other joint owners of the estate, the older man could not refrain from a parting sneer.

"You might have saved yourself a lot of trouble by being reasonable in the first place," he said, with his thin smile. "You haven't quite the finesse and ability to match brains with me in a game of this sort."

Phil's eyes blazed. "You're a scoundrel and a villain. I hope I make that perfectly clear. You may get away with this outrage, but I expect to live to see the law strangle you. If not for what you've done to us, then for something else."

"No if, my dear boy," Lane pointed out blandly. "It's understood that there will be no prosecution for the little irregularity of bringing you and your sister here. As soon as the papers are signed by the other members of your family you will be rescued by me and set free, but only after you and Joan have set your hands to a statement completely exonerating me."

Phil turned away and walked back to his sister.

The two prisoners were guarded but not returned to the cabin. They watched Lane, Mallow, and the two San Antonio thugs ride away.

"They're moving us from here—deeper into the bush," Joan said to her brother in a low voice.

"I expected they would, for fear our friends will spot the plane," he answered. "I have come to terms. As soon as papers can be drawn up and signed by Bill and Rae, as well as by us, we'll be released. I wrote a note to them, and Lane will arrange a conference."

"I suppose you had to give him everything," she said bitterly.

"Plenty. A flat sum in cash." He named the amount. "In exchange for that he will accept the true will and withdraw the suit to establish the forged one. What it amounts to is that we are paying a very stiff kidnap ransom. Or rather I'm paying it, since I got us into this."

"That's ridiculous," Joan said sharply. "We're all in this. The boys will feel the same as I do. But I don't see how you can raise all that money at once."

"We won't have to raise it all at once. . . . Ostensibly it's a settlement of Lane's claims against the estate. All he wants is to get our names down on paper and a substantial cash advance payment—twenty-five thousand dollars—to bind the bargain."

"We'll have to go through with the deal after the first payment I suppose?"

"Yes. I've given him my word. He's got us on the hip, unless we can escape before the agreement is signed. With a flare of sudden rage, he added: "I wish to heaven I could have five minutes with him alone."

Her fingers caught his and gave a little pressure. "It won't break us, old boy," she said.

Without emphasis, he corrected the pronoun. "No, it won't break me, but it will cripple me for a few years. Which is exactly what I deserve for my folly."

Joan snatched at an idea. She offered it to her brother eagerly, in a voice too low for the guards to hear. "Phil, ever since we were captured you have tried to play one scoundrel against another by stirring suspicion. With Lane out of the way Pancho is the strong man. Why don't you buy him? He'll desert the others if he thinks it will pay him. Deal with him instead of Lane. He'll jump at the chance."

"He might," Phil agreed thoughtfully. "But would we be better off? Lane knows what he wants. To get it he'll have to stand by his agreement. But Pancho—"

Phil did not finish the sentence but Joan knew what he was thinking. Under the impulsive urge of hatred and passion he might destroy Phil and fling away the chance of ransom to have his way with Joan.

"With twenty-five thousand dollars he could buy a year of debauchery," she insisted. "Besides, you may be sure he has it in his mind to play traitor to Lane if he can do better that way. Give him the chance. With a sum of money waiting for him he's much more likely to give us a break than he is without it."

"Yes," Phil agreed reluctantly. "I don't see that it can do any harm. I'll make him an offer, though I hate to deal with the scoundrel."

Sowder and another man were bringing horses out from the brush. Pancho Banderas straddled across to the prisoners.

"We're going on a little ride," he called to them. In front of Joan he stopped, his little red pig eyes fastened on her. "Into the mesquite, carissima. I, Pancho, will be your cavalier and see no harm comes to you. That you will like. Yes?"

Phil curbed his temper. "We are moving camp?" he said.

"Si, señor. So that our little birds in the cage will be safer and will not fly away."

In a low voice Phil said to Banderas, "Like to see you alone for a minute, General."

Banderas stared at him, surprised, then broke into a grin. "Sure. Why not?" To the two Mexicans on guard he snapped one word, "Vamos!"

Dance Music Is an Aid to Poise, Advises Kay Kyser

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Dance music contributes as much to develop woman's poise," says Kay Kyser, "as the sun does to build her health." Mr. Kyser should know, for the popular band leader recently returned from a long road tour, and has had ample time to make such an observation.

"The old folks may say what they please about music corrupting the younger generation," Mr. Kyser states, "but I know that it has done more good than harm to men and women alike. First of all, to millions of persons who are entangled in the hopeless task of 'finding' themselves in life, music offers a temporary escape. It lifts the spirit and turns despair into lightheartedness and gayety. Certainly that is doing a great deal of good."

He believes that women, in particular, should be grateful for all the music that they hear today. It is the present day melodies that are responsible for the grace and rhythm in us.

"Slow foxtrots and waltzes, the general tempo of the dance music today, have made it necessary for women to exercise all the natural rhythm that they have. Most women like to imagine themselves as langorous and sophisticated on a dance floor. It is the one and, perhaps, only place where they may exercise this desire and receive public attention for it."

If a woman learns to dance well and express herself through the medium of music, it will benefit her in everyday life. Her carriage and posture improve; she almost floats into a room, instead of being clumsy or awkward.

"There is no doubt in my mind," continues Mr. Kyser, "that dancing improves the complete physical appearance of a woman. And, of course, it does wonders to her mental makeup, too. For the adolescent girl, it forms a basis of her future character. It gives her self-confidence and poise, which is so essential to the modern miss."

St. Columbkille's Parish Holds Reunion Tonight

Former and present members of St. Columbkille's Catholic parish will gather tonight in the Grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman for and oldtimers' banquet. This will be the third annual reunion. An attendance of 1,600 is anticipated. The banquet committee is headed by John G. Sullivan.

Blind Players Enjoy Satire on Little Theater

BY CECIL SMITH.

The Chicago Braille Theater guild, said to be the only little theater group in the country composed entirely of blind players, gave its annual public performance last night in the auditorium of Francis Parker school. For its 1939 play the guild selected George Kelly's "The Torch Bearers," a farcical satire upon amateur theatricals.

The players had such a good time spoofing the very kind of thing they were doing that spirits ran high both on the stage and out in the audience.

It is astonishing to see the ease and naturalness with which these sightless actors move about the stage. A pattern of rugs on the floor and a systematized arrangement of the furniture enable them to be sure of their positions and movements all the time.

Under the excellent guidance of Dorothy Proesch, the players have been trained to address each other with poise and apparent unconcern and to enliven their action with a great deal of visually interesting detail.

A capacity audience attended. This was as it should be, for the activity of the Braille Theater guild is one of the city's most valuable dramatic undertakings.

Tomorrow afternoon John Barrymore will hold the largest press interview of his career at the Selwyn theater. Four student journalists from each of 25 schools in the Chicago area will ply the celebrated actor with questions.

Cox is in charge of publicity; Mrs. Joseph E. Rich, a granddaughter of Mrs. Abram Poole, is chairman of entertainment; and Mrs. John G. Beadle is in charge of tickets.

Louis E. Myers is president of the Allendale association. Edison Dick, vice president; Donald R. McLennan, secretary, and David Dangler, treasurer, are the other officers.

Drama League Will See "Petticoat Fever."

The Chicago Drama league is giving a post-season party today. Luncheon at the Electric club will be followed by a matinée of "Petticoat Fever," the first play of a fifteen week summer repertory series at the Civic theater. Guy Robertson, Esther Ralston, and Donald Brian are the principals in the play. The party will include a back stage tour.

Eighteen pupils of the 3d, 4th, and 5th grades of the University School for Girls will present an operetta "The Golden Cockerel," at 8 o'clock this evening in the school gymnasium. The play is an adaptation of Rimsky-Korsakoff's opera, based on a Russian tale by Alexander Pushkin.

The part of the Golden Cockerel will be played by Marianne McDonald. Barbara Palbicke will be King Dodo, and Patricia Wood will have the rôle of the Astrologer.

The Alumnæ tea, honoring the classes of 1914, '19, and '20, will be held from 4 to 6 o'clock on June 8.

Commencement exercises will be held at 8:15 o'clock on June 9 at the Fortnightly club. Dr. John Timothy Stone will deliver the address.

Post-Season Party of Dinner-Dance Club.

The young people of the Dinner-Dance club enjoyed their winter parties so much that they are having another one though their season closed several weeks ago. The party will be given tomorrow night at the Saddle and Cycle club, with Mrs. Sangston Hettler, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Faherty, and Mrs. Peter Berkey as chaperones.

The women of the Illinois Opera guild expect to clear a good sum for their music students' fund tomorrow, for they have secured John Barrymore as guest of honor and speaker at a buffet luncheon. The party will be at the home of Mrs. Bror G. Dahlberg, 999 Lake Shore drive, at 1 o'clock. Mr. Barrymore, the star of "My Dear Children," will talk briefly about opera.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur I. Appleton [Nancy Seymour] are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Thomas Albert, on May 17 at the Washington Boulevard hospital. The baby is a great-grandson of the Edward Y. Horders of Oak Park, and a grandson of the Fred P. Seymours of Oak Park and of the Albert I. Appletons of Evanston.

New York Fair Drops Ambitious Project to Present 'Best' Music

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—What apparently amounts to abandonment of the ambitious program of "serious" music events scheduled for the Hall of Music at the world's fair was announced today by Grover A. Whalen, president of the fair corporation.

Whalen said that "a more popular entertainment will be put into the Hall of Music."

"Experience to date indicates that the public coming to the fair shows a preference for more popular and cheaper entertainment than that which has been offered in the Hall of Music," he said. "The cultural entertainment scheduled for the Hall of Music will be shifted elsewhere or deferred until fall."

An elaborate program of orchestral concerts, opera and ballet performances, and recitals by leading artists had been scheduled for the $450,000 hall.

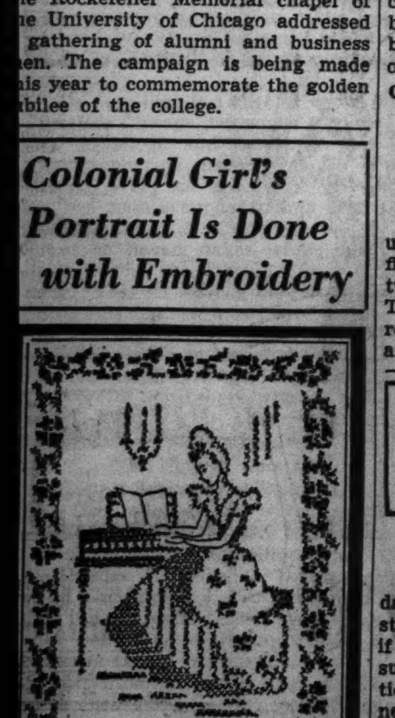
George Williams College Asks$2,285,000Endowment

A campaign for a $2,285,000 endowment for George Williams college, 5315 Drexel avenue, was opened yesterday at a luncheon in the Palmer House. Dean Charles W. Gilkey of the Rockefeller Memorial chapel of the University of Chicago addressed a gathering of alumni and business men. The campaign is being made this year to commemorate the golden jubilee of the college.

Colonial Girl's Portrait Is Done with Embroidery



BY NANCY CABOT.

Here is a lovely crossstitch portrait that should adorn the wall of every young girl's room. Making it yourself adds an even greater value to the article. The figure is embroidered on a white or natural linen background, although pale pink or soft green may be substituted.

For the hot iron transfer picture of the colonial girl, No. X-585, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Winter pears still are to be found in the markets, and probably will dribble along until summer's crops are ready. Pears are now an almost year 'round fruit, for there are many varieties with overlapping seasons, and storage methods have been much improved in recent years.

Even when fresh pears aren't commonly to be found, there's no market of any size which doesn't have a shelf stocked with the canned fruit. Fresh and canned pears are used in the same way, so most recipes which call for one are suited also to the other.

PEAR SALADS.
[Canned or fresh fruit.]

1. Two pear halves on chicory, French dressing.
2. Pear and tomato slices on lettuce, thousand island dressing.
3. Pear and avocado slices, French dressing or chili-French dressing.
4. Pear half filled with cottage cheese and garnished with pimiento strips, on watercress, mayonnaise or French dressing.
5. Pear half and two cream cheese stuffed prunes on chicory or lettuce, mayonnaise.
6. Diced pear and orange, French dressing, on leaf lettuce.
7. Sliced pear, cucumber and Bermuda onion on watercress, French dressing.
8. Pear half with circle of pitted fresh sweet cherries on lettuce, honey-mayonnaise.
9. Diced pear, grapes, celery, and nuts, mayonnaise, on lettuce.
10. Diced pear and pineapple with nuts and mayonnaise, in tomato cup, on lettuce.

BROILED PEARS.

These are a good accompaniment for meats such as lamb chops, baked or broiled ham, stuffed pork chops. Brush each pear half with butter and sprinkle with brown sugar. Put a small piece of butter and about a half teaspoon of brown sugar in the center of each, and broil until browned and hot. Fresh pears may be sprinkled with lemon juice before broiling, and should be broiled until soft.

BAKED STUFFED DESSERT PEARS.

Peel, halve, and core fresh pears and cook until tender in a thin sugar sirup. Drain. If canned pears are used, simply drain them. Stuff the centers with chopped dates and nuts, brush with butter, and sprinkle with brown sugar. Heat in a moderate oven until lightly browned.

Caramel Cornflake Dessert with Pears.
[Serves four.]

½ cup packed brown sugar
1⅓ tablespoons butter
2 cups cornflakes or similar crisp cereal
2 fresh or canned pears, sliced
Whipped cream

Combine sugar and butter and heat until melted and bubbly. Stir in cornflakes. Shape by pressing the mixture lightly into 4 cups or molds. Turn out after a few minutes. Surround each serving with sliced pears, and top with whipped cream.

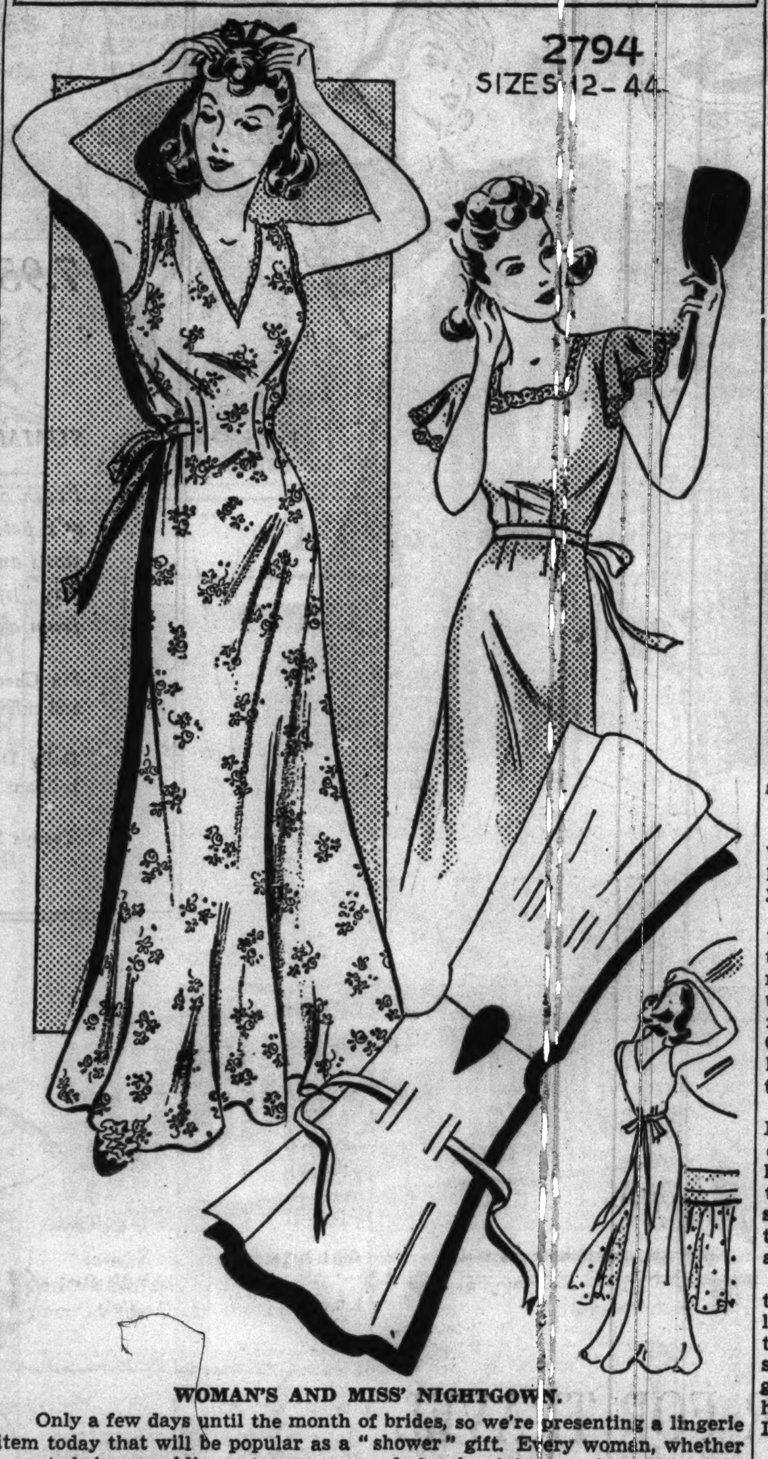
Ideal for "Shower" Gift



WOMAN'S AND MISS' NIGHTGOWN.

Only a few days until the month of brides, so we're presenting a lingerie item today that will be popular as a "shower" gift. Every woman, whether or not she's assembling a trousseau, needs lovely nightwear, but this dainty style will be a favorite of brides.

You can style it with V neckline and sleeveless, or give it a square neckline and short ruffly sleeves. The garment is styled to fit like a dress, and there are tucks to nip it in to the waistline, around which there is a narrow ribbon or self-fabric belt, completely encircling the midriff or beginning only at the sides. The skirt is long and quite full.

Place edging at the neckline and around armholes or sleeves. It may be lace or anything you like, depending upon the degree of femininity you wish to achieve.

Prints and plain colors are equally popular, and you need not necessarily use lingerie silks, because this is a great season for the dainty cottons.

Style No. 2794 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material, with 2¾ yards of lace.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Alter Method of Guidance as Child Grows Up

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Constantly I try to think of ways of giving advice to parents so it will help them with their children over a period of time, advice that goes deep enough and is general enough to be a standby, and yet of such a kind that it will be practical, too. So today's suggestion for management will be in the form of a general piece of advice, which has, however, several angles.

First, realize that you can't treat a 9 year old like a 4 year old, or a 16 year old like a 9 year old.

Second, study your child so that you come to know his needs and his unfolding personality.

Third, learn to change your management with the change in your child and he will almost bewilder you with the changes he goes through. You've simply got to be flexible. You must make your method of management fit the developing child, and the situations that result from the changes that follow in the wake of his growth and development.

Remember that growth and development mean change. Consequently, there will be times for explanations, times for respecting a new reticence and times for trying to gain necessary confidences, times for giving directions and times for letting alone, times for exerting authority and times for allowing all possible freedom.

Fourth, overlook everything you possibly can because there are such quantities of things you can't possibly overlook!

And fifth, be shockproof, companionable, and as cheerful and jolly as your temperament will permit.

The Housewife

There's a clever footrest device for those who shine their shoes. It is aluminum and fastens to a closet wall or the back of a door. The platform folds up against the wall when not in use.

Beneath it you slide the shoe brush which comes with this set, and underneath are two cans of polish, one black and one tan, with two daubers so that you don't get your hands soiled. It is a great inducement to the children to keep their shoes polished. It is not expensive. E. W.

Extravagance Stands in Way of Altar Trip

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"A year ago he said we would get married," writes Rosalie. "The plan was that it would be a 1939 spring wedding; not later than the fall, at any rate. 'If everything went all right,' was the clause and is the clause that's now troubling me.

"I have waited patiently, not complaining, because I realize myself how hard it is to save money these days, especially when we both love to go out. But now I begin to realize what type my man is. He loves me. There's no question about there being any one else, and I love him. But getting ahead sufficiently to marry is the thing. He says he wants to save and then he goes out and buys a car that I think far too expensive for him and us. I must add the "us" because I am the one, he tells me, to get the benefit out of it. A cheaper make or even a used car would have done us perfectly well. He says: 'I'm not taking my girl around in an old car!'"

"Hard to smile at talk like that when you know the car purchase just postpones our marriage date another year, perhaps.

"Then, he likes to take week-end trips, all done with conventional trimmings, you understand. But you must know how much money is eaten up on such trips. Twenty, twenty-five and even thirty is burned up. Gosh, I try to talk money sense into his head, but I guess he's the type that won't let it enter.

"He is three years older than I. I am 23 and it would seem as if he ought to have money sense. We have been going about steadily for three years, and it is always the same experience. Something new has to be purchased that he's paying on, and we just get nowhere, it seems.

"He is making $55 a week, ample to live on, you'll say, but it doesn't look now as if I'll ever get the chance to prove that two people can live and save on that. I have no thought of giving up my fiancé, understand. But how can I wake him up? That's all I want to know."

We don't know but what marrying the chap right away and taking over the financial management would be your solution. The way you're going now, as you suspect, you'll probably wind up in a fight.

You'll have to be fairly high-handed in your methods to bring the chap to terms. Serve notice that it is to be now or never, and that you do the money managing.

You have the money sense, he hasn't, so you have an irresponsible on your hands who has to be trained to understand you can't have marriage and all of the luxuries, too, on his salary.

"The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 diamond	Pass	2 clubs
Pass	3 clubs	3 spades	4 diamonds
Pass	Pass	Pass

"I was West and, after the three spade bid, did not think I had enough honor trick strength to warant a four spade cue bid. I did not like to mention the hearts at the four level, hence my four diamond bid which I thought would show support and not too many spade losers. I also wished to show diamond support before forcing my partner and felt that my bid over the three spade bid was fairly strong and that East could have raised the diamonds or clubs, in which event I should have bid six diamonds. However, East felt there were too many losing spades and, knowing nothing of the hearts, was content with the four diamond bid. Should I have bid five diamonds, four spades, or should my partner have raised the clubs?

"Mrs. F. J. F., Philadelphia."

The blame must be divided in this case, but I am afraid that at least 80 per cent of it must be placed with West. The four diamond bid was definitly not good. I grant that West's honor trick holding was not terrific—a mere two and one-half-plus—but the distribution of her hand and the fact that she had made only a simple two club take-out at her first opportunity justified this cue bid at the crucial point. I must stress the fact that a cue bid, which is made after a player has already limited his holding by failing to make a jump take-out or jump raise, does not require as much strength as if made under other conditions. The club raise by East, on top of the opening diamond bid, assured West of an excellent "fit" and it was inconceivable that a four spade cue bid could encourage East past a safe level. A grand slam was almost impossible to reach on these combined holdings, and indeed it is questionable whether it should be bid, since a bad diamond break might well defeat it. I suggest the following as the correct East-West bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 diamond	Pass	2 clubs
Pass	3 clubs	3 spades	4 spades
Pass	6 clubs	Pass	Pass
Pass

[In order to keep the East-West bidding straight I have accepted South's erratic bidding, passing at the one level and entering the auction at the three level.]

I call attention to the fact that, although most combined hands holding one matching four card suit play better with that suit as trump than with another trump suit divided 5-4, that in this particular case clubs and not diamonds should be the correct final contract. Although the diamond jack would not have fallen, East's losing diamond could easily have been discarded on West's hearts and eventually a diamond could have been ruffed in the East hand.

The 20 per cent blame put on the East player results from his having "hung" one short of game with a well fitting hand. He should have bid five clubs.

WILSON'S Weekly MEMO by GEORGE RECTOR

More than seventy years ago, Memorial Day was set aside as a time for special remembrance of our soldier dead. Gradually, visits to the cemetery have been supplemented by pleasure outings and social affairs, until now we look on this holiday as one of our big occasions for entertaining, indoors and out.

I do not consider this out of place. In Lincoln's own words, "It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this." What better end could our heroes have achieved than that today we are free to pursue just such simple pleasures and satisfactions? I wish you all a very happy holiday!

George Rector
Food Consultant
Wilson & Co.

P. S.—I will be lecturing all summer in the Court of Flames, New York World's Fair. I'll be happy to have you visit me. G. R.

EENY, MEENY, MINEY, MO!

When it comes to deciding what to serve over the Decoration Day holiday, I am reminded of the small boy who said he did not care what flavor ice cream he had, so long as it was chocolate. It really does not matter what you select so long as it is a Wilson Ham. It can be a Wilson's Tender Made Ham, with the bone in, or boneless in flavor-saving, whole or family size tins, or a Tender Extra Mild Certified Smoked Ham.

Any one of this happy trio will simplify your holiday cooking and assure the folks complete satisfaction of the inner man.

Wilson's Tender Made Ham in the yellow wrapper is ready to eat, just as you buy it, or it may be given a heating once-over. The Boneless Tender Made Ham in Tin is just the thing to tote along, unopened, on the family picnic. The Tender Made Bone-In Ham might well have a thick steak neatly cut from its center, as the pièce de resistance for an evening meal. This leaves two choice halves which may be cooked 5 minutes to the pound in a moderate oven.

The Tender, Extra Mild Certified Smoked Ham in the orange wrapper requires only 16 minutes cooking to the pound (19 minutes for half a ham).

Thus fortified, you will have ammunition for hot dinners, cold platters, picnic lunches, sandwiches, salads, appetizers and a host of entrees for breakfast, luncheon or dinner, and you will be able to greet extra guests with enthusiasm, unexpected relatives with fortitude, and a shift of weather with serenity. In a word, you're prepared for anything!

Salaams to Salami

With the coming of the warmer days, summer sausage makes its bow once more. Besides being used in sandwiches, cold platters and appetizers, these practical meats can be made into many good entrees. Such, for example, as

CERVELAT PORTUGAISE
1 pound Wilson's Certified Cervelat or Salami
2 large onions, chopped
1 cup chopped celery
No. 2 can tomatoes

Fry the onion in 2 tablespoons Wilson's New Certified Pure Lard until golden brown. Add celery and sausage cut in small cubes. Fry 5 minutes. Add tomatoes. Season to taste. Simmer covered for 30 minutes. Serves 4.

LINCOLN FIELDS OPENS CHICAGO RACE SEASON TODAY

NAME 12 HORSES FOR FEATURED CRETE HANDICAP

The Fighter Given 120 Pounds.

Opening Day Data

EVENT—Opening of Chicago district racing season.

PLACE—Lincoln Fields, Crete, Ill.

TIME—First race: 2:15 p. m. [Eight races.]

FEATURE EVENT — $2,500 Crete handicap.

HOW TO GET THERE—C. & E. I. railroad from Dearborn station direct to track, stopping at 47th street and 63d street; Illinois Central from Randolph street, stopping at Van Buren, Roosevelt road, 53d street, and 63d street, to Homewood, connecting with special buses to track. Motor route—Illinois highway No. 1 [Halsted street].

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago district race track followers will reach the end of a long winter at 2:15 this afternoon. In response to the lively toot of a bugle, a set of thoroughbred horses will come prancing out from the Lincoln Fields paddock. Their brightly clad jockeys will maneuver them through a parade past the stands and then will turn their heads toward the three-quarter pole where Starter Bill Hamilton will be waiting to send them away on the first race of the 1939 Illinois season.

Maybe the horses in this particular set won't be any too good, as thoroughbreds go. Maybe their names will never be found among the leading money winners. But that won't matter today. They'll be a pleasant sight to the Chicago race fans who have been contenting themselves with bookie shop and form sheets for more than six months.

It's a Long Season.

Today's program will be the first of a Chicago district schedule which will run continuously until the end of October. After twenty-seven days at Lincoln Fields, the scene will shift to Arlington, then to Washington Park, then to Hawthorne and finally to Sportsman's Park. During that time some of the greatest horses in the country are expected to perform on Chicago district tracks.

The season will open more peacefully than many local sportsmen expected, for during the winter and spring there had been conflicts that had threatened to shake the foundations of the present setup of the sport in this state. The racing commission had been attacked in the state legislature. The senate had passed a bill for its abolition but the measure was stopped in the house and is now dead.

Then there was a conflict over dates which saw the Aurora track withdraw from the racing scene because of failure to get Memorial day.

Another Feud Is Ended.

A major conflict between Washington Park and Hawthorne over Labor day was settled by the edict of the racing commission after numerous conferences between the track operators had proved fruitless. The loser, Washington Park, accepted the decision in a spirit of good sportsmanship.

So now that the dust of battle has settled, Chicago horsemen are ready to go ahead and race with nearly every one on friendly terms with nearly every one else.

The main event on today's program will be the $2,500 Crete handicap, the first of eleven stakes which will be run during the Lincoln Fields meeting. This six furlong dash for 3 year olds and up drew a full field of twelve in the overnight entries. Those accepting the issue included The Fighter, Lightspur, King's Blue, Torchy, Silverette and others who performed well during the Keeneland and Churchill Downs meetings.

The Fighter Gets 120.

Racing Secretary William H. Shelley has allotted top weight of 120 pounds to The Fighter, with Silverette carrying 118 and King's Blue 117.

Charles F. Price, C. Bruce Head, and Christopher J. FitzGerald will be on the job again as stewards, the latter being the representative of the Illinois racing commission.

Executive Director Matt J. Winn has scheduled eight races daily, with only twenty-five minutes between post times. A daily double will be one of the betting features.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad will operate trains directly to the track, leaving the Dearborn street station at 12:30, 12:50, and 1:10 p. m., stopping at 47th street and Stewart avenue and 63d street and Wallace avenue. Illinois Central trains will leave Randolph street at 12:27, 1:10, and 1:50 p. m., stopping at Van Buren, Roosevelt road, 53d street, and 63d street. These will make special bus connections at Homewood.

Those who drive may follow Illinois route No. 1 [Halsted street]. The track is located just south of Crete. Parking space is available for several thousand cars.

IS BAER A BUM OR NOT? LOU NOVA HAS THE ANSWER

June 1 Important Day to Unreliable Max.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ferndale, N. Y., May 24.—Bill Brown, perennial member of the New York athletic commission, watched Max Baer work five rounds this afternoon in the open air arena at Grossinger's Country club. Commissioner Brown, best known in pugilistic society for his forthright characterization of Baer as a "big bum," when Max was training for his championship fight with Primo Carnera, today gave his approval to Max's earnest activity preparatory to his match a week from tomorrow night in Yankee stadium with Lou Nova.

"Baer is serious," Brown said after the short drill. Then he added: "If he had been as serious about fighting four years ago he wouldn't have given up the championship so easily."

Max Got His Revenge.

Commissioner Brown's most resounding "bum," you should know, reverberated in his own ears. When you call a man a bum eight times—the pressroom count this afternoon—you should be right at least once. Brown has more to his credit, but the first capital lettered BUM Brown pinned on Baer came back in print to plague him many times. For Brown called Baer that three letter word just before Max whaled Primo Carnera into submission and took the world's professional title from the ballyhooed Italian.

As subsequent events indicated, even a playboy, as Baer now admits he was in those days on Broadway, could whip Carnera. Baer faltered against the determined punching of Jimmy Braddock four years ago this month, and so Bill Brown's ejaculation became a prophecy only slightly delayed.

Bill May Be Right.

That description fitted perfectly the following September in 1935 when Baer quit before the furious assault of Joe Louis. And with exception of the decision over Tommy Farr, a year ago, Baer has furnished no clew that Brown was not correct. Perhaps, the commissioner, this afternoon, was a bit generous. Baer no longer fails to give his best. Whether his best, now that he is 30 years old, will carry him to victory over the youthful Lou Nova, is a question. No one believes that, granted a return match with Joe Louis, Max will have a chance against the man who was only an inexperienced youngster when he knocked out the garrulous Baer four years ago.

Max today discarded the weird headguard which had been designed to protect his scuffed nose. Instead a piece of adhesive tape covered the cut. That was struck away in the second round with Elza Thompson. The big Indianapolis heavyweight also punched out a decision in two rounds, as has been his custom. Naturally Baer is not willing to slug it out with Thompson. There is no profit in whipping sparmates, no matter how irritating they become. But it is a fact that Baer fought defensively, missed with left hooks frequently, and was a target for Thompson's vicious and unexpected right hand blows.

Thompson Has a Date, Too.

It may be mentioned in passing that Thompson probably can whip half of the men now parading as heavyweights, and if he doesn't knock out Jorge Brescia in the Yankee stadium next week, then the Argentine has been fooling many people by his recent inept performances.

Sandy McDonald of Dallas, and George Youssen of Russia, discovered, so the publicity states, in Paris, were Baer's other opponents. McDonald negotiated two rounds carefully, with permission from Baer, who countered no more than he had with Thompson, although he might have for all Sandy could have done to stop him. Youssen sailed along evenly until he

Armstrong Is 1 to 2 Favorite Over Roderick

LONDON, May 24.—(AP)—Henry Armstrong, having sold himself to admiring Britons as a gentleman and scholar, will break out his line of boxing goods tomorrow night and attempt to halt Ernie Roderick's quest for the American Negro's world welterweight championship.

Armstrong is a 1 to 2 favorite over Roderick, who holds the British welterweight title. Odds are 5 to 2 that Armstrong will stop the Englishman before the fifteen rounds are up at Harringay arena.

The little Negro's tremendous popularity with the press and his repeated appearances at the smaller fight clubs probably will fill the cheaper seats at the arena, which holds 17,000. The ringside seats, priced up to $50, are another thing. This is Derby week and only the very rich can afford the horse race, which only the sick and aged miss, and the fight.

Three things can upset Armstrong. One is the colossal confidence all hands in his camp feel. It may be justified, but then Roderick is big, strong, and courageous.

The second is Henry's left hand. It still is weak from the fractured index finger suffered against Davey Day in his last fight in the United States.

The third is the foul rule. Unless British officials waive the rules Roderick is likely to be welterweight champion of the world the first time Henry lands one below the belt. The British are strict. One foul and you're out and this is dangerous to Armstrong, who often loses several rounds a fight on fouls.

We Shall Go Home.

We shall go home when dusk is drawing nigh,
As little children who are cloyed with play,
Seeking a place of rest where we may lie
After the burden and the heat of day;
Our leaden eyes will weary of the light
And over them the heavy lids will close—
God grant that we may spend the long, long night
Wrapped in a peaceful garment of repose.

We shall go home to One who understands
Our carnal cravings and our petty pride,
To One with crimson rivers in his hands
And a great refuge in his open side,
Trusting that he will cleanse us in the sea
Of his immeasurable charity.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Phillies yesterday banged 11 hits off Larry French, including five singles by the first five batsmen in the seventh inning, but what Larry lacked in pitching deception in the one big emergency he made up in fielding. So Lawrence won his third straight victory, the Cubs whipping the Pennsylvania boys in Wrigley field, 3 to 2, their seventh straight setback.

The Cubs made two runs off Claude Passeau in the first inning, one simon pure and the other fuzzy, though technically earned. It was the result of the Phillies' only misplay, Del Young's fumble of a potential double play ball. The victory run was scored after two were out in the fourth. At this juncture Stan Hack scratched a single off Merrill May's glove, stole second and scored on Capt. Bill Herman's second single.

Pitchers Use Strikeout Ball.

The first half of the game was a strikeout demonstration by French and Passeau. In the first four innings French fanned five and added one later on. Passeau, who gave up only seven hits all afternoon, fanned eight Cubs in the first five innings. In the last three innings Passeau abandoned the strikeout technique, but held the Cubs to a sixth inning double by Gus Mancuso and an eighth inning single by Steve Mesner.

French's only real strain was in that seventh when those five straight singles produced the two Philadelphia runs. Then, with the bases still loaded and no one out, French started a double play through the plate, filled the bases again with an intentional pass and threw out the next batter.

The outcome put the Cubs two up in their competition with eastern invaders, with one to play. They won one, tied one and lost one to the Dodgers, split two with the Giants and took two out of three from the Bees. Their season standing with the Phillies shows yesterday's victory against two defeats in Philadelphia, May 2 and 3. The Phillies will go away after today's game and the pennant contending western teams will be at each other's throats for two series before the western teams move east for their second trip along the Atlantic seaboard.

SMITH LIMITS OLD ATHLETIC MATES TO 5 HITS

3 Run 8th Decides Pitchers Battle.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 24.—Edgar [Lefty] Smith, who found haven with the White Sox when Connie Mack sought waivers on him several weeks ago, sneaked back into his former workshop tonight and just about wrecked the place. Before 18,721 spectators who used to boo him because he couldn't win and who occasionally booed him under the electric lights this evening because he was an alien, Smitty thoroughly whipped his old Athletic associates while his new found pals were parading to their third consecutive triumph. The score was 4 to 1.

Between fighting off his usual wildness and the bats that for two seasons tried to work in his behalf the tow-headed, keg-shaped southpaw had no easy job. He was never on easy street, except near the finish. His task was made acute by one Lee Ross, who for a good portion of the contest was as tough as James J. Dykes' most recent bargain. Ross for seven innings refused to give up any more than one run or more than four hits. So Smitty had to plug along valiantly, the while hoping for a break. It came in the form of a three run eighth inning splurge.

Walker Lends a Hand.

Smitty was the thief in the night to his former employer, but there was at least one other fellow who also was good. It was Gerald Walker, who always does things differently, sometimes for the better. Tonight with the score tied in the eighth, two men on base, and none out, the inimitable Walker feinted as if to bunt. The Athletics' infield started to shift to meet this maneuver, but Gerald was only kidding. He suddenly switched his stance, took a half swing at the first pitch, and sent it on a leisurely loop into right field for a single. From that bit of trickery blossomed the winning three run margin.

The honor of starting the winning eighth, however, must be accorded Ollie Bejma, who singled to left for his second hit, the previous one driving in the Sox' first run. Joe Kuhel bunted toward third and beat it out for a hit. Right here was where Walker's trickery broke Ross' spirit. As the first and third basemen were dashing in to get the bunt, Walker let go with the single that scored Bejma to break the 1 to 1 tie and put Kuhel on third.

Walker Performs Again.

The next incident was an apparently sure fire double play ball from Radcliff's bat. Gantenbein tossed it to Ambler, but by the time the latter untangled his feet from Walker, he discovered it was too late to throw. In the meantime Kuhel had gone home. Appling kept the rally under way by singling through short, Radcliff taking third. Kreevich duplicated the Appling single and Radcliff scored with the final run. Then Ross retired the next two men and went home to bed, leaving the ninth for Chubby Dean.

Smith, although repeatedly behind batters because of his wildness, retired the side in order in the ninth. The fourth was the only inning in which the Athletics collected more than one hit, two singles coming behind a pass to produce a run. The two other passes he issued were coupled with hits, but in each case Mike Kreevich's arm cut down a runner trying to go from first to third.

Johnson Hot and Cold.

The Sox found Ross' pitching so tough for two innings that they couldn't get a man to base. Tresh was the first to arrive there. He

PAUL DERRINGER YIELDS 5 HITS; REDS WIN, 6 TO 0

Giants Fail to Halt March of Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O., May 24.—(AP)—Paul Derringer shut out the New York Giants on five hits today as the Cincinnati Reds slugged their way to their ninth consecutive victory, 6 to 0.

Starting with two runs on three hits in the first inning, the Reds punched disrespectfully at the offerings of Harry Gumbert, the Giants' No. 1 pitcher, until they brought about his removal by a three run rally in the fifth.

It was the fifth victory for Derringer against one setback.

PIRATES, 6; DODGERS, 3.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 24.—(AP)—Batting Vito Tamulis out of the box with a four run flurry in the sixth inning, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat Brooklyn, 6 to 3, today for the Dodgers' sixth successive defeat.

Joe Bowman went the route for the Pirates on nine hits, of which seven came in the last four innings after Pittsburgh had moved out in front.

CARDINALS, 7; BEES, 0.

St. Louis, Mo., May 24.—(AP)—Curt Davis gave another brilliant pitching lesson today as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Boston Bees, 7 to 0, for his sixth victory of the season and his second shutout. It was the Cards' sixth straight victory and their twelfth in the last fourteen games.

Davis pitched only day before yesterday, coming to the rescue of Morton Cooper in the ninth inning and turning back three men in a row to save a 2 to 1 victory over Philadelphia. In the last six games, Cardinal pitchers have allowed only six runs and thirty-nine hits.

Detroit Snaps Yanks' Victory String, 6 to 1

New York, May 24.—(AP)—Proving that the world champion Yankees are vulnerable sometimes, if not often, the Detroit Tigers slugged their way to a 6 to 1 victory today to give New York's American league leaders their first defeat in thirteen games.

While Paul [Dizzy] Trout, a rookie right hander, was scattering seven hits and keeping well out of danger, the Bengals worked out on three Yankee hurlers for ten hits.

The veteran Charley Gehringer started the trouble in the first frame by sailing a long liner past Tommy Henrich in center field for a home run inside Yankee stadium. It was his sixth of the season.

[Chicago at Philadelphia to be played as part of double-header June 18.]

Whitehill Bids for 2d Triumph Against Phillies

The Phillies are scheduled to get another dose of left handedness in the series final this afternoon. Earl Whitehill will make a bid for his second 1939 victory. Coach Sylvester Johnson, who held the Cubs to four hits as he beat them on May 2, probably will pitch for the Phils, though Hugh Mulcahy may get the call.

Umpire Dolly Stark yesterday made his first appearance as a plate umpire since he was injured in the opening series of the season. He returned to work in the Boston-Chicago game in Boston on May 10 but until yesterday had functioned at third base exclusively.

Manager Hartnett says he hasn't decided when to start Dizzy Dean again. Possibly in the Pirate series, however.

Chicago radio announcers assigned to baseball last night gave a testimonial dinner to Robbie Lewis, Cubs' traveling secretary. The function was held in the Illinois Athletic club.

French Wins No. 3; Beats Phils, 3 to 2

Scott wasted a double and a base on balls before the Cubs put on their first inning drive. They made a pair of runs and had the bases loaded when the side was retired. Hack led off with a walk and went to third on Herman's single to center. Galan also singled to center, Hack scoring and Herman taking third. Leiber walked, filling the bases, then Marty fanned for the first out. G. Russell bounced the double play ball to Young, who fumbled, Herman scoring. Passeau fanned Mesner and threw out Mancuso.

After the Phils had been retired in order in the second Passeau again made use of his strikeout ball to tame the Cubs in their second. French fanned, Hack got his second pass, and Herman fanned, Hack stealing second. Galan bounced out to Brack.

Hack Brings In a Big Run.

Successive strikeouts again inspired a Philly double in the fourth. After Scott and Arnovich had whiffed, Brack doubled to right but May was thrown out by Mesner.

The Cubs scored their third run after two were out in the fourth. Mancuso popped to Young and Passeau registered his sixth strike out when he whiffed French a second time. Hack scratched a single off May's glove, again stole second and scored on Herman's single to center.

Passeau speared his seventh and eighth strike out victims in the fifth. He walked Leiber, after which he fanned Marty and G. Russell.

French Gets Off the Ropes.

The Phils had two runs home and the bases full with none out, but couldn't add another run to tie the score in the seventh. The bases were loaded on successive singles by Whitney, Davis, and Passeau, with Schott getting in the picture when he was put on first to run for Davis. Young singled to right, Whitney scoring. Martin was credited with a single when French failed to cover first on his bouncer to G. Russell, Schott scoring. Scott tapped into a double play, French to Mancuso to G. Russell. Arnovich was given an intentional pass, again loading the bases. French then threw out Brack.

The Phils made a bid for a tie in the eighth. May opened with the eleventh Philly hit, a single to center, moved up on Whitney's sacrifice, advanced to third while Herman was throwing out Milles, and was stranded when Mesner's throw beat Passeau by an eyelash.

Barney Pelty, Pitcher for Browns in 1904-'11, Dies

Farmington, Mo., May 24.—[Special.]—Barney Pelty, former major league pitcher, died today. Pelty pitched for the St. Louis Browns from 1904 to 1911. He was 59 years old.

SCOTS WIN, 7-1.

Detroit, Mich., May 24.—(AP)—The Scottish Football association's invading all-star team, held scoreless in the first period, marked up seven goals in the second half tonight to defeat a selected team of Michigan league soccer players, 7 to 1.

Sox Triumph Over Macks in Night Tilt, 4-1

singled to deep short with one out in the third, but Smith was tossed out by Gantenbein and Bejma by Nagel. In the fourth, however, the Chicagoans came close to having a little fun at cut rates. After Kuhel had flied to right, Walker sent a high one to left and Johnson dropped it for a two base error. After Radcliff had been thrown out, Appling walked, then Kreevich gave the ball a swell ride, but it remained in the air just long enough for Johnson, backed against the wall, to make the catch.

Smith walked Etten in the second and it was linked with a single by Hayes, but it did no damage because Kreevich picked up the hit and nailed Etten going into third. Smith's next pass didn't work out so happily. Miles drew it to open the fourth and Chapman singled to left, but a moment later took a big lead off base and was nipped. Then Johnson singled to left and Miles skipped home with the maiden run of the evening. Etten and Nagel flied out.

Smith Chips In.

After using up four innings and netting only one hit, the Sox blossomed forth with three safe drives in the fifth, but produced only the tying run. Owen led off with a foul to the catcher. Tresh pushed a single past Etten. Smith did his bit with a single down the third base line. Bejma ripped off a drive which landed close to the top of the left field pavilion railing, but all he got out of it was a single because Smith stopped at second. Tresh dashed home on the hit. Then Kuhel flied to Johnson and Walker grounded to Nagel.

Ambler polled a single to left with one out in the fifth for the fourth hit off Smith. Ross was so determined to sacrifice that he tried it after fouling off two pitches. The third one worked, but Smith kept the 1 to 1 tie intact by fanning Gantenbein.

The next two innings were so simple for the sawed off southpaw that nobody reached base. But he had a little to think about in the eighth, just after the Sox had jumped into the lead. He started the inning by walking Ambler, but got Lodigiani, who batted for Ross, on a pop to Bejma. Radcliff lost Gantenbein's fly, but finally grabbed it with his gloved hand. Miles then singled to center, and Ambler gave Kreevich's arm another test by trying to reach third. He was killed off easily. Smith's ninth was another one, two, three accomplishment.

LOYOLA SPORTS STARS SHINE IN CLASSROOM, TOO

Athletes of Loyola university played a prominent part in the fiftieth annual honors day program held in the Loyola Community theater yesterday.

Bill O'Brien, star basketball forward, presided as president of the Arts Student council before Marty O'Shaughnessy, captain-elect of the swimming team, was installed in office.

The Leonard D. Sachs medal, awarded to the senior most proficient in athletics, scholarship, and sportsmanship, was won jointly by O'Brien and Wibs Kautz, basketball guard.

Student council keys were awarded by the Rev. William A. Finnegan, S. J., dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, to O'Brien, Hofherr, O'Shaughnessy, Norb Hruby of the tennis team, and Jack Driscoll of the basketball squad. The dean's keys, awarded to outstanding seniors, went to O'Brien, Hofherr, Driscoll, and Hruby.

Coach Lennie Sachs presented the major basketball monograms to Mike Novak, Kautz, O'Brien, George Hogan, Driscoll, George Wenskus, Vinny Graham, Ed Schell, and Manager Hofherr.

OPEN GOLF SEASON.

Members of the Lake Shore Athletic club will open the golf season today with a handicap tournament to be played on the No. 3 course of the Medinah Country club.

Sox Sleep Today; to Travel On to Cleveland Tonight

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 24.—There will be no 9 o'clock reveille for the Sox tomorrow morning. They were told they could slumber all day if they felt that way. The only orders from Manager Jim Dykes were to be up in time to catch tomorrow night's 10:39 train for Cleveland.

There are 780 twenty-inch floodlights in the Shibe park system. The current is spread around the park through seven and one-half miles of insulated copper conductors. The same amount of light would illuminate over 2,000 homes or a boulevard 160 miles long.

Second Baseman Ollie Bejma claims he is the champion long distance night baller among the present Sox. When in the Texas league he was in a post sundown double-header which totalled twenty-seven innings, the conclusion being reached at 2:10 in the morning.

Some one of Dykes' wags posted notice tonight on the club house bulletin board that a new club had been organized. It's known as the "Putty club." Memberships have been awarded to Jack Hayes, Eric McNair, and Joe Kuhel. Any player injured will be enrolled.

Lane Blanks Senn, 7-0, for 12th Straight

The quota of eight baseball teams that will meet in the championship playoff series in the Chicago Public High School league was completed yesterday.

The teams are: North section, Lane and Amundsen; south section, Parker and Morgan Park; west section, Crane and Steinmetz; central section, Harrison and Lindblom. The matter of being first or second in the four sections where ties are involved, will be settled on the basis of whether one team defeated its playoff rival twice. If the teams split the toss of a coin will settle the issue.

Yesterday Lane, the only undefeated team of the thirty in the circuit, registered its twelfth victory by shutting out Senn, 7 to 0.

Austin triumphed, 19 to 7, over Washburne on seventeen hits, coupled with thirteen errors, and in another free scoring game Harrison defeated Hyde Park, 17 to 10.

Parker lost an eight inning battle to Calumet, 10 to 9, when Kenny Friend, Calumet third baseman, hit a homer, after Parker had rallied to score five runs and tie the score in the seventh.

AN OLD HOOSIER SHOWS HIS SPEED IN 500 MILE TEST

Ira Hall, 47, One of Two to Qualify for Race.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 24.—(AP)—Two drivers, including the veteran Ira Hall of Terre Haute, Ind., qualified today for the 500 mile Memorial day speedway race, bringing the number of certain starters to eighteen.

Hall, who admits to being 47, and Frank Wearne of Pasadena, Cal., were the only qualifiers. Wearne, driving a car which has the same motor with which Floyd Roberts won the race last year, qualified at 125.074 miles an hour. The car is entered by Roberts and Lou Moore.

Petillo's Car Fails.

Hall drove the same car he piloted last year and qualified at 121.188 miles an hour, a figure which apparently made him a sure starter. It gave him the outside position in the sixth row of the tentative lineup.

Kelly Petillo of Los Angeles, and Al Miller of Detroit, were the only other two who even indicated they were ready to qualify today. Petillo, making his second attempt, drove three laps and stopped, after doing no better than 118 miles an hour. The car was throwing smoke and a quick examination showed a sticking piston.

More to Try Today.

Miller threw a connecting rod coming down the main stretch, and scattered automobile parts and oil all over the track. There was no indication when he would try again.

Qualifying trials will be resumed tomorrow afternoon. Approximately eighteen drivers remain as potential starters.

CHAPMAN TURNS BACK YATES IN BRITISH AMATEUR

Champion's Putter Fails in 5 and 3 Defeat.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HOYLAKE, Eng., May 24.—Putting, good and bad, told the story of the match today that sent Charley Yates of Atlanta, Ga., defending champion, out of the British amateur golf tournament. While the champion's putter turned traitor on him, his opponent, Dick Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., gave an amazing exhibition on the greens in winning, 5 and 3, in a third round match.

Chapman, who went to the semi-finals of the United States amateur in 1938, turned back the southerner by making four spectacular putts.

Vines Is Beaten.

Ellsworth Vines, one time world's professional tennis champion, lost to John Baillieu, an Australian, 2 to 1, after winning his second round match earlier in the day from E. N. Ratcliffe of England, 4 and 3. Another American who advanced to the fourth round was Bill Holt of Syracuse, N. Y., who defeated D. S. Coates of England, 3 and 2.

Chapman, who was 2 up at the end of the first nine holes in his match with Yates, performed his first putting feat on the tenth green of the Royal Liverpool course. With his ball high on the sloping green, he sent it straight for the target, 30 feet away. After losing the eleventh, the New Englander, from the edge of the green, sank the ball from 45 feet out. At the fourteenth he sank an 18 foot putt to go 4 up and on the fifteenth dropped in a 20 foot putt to end the match.

Winner Meets Thompson.

In tomorrow morning's fourth round matches, Chapman will meet A. S. G. Thompson and if he wins his afternoon opponent will be Gordon Peters of Scotland.

Results of today's principal matches:

Dick Chapman, Greenwich, Conn., defeated Charley Yates, Atlanta, Ga., 5 and 3.

Bill Holt, Syracuse, N. Y., defeated D. S. Coates, England, 3 and 2.

John Baillieu, Australia, defeated Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena, Cal., 2 and 1.

Charlie Timmis, England, defeated Hector Thomson, England, 2 up.

Jim Bruen, Ireland, defeated E. D. Hamilton, Scotland, 3 and 2.

Alex Kyle, Scotland, defeated Eric Fiddian, England, 2 and 1.

Gordon Peters, England, defeated E. Bromley-Davenport, England, 1 up.

Charlie Stowe, England, defeated H. M. Braid, England, 6 and 5.

MONARCHS WIN 2 FROM PABSTS IN CLASSIC PLAYOFF

The Monarchs won two games from the Pabsts last night in the playoff for the championship of the Wednesday division of the Classic Bowling league. The Monarchs won the first two with scores of 1,035 and 1,065 to the Pabsts' 893 and 1,027. The Pabsts took the last game, 1,082 to 1,057. Herb Freitag of the Pabst five totaled 670, including a 267 game. Leo Faetz was high on the Monarch team with 665.

Nyack, N. Y., May 24.—(AP)—Tony Galento turned up at Lou Nova's training camp today and actually refused to add the Californian to his ever-growing list of "bums."

Tony watched Nova go through his longest and most impressive workout to date and then predicted Lou would knock out Max Baer in considerably less than the scheduled fifteen rounds of their meeting in Yankee stadium June 1.

STORCK IS NAMED ACTING HEAD OF PRO GRID LEAGUE

Columbus, O., May 24.—(AP)—Carl Storck of Dayton, O., was named acting president of the National Football league tonight, taking the place of Joe F. Carr, veteran leader of the circuit, who died Saturday.

Storck has been vice president and treasurer of the league since 1921. He will serve as acting head until the annual meeting next April.

Funeral services were held today for Carr, who was known widely as an organizer of football, baseball, and basketball.

LARRY DOYLE OF OLD GIANTS GETS BACK HIS PASS

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Larry Doyle, New York Giants second baseman in the historic baseball years following 1907, today rescued the most treasured trophy of the days when he was one of the country's outstanding players.

Doyle read that a pawnshop was offering for sale the sterling silver lifetime pass presented to him by the presidents of the American and National leagues when he retired.

The pass, Doyle said, was either lost or stolen from his home some time ago. It had been pawned for $10. Doyle redeemed it on his way to work as coach of the Police Department Athletic league's school for ball players.

He proudly showed the inscription on the silver plate: "The National and American major leagues of professional baseball present this lifetime pass to Larry Doyle in appreciation of long and meritorious service."

These two revolutionary new woods are proof of Wilson's position as creators of improved playing equipment. The Wilson AERFLO (Gallagher Turf-rider model) and Wilson STRATA-FACE reveal "the World of Tomorrow" in golf clubs. While different in streamlining and detail, each of these woods involves a new principle, which makes it easier than ever before to set your club head in correct position before the ball. Don't fail to see these new, improved woods.

The new Wilson K-28 Ball sets a new pinnacle of performance. Demonstrated dramatically by Champion Ralph Guldahl and Runner-up Sam Snead at the 1939 Masters' Tournament it proved itself a "wonder" ball—the golf ball sensation of 1939. Play one round with the new K-28 and you'll use no other. The Wilson Sporting Goods Co., Chicago, New York and other leading cities.

ALLEN IN PRO DEBUT TONIGHT IN WHITE CITY

Meets Brown in 4 Round Match.

Altus Allen, 1939 international and intercity Golden Gloves heavyweight winner, will make his professional debut in a four round bout tonight in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. His opponent will be John Brown, south side light heavyweight.

The match was carried over when last week's show was canceled.

Irish Eddie McGeever, Scranton, Pa., welterweight, and Tony Motisi of the Catholic Youth organization are the contestants in an eight round contest. McGeever, who won an unimpressive triumph in his first Chicago appearance recently, will have his hands full against Motisi. Tony, 1937 C. Y. O. 147 pound champion, has won eleven of his twelve professional starts.

Nick Castiglione, Italo-American Youth organization lightweight, will be after revenge in a second match of eight rounds against Earl Gibbs. Castiglione, who knocked out Meyer Alper of Montreal, Que., May 15, lost a five round amateur fight to Gibbs in the Madison Athletic club about a year ago. Preliminary contests of four rounds follow:

Pete Ferrand, South Chicago, vs. Chief Bob Wilson, Fond du Lac, Wis. [4], 143.
Joey Russano, Humboldt park, vs. Jackie Page, New York [4], 130.
Mickey Hayes, Milwaukee, vs. Selman Martin, south side [4], heavyweights.

Promoter Bill Rand is going ahead with plans to promote a ten round bout between Gunnar Barlund, heavyweight from Finland, and Tony Musto of Blue Island, in Chicago Stadium June 8, despite threats by Michael Kutscher to obtain a court order preventing Musto from fulfilling his contract. Kutscher, who also goes under the name of Billy Williams, holds a managerial contract on the fighter. Musto and Bob Capocy, his representative, deny the legality of the contract.

Eddie Meleski, C. Y. O. middleweight, has opened drills in C. Y. O. center for an eight round scrap with Dick Kist of Danville in Marigold Gardens next Monday. . . . Pinkie George, Des Moines, Ia., promoter; John Ahern, chairman of the Minnesota Athletic commission, and Mike Collins, Minneapolis promoter, stopped off in the loop yesterday en route to Washington, D. C., where they will appear as witnesses in an attempt to repeal the law prohibiting interstate transportation of fight films. F. M.

Muskies Hold Spotlight as Season Opens

BY BOB BECKER.

Surface lures with spinners, underwater plug lures, flashing spoons with bucktails, and other fancy concoctions designed to fool muskellunge will be whizzing through the air over Wisconsin lakes today as the muskie season opens. In addition to all the gayly painted artificial lures, many muskie fishermen want nothing but live suckers when they are after a big one.

With the 1939 muskie season opening just ahead of the Decoration day week-end, the muskies are due for a busy time during the next few days.

There not only are innumerable lakes where one may fish for muskies, but also a number of Wisconsin rivers such as the Chippewa and the Flambeau which offer a pretty good chance for a specimen of old Eoox immaculatus. In the Three Lakes chain some of our favorite lakes are Big, Little Fork, and Big Fork.

In the Eagle river chain the fisherman finds another group of lakes which have a pretty steady muskie population, due to constant restocking. From the Manitowish waters on north through the Turtle waters and the big flowage near Mercer there's lake after lake offering a good bet for a muskie.

One veteran fisherman who visits this section of Wisconsin expresses his preference for muskie lakes as follows: "My pet lakes for muskies on the Turtle chain are South Turtle, Birch lake, and Rock lake. On the Manitowish chain I like Clear, Island and Rice lakes."

SENATE TABLES BID TO LOWER FEE AT AURORA TRACK

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—[Special.]—The senate today tabled proposed amendments to a bill permitting race track operators to take 7½ per cent of wagers instead of 6¼ per cent. Arnold P. Benson [R., Batavia], sought to amend the bill so that in the case of the Aurora track the "take" would be 9 per cent, while the state fee would be $500 instead of $1,500 for each racing day. This track cannot reopen otherwise, Benson said.

Savoldi Pins Slake in Cicero Wrestling Match

Joe Savoldi, Three Oaks, Mich., heavyweight wrestler, pinned Eddie Slake of South Bend, Ind., in 23 minutes and 40 seconds in the windup match in the Ringside arena in Cicero last night. In other matches John Evko and Frenchy Ammotte wrestled to a 30 minute draw; Jack Brown pinned Jack Ross in 20 minutes and George Mack won from Leo Ackley in 16 minutes and 20 seconds.

READ THAT AGAIN, INTERPRETER.
"WE ARE BEING HELD ABOARD A BOAT SOMEWHERE OFF THE ATLANTIC COAST. (SIGNED) PRINCES JERG AND NESTOR"
WE THOUGHT IT WAS A GAG AT FIRST —BUT WE DECIDED TO GET AN INTERPRETER AND COME TO YOU WITH OUR FIND. IT LOOKS SERIOUS.
IT JIBES EXACTLY WITH SOME THEORIES TRACY HAS HAD.

Sisters Share Sweep Ticket Worth $70,200

Two Chicago saleswomen found themselves $70,200 richer yesterday after the running of the 155th English Derby at Epsom Downs, England. They are Wilma Morley and her sister, Emily, of 629 Deming place, who held an Irish Hospital sweepstakes ticket on Fox Cub, which finished second to Blue Peter in the famous event.

Photographers and reporters greeted the sisters as they appeared for work in a north side dress shop. Bewildered, women answered a few questions and then locked themselves in a fitting room.

"I don't know what to say. That certainly is a lot of money, but I do intend to keep my position in the dress shop," Wilma said.

They were two of the ten Chicagoans who held tickets on starting horses in the race. The other eight whose horses finished out of the money each will receive $1,857. There were twenty other residents in the state of Illinois who had non-starters and will be awarded the same prize of $1,857.

Eleven other Americans held tickets on the first three horses, Blue Peter, Fox Cub, and Heliopolis. Two won on Blue Peter, five on Fox Cub, including Miss Morley, and five on Heliopolis. The total amount for these winners approximated $865,000.

TWO WIN IN NEW YORK

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Blue Peter, flashing across the finish line a winner at Epsom Downs today, brought a fortune to two New Yorkers who held tickets in the Irish hospital sweepstakes. A Bronx Irishman, George McGowan—in this country but fifteen years—held one of the tickets calling for $140,400. His nom de course was Donegal Girl.

Deep mystery surrounded the whereabouts of the other winner—another Irishman, Thomas Gaughan of 508 West 132d street. He didn't answer the bell at apartment 11 in the walk-up flat and the neighbors said he had left town with his wife right after he had been notified that he had drawn the favorite in the sweeps.

In addition to the twelve ticket holders on horses which placed, there were 389 American ticket holders of nonstarters and unplaced horses, each of whom receives $1,957, a total of $761,273.

Thirty-four Americans drew residual prizes of $5,250 each and 483 drew consolation prizes of $468 each, a total of $404,500.

SCHMIDDE TOPS OWN RECORD IN WEIGHT LIFTING

Art Schmidde of the Englewood Y. M. C. A. broke a record in the Midwest A. A. U. weight lifting tournament last night in Chase park, when he totaled 640 pounds in the 148 pound class. The old mark was 625 pounds, set by Schmidde last year.

Frank Kay of the Chicago Weight Lifting club equalled the record of 720 pounds in the 181 pound division, set by himself and Tony Petroline, Englewood Y, in 1938.

Tony Vega of East Chicago won the 131 pound division title with a lift of 540 pounds.

BLUE PETER, 7-2 FAVORITE, WINS ENGLISH DERBY

500,000 See Fox Cub Finish 2d in Field of 27.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

EPSOM, England, May 24.—Blue Peter, the favorite, came charging down the home stretch this evening to win the historic English Derby by four lengths. The husky son of Fairway out of Fancy Free, owned by Lord Roseberry and held at the short price of 7 to 2, refuted the experts who said he was not a stayer, and drove into the lead to conquer the field of twenty-seven 3 year olds.

Fox Cub, owned by Edward Esmond, and well backed at 100 to 6, was second. Lord Derby's Heliopolis, a 100 to 9 choice, was third. William Woodward's Hypnotist, only American owned horse in the race, wound up seventh after challenging the leaders at the halfway mark in the grueling mile and a half journey.

500,000 Cheer Winner.

Touched by the rider's whip two and a half furlongs from the finish, Blue Peter ran away from the field while 500,000 shrieked his name. The time was 2:36 4-5, well behind the stake record time of 2:32 3-5, set in 1916, when the race was run at Newmarket.

Heliopolis, the early pace setter, faded weakly in the homestretch drive and gave way to Fox Cub, which was driving hard for second money.

The field, with the exception of Bellman and Fairchance, got away to a good start. As Heliopolis sprinted away in front, Rogerstone Castle, Dhota, Major Brackley, Fairfax, and Wheatland stayed close to his heels.

Favorite Moves Up.

Larchfield, also away with the early leaders, took the lead after three furlongs. He still was in front at the top of the hill, with Blue Peter gaining rapidly after getting away eighth.

The favorite moved up still faster approaching perilous Tattenham corner and at the turn for home was in second place. A few hundred yards past the turn Heliopolis and Blue Peter were fighting for the lead, with Hypnotist challenging strongly and Fox Cub closing in on the outside.

Two and a half furlongs from home Jockey Ephraim Smith sent Blue Peter to the front, with Casanova, Fox Cub, and Heliopolis trailing in that order. Fox Cub soon passed Casanova and was pressing Blue Peter until Smith went to the whip. Then the favorite really showed his speed and stamina, pulling away to win well in hand.

Armour Tech Beats Lake Forest, 6-4; Evens Series

Armour Tech defeated Lake Forest college, 6 to 4, yesterday on Ogden field to even a home and home series. Willard Kruse of Tech fanned ten and scored two runs. Peterson of Lake Forest hit a two run homer in the seventh. Michigan State will invade Ogden field Saturday morning for Tech's final game of the season. Score:

Lake Forest ....020 000 200—4 7 3
Armour Tech ....003 110 01*—6 14 4

OLD INSULL UNIT FILES CLAIM FOR FIFTY MILLIONS

Says It Was Looted by Midland United.

Wilmington, Del., May 24.—[Special.]—Midland Utilities company, which has 19,000 investors in the Chicago area, today filed a claim for $50,000,000 against the company that dominated it in the old Insull organization. This was the Midland United company, one of the links which formerly bound the Commonwealth Edison company, Peoples Gas company, Public Services Company of Northern Illinois, and Public Service company of Northern Indiana into one financial group.

Midland Utilities, through its trustees, asserted it was looted by Midland United in 1930, 1931, and 1932 when one set of officers and directors served for both companies. Samuel Insull Sr. was chairman of the board and Samuel Insull Jr. was president.

Reveal Insull Jr. Deal.

The Chicago law firm of Haight, Goldstein & Hobbs is the spokesman for the trustees. Back of the law firm's report to the trustees is the story of Samuel Insull Jr.'s first big financial deal.

This story was not included in the documents filed with the court here today, but it was learned that it was contained in a lengthy report made to the trustees of Midland Utilities by their attorneys.

Attorneys told the trustees that in 1931 young Insull, convinced of the impregnability of the Insull utility empire, had paid 23 million dollars for the Gary Heat, Light & Water company. In doing so, they said, he violated a cardinal rule of business by making the purchase before he had arranged the financing.

This transaction was one of several listed in the documents filed today with Federal Judge John P. Nields. The two Midland companies were placed in bankruptcy before him June 9, 1934. Until Oct. 24, 1938, the same trustees managed both companies.

Claim Company Is Stripped.

Because of this dual service of the court's trustees, it was asserted, no serious effort had been made heretofore to unscramble the assets of these two Insull investment hulks. The operating companies owned by both are still sound and going concerns, but the bones of Midland Utilities had been stripped clean, and holders of preferred and prior lien stocks were the big losers, the petitioners alleged.

Last October Judge Nields granted the pleas of Utilities' investors and severed the trusteeship. Clarence A. Southerland, a Wilmington attorney, and Jay Samuel Hartt, an engineer of Madison, Wis., were then named to act for Utilities. Hugh M. Morris, a former federal judge, who had been acting for both companies, relinquished control of Utilities but remained as trustee for United.

Southerland and Hartt asked the court to order an examination of the records. The books of both companies are in Chicago and Judge Nields told them to go there and make an investigation. They employed Haight and Goldstein.

Spend Five Months on Books.

Haight and Goldstein spent five months in going over the books of the Midland companies and tracing intercompany transactions and financial deals. Today's report is the result of their search. In a general explanation of the claims they state:

"From and after Jan. 20, 1930, Midland United company and its wholly owned subsidiary were the sole common stock holders of Midland Utilities company, and Midland United company shortly thereafter assumed the management of Midland Utilities company and continually thereafter managed Midland Utilities company.

"Midland United company, as manager of Midland Utilities company, so used the assets and credit of Midland Utilities company for the accommodation and benefit of Midland United company as to destroy Midland Utilities company as a business entity or going concern, and reduced it to a shell containing a few miscellaneous assets of little worth."

Organized in 1923.

Midland Utilities was organized in 1923 by the Insull interests and the United Gas Improvement company of Philadelphia, Pa., to take over Indiana public utilities owned by them. It became the owner of utilities in 325 communities in Indiana and Ohio serving a population of 1,000,000.

Utilities was, roughly, a $50,000,000 holding company. United was, roughly, a $100,000,000 holding company.

United was a peg higher than Utilities in the Insull power pyramid and above it were several of Insull's personal investment companies and

Lead Capital, Men to Work, du Pont Urges

True economic recovery in this country can be achieved only by encouraging men to work and capital to produce, Lammot du Pont president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., asserted yesterday. He urged immediate lifting of present confiscatory tax burdens and declared the government spending program had produced business paralysis and fear instead of recovery.

Lammot du Pont.

Du Pont's statements were made in a letter to stockholders, friends, and employés of the company, the largest chemical enterprise in the country. The letter, directed at a time when a huge new government spending program was getting under way, recalled a similar message by du Pont in 1932, also assailing increases in government expenditures.

Capital Is Confiscated.

"Lasting confidence, necessary to free the capital goods industries and to reëmploy millions of people, cannot develop under present conditions," du Pont declared. "New capital cannot be created. Capital which remains available for use in new enterprises is being paralyzed by fear and rapidly confiscated through the heavy burden of taxes.

"Our spending program has produced, not recovery, but paralysis and fear. Is it not high time that we discard this program which bids fair to perpetuate our difficulties, and to return to the time tested method of encouraging and fostering the free play of fundamental economic forces, of encouraging men to work and capital to produce? Is it not evident that in this way only can true recovery be brought about?"

Repeats 1932 Statement.

Du Pont repeated his statement of 1932 which called attention "to the extraordinary increase in expenditures by our national government between the relatively prosperous year 1927 and the year 1932." In the earlier statement he showed a 42 per cent increase in government expenditures for 1932 over those for 1927.

"Now our total annual expenditures, excluding interest and debt retirement, are more than double the 1932 figures and more than three and a half times the 1927 figures," du Pont said.

Spend More, Income Low.

"This astounding increase in the national rate of expenditure has taken place during a time when the average national income has been subnormal. The result has been that during the last seven years the federal government has spent 13½ per cent of the total national income produced, as against less than 6 per cent during the preceding ten years.

"The huge expenditures have been made largely in the name of emergency—to provide relief and to induce recovery. But the commonly accepted estimates show almost as many people unemployed now as in 1933. And no wonder. The very method adopted obviously defeated its own end."

Stocks Swing Higher in Big Rise of Buying

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 24.—Fresh buying today lifted stock market prices fractions to about 3 points. All sections of the list shared in the recovery, with steel, aviation, and motor shares leading the uptrend. The spurt carried the market up to around the levels reached late in March. Trading increased to 1,013,680 shares, more than double yesterday's turnover.

The extent of the rally surprised many in Wall street, who could find no tangible news or business developments to warant it. However, some observers saw an encouraging sign in the report that congressional foes of the undivided profits tax were ready to drop their compromise program and work for complete repeal. Other influences were a sharply higher price in London and the strength in commodity markets.

U. S. Rubber Most Active.

United States Rubber took volume honors for a gain of 3 points. Other rubbers showed gains exceeding 1 point. Chrysler also was popular, spurting almost 4 points.

United States Steel and Bethlehem, up 2⅝ points apiece, led the steel group. In the merchandising section, Montgomery Ward gained 2¼ points and Sears-Roebuck 1½ points. Coppers showed gains running to 1¾ points in Kennecott.

Douglas featured the aviations with a gain of 2¾ points. Bendix attracted attention to add 1⅛. Sperry corporation, Boeing, United Aircraft, and Consolidated Aircraft each added more than a point.

Utility Demand Stronger.

Power and light shares moved in improved demand. Brooklyn Union Gas was a standout, rising 2¼ points. Consolidated Edison, Engineers' Public Service, and North American company were other favorites. American Telephone and Telegraph climbed 2¼ points.

Carrier shares joined the parade after a quiet morning. Santa Fe advanced 2⅛ points.

Allied and du Pont in the chemicals added 2½ and 1¼ points, respectively. Building shares, which have been quiet lately, were given a whirl. United States Gypsum and Johns-Manville rose sharply. In the oils, Standard of New Jersey added ⅝ point and Texas corporation 1¾ points.

NEW YORK CENTRAL APRIL REVENUE CUT BY COAL SHUTDOWN

The coal shutdown during April cut heavily into the revenues of the New York Central, F. E. Williamson, president, reported yesterday at the annual meeting of stockholders at Albany. Revenues for the month increased only about $1,000,000, or 4.6 per cent, over April, 1938, and the net deficit, after all charges, for April, 1939, was about the same as that for April, 1938.

The deficit for the first four months of this year will be approximately $7,321,000, against $13,136,000 in the 1938 period, Williamson said.

AGREE ON PLAN TO REORGANIZE REO MOTOR CAR

Detroit, Mich., May 24.—[Special.]—Attorneys for the trustee, stockholders, and creditors of the Reo Motor Car company informed Judge Arthur F. Lederle in the federal court today they had agreed on a reorganization plan. They said they believed the plan would enable the company, now inoperative, to return to the production of trucks in about three months.

Under the plan all creditors with claims of less than $1,000 will be paid in full. This would take about $115,000.

About $1,000,000 of assets would be segregated and liquidated, and from the proceeds ninety-five large creditors of the company would be paid $412,000, their full claims. Part of the proceeds would be used to pay off a number of competent creditors who have claims of $300,000. The court was told the $300,000 claims could be compromised for $150,000.

Judge Lederle ordered a hearing June 8 on the plan.

PRICES OF GRAIN BOUND ON CROP DAMAGE NEWS

Wheat Futures Rise 2½ to 3 Cents.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

Closing prices on the July delivery of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday:

	Yesterday.	Tuesday	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$ .78	$ .75½	$ .72½
Corn	.52	.50½	.56⅝
Oats	.34⅛	.32⅜	.26⅜
Rye	.54¾	.53	.54
Soy beans	.92¾	.92¼	.88¾

All deliveries of wheat, oats, and rye advanced yesterday to new seasonal high prices on American grain exchanges. Reports that crops were deteriorating over a wide area, due to hot and dry weather, were responsible for the upturns.

Wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade closed 2½ to 3 cents a bushel higher. Oats advanced 1⅜ to 1⅞ cents. Rye was 1¾ to 2¼ cents higher. Corn was relatively dull during the early part of the session but became more active in sympathy with wheat and closed 1¼ to 1½ cents higher.

Public Interest Increases.

Public interest in the grain markets yesterday was the largest in more than a year, brokers said. Commission houses were persistent buyers of all grains, largely in small lots. Houses with eastern connections were aggressive buyers of wheat futures early in the session.

The unfavorable crop reports on wheat resulted in Kansas City leading the advance. Futures in that market were as much as 3⅛ cents a bushel higher. Minneapolis was inclined to lag, due to good rains in parts of the Dakotas and western Canada, and closed only 1⅞ to 2⅛ cents higher. Winnipeg had a holiday.

The Kansas wheat crop was estimated at 102,000,000 bushels by the Robinson Elevator company of Salina, Kas. This was a reduction of 14,000,000 bushels from the department of agriculture's May 1 estimate. Last year's harvest was 152,000,000 bushels.

Give Delivery Notice.

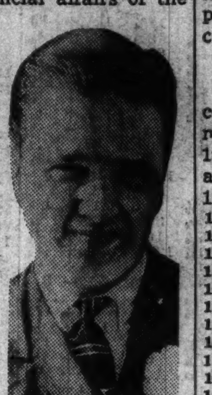
Notice was given yesterday that 612,000 bushels of cash wheat would be delivered today on May contracts on the Chicago Board of Trade. This was the first grain tendered this month.

The corn market is beginning to feel the effect of the dry weather west of the Mississippi river, brokers said. About 50 per cent of the acreage planted to that grain has not germinated because of lack of moisture, the weather bureau disclosed.

Inflation talk was mentioned as having become a factor in grain markets. This was said to have its origin in the latest government spending-lending proposals. Another influence was the relatively high government loan price on this year's wheat crop.

Ford Surplus Is 588 Millions; Assets Lower at $673,496,284

The public yesterday had its yearly peek into the financial affairs of the Ford Motor company. The company filed with the Massachusetts commissioner of corporations and taxation, a certificate of condition as of Dec. 31, 1938.



Henry Ford II., listed as director for first time.

The company set forth its profit and loss surplus at the close of 1938 at $588,821,274. This was a decrease of $19,263,661, compared with a year earlier when the account stood at $608,085,935. Reserves of the company were listed at $9,888,891, compared with $9,184,688 at the close of 1937, a gain of $704,203.

Assets Exceed 673 Million.

The book value of the total assets of the company on Dec. 31 was $673,496,284, as compared with $704,922,541 a year earlier.

The statement filed with the commissioner does not permit an accurate reckoning of the earnings results for the year. To measure the net change in the financial position of the company it has been common practice to give the net increase or decrease in the combined surplus and reserve accounts. On this basis there was a decrease for 1938 of $18,559,458.

Dividends Not Reported.

This calculation, however, does not take into account what dividends may have been paid to stockholders during the year. Such payments are not reported. In the preceding year there was a net decrease of $3,095,071 in surplus and reserve accounts.

All of the company's 3,452,900 shares of common stock [$5 par] is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford and their son, Edsel. Because the stock is so closely held the statement filed in Massachusetts affords the only opportunity to get an insight into the company's finances.

How Surplus Has Varied.

The profit and loss surplus of the company has fluctuated between 576 million and 708 million dollars since 1927. The following table shows the amount reported each year since 1927:

1938	$588,821,275
1937	608,085,935
1936	602,666,672
1935	582,977,651
1934	580,276,391
1933	576,517,080
1932	580,440,603
1931	655,302,247
1930	708,888,246
1929	664,427,424
1928	582,629,562
1927	654,851,061

Changes were shown in a number of the other balance sheet items reported. Among the asset items shown were:

	1938.	1937.
Real Estate.	$130,398,265	$122,375,918
Machinery, Equipment, Furniture and Fixtures.	$145,006,011	$125,645,402
Merchandise and Supplies.	$ 83,237,332	$135,943,385
Prepaid Insurance, Taxes, Etc.	$ 6,881,061	$ 3,570,439

Less Cash, Notes on Hand.

In addition the statement listed assets of $307,973,615 in cash, notes, and accounts receivable, stocks, bonds, security and patent rights. All these items were valued at $317,387,395 at the end of 1937.

Other items carried as liabilities, with 1937 comparisons, were:

	1938.	1937.
Accounts Payable.	$57,521,618	$70,387,416
Reserv's.	$ 9,888,890	$ 9,184,688
Capital Stock.	$17,264,500	$17,264,500

The certificate was signed by Edsel Ford as president and treasurer and P. E. Martin, vice president. Henry Ford II., son of Edsel, was carried among the list of directors for the first time.

PEABODY COAL WOULD RE-ELECT PRESENT BOARD

A proxy solicitation sent to stockholders of the Peabody Coal company yesterday announced the intention of the management to reëlect the present directors.

Salaries paid last year were reported as follows: Stuyvesant Peabody, president, $40,120; Moses Peltier, vice president, $40,280, and George W. Reed, vice president, $40,280.

Peabody was listed as owning 7,129 shares of 6 per cent preferred and 1,107 shares of class B common, in addition to which he had a beneficial interest in 67,424 shares of the B common and 726 of the preferred through a voting trust. He holds a contingent beneficial interest in 1,526 more shares of preferred through another trust.

Peltier was reported as holding 12,168 shares of B and Reed only one share. Both were large bondholders.

MONOPOLY PROBERS POSTPONE HEARING ON INVESTMENT BANKING

New York, May 24.—(AP)—Leading figures of the Wall street financial community who several weeks ago were subpenaed to appear before the monopoly investigating committee in Washington, today were informed the investment banking phase of its investigation had been postponed indefinitly.

Among the men summoned were: George Whitney of J. P. Morgan & Co.; Harold Stanley of Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc.; Floyd L. Carlisle, Niagara Hudson Power company; Wendell L. Willkie, Commonwealth and Southern corporation; Elisha Walker, Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and Stanley Russell, Lazard Freres & Co.

Most of these men, it was learned, received a telegram from Peter Nehemkis, special counsel for the committee conducting the investigation, merely saying they did not need to appear as scheduled, and that the press of other matters had required postponement.

BLAME FOR U. S. STAGNATION PUT ON NEW DEALERS

Hanes, Banker, Says Spending Is No Cure.

BY HERBERT VEDDER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 24.—Responsibility for idle money and business stagnation was placed on the shoulders of the Roosevelt administration tonight by Robert M. Hanes, first vice president of the American Bankers' association.

Robert M. Hanes.

A labor leader, Matthew Woll, emphasized his agreement with Hanes, who next fall will be elected president of the A. B. A., by calling for a halt to burocracy to permit business recovery and reëmployment of labor. Woll, who is vice president of the American Federation of Labor, also urged a revision of taxes.

Discuss Economic Problems.

Hanes and Woll took part in a symposium on "Problems of Economic Reconstruction," conducted by the national industrial conference board, at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. The conference board is an independent research organization supported by contributions from labor and relatively small business organizations, as well as the large corporations.

United States Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], chairman of the temporary national economic committee which is investigating monopolies, and C. W. Kellogg, president of the Edison Electric institute, said government regulation of industry is here to stay. Both made pleas for coöperation between business and government.

Asks Fair Deal for Carriers.

John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, asserted that there can be no solution of the railroad problem until there is a "square deal in transportation." All carriers, he said, must be treated alike in matters of taxation, regulation, subsidy, and public policy generally.

"The great economic lack at the present time is a flow of risk taking capital," said Hanes, who is president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust company, which operates in five North Carolina cities with headquarters at Winston-Salem. "Practically all authorities are agreed that this lack is one of the greatest single fac-

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, May 24.—(AP)—Rails and industrials did well in the bond market today, and some active issues advanced 2 points and more. The Associated Press index showed ten utilities at a new high of 95.8, the best since 96 on Sept. 15, 1937.

United States government issues tended to give ground. Some maturities slipped 5-32, but a few made gains ranging up to 4-32.

The foreign dollar list, however, shared in the general buying spell. German 5½s of '65 and the 7s of '49 were up fractionally at 19⅞ and 20⅞, respectively. Italy 7s were ½ higher at 62, and Rome 6½s up 1⅜ at 55⅛.

Gainers of 2 points or more included Alleghany 5s of '49 at 66; American and Foreign Power 5s at 61½; Delaware and Hudson refunding 4s at 57; Nickel Plate 4½s at 46½, and the 5½s at 54½; Studebaker 6s at 80, and Western Union 5s of '60 and 5s of '51, both at 62¼.

American Telephone 3¼s of '66 declined fractionally.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks moved higher yesterday in the heaviest volume of trading since April 11. Volume was 36,000 shares. Of the 104 issues traded eighty-two advanced, only seven declined, and fifteen were unchanged.

Commonwealth Edison was the most active issue. It closed at 28⅛, up ⅛. Marshall Field rose 1¼ to close at 12½. Bendix Aviation advanced ⅝ to 24¾, General Motors gained 1⅜ at 45. Zenith advanced ⅝ to 16⅝.

Two new 1939 highs were reached. American Public Service preferred rose 2¾ to close at 75¾ and Hein-Werner Motor Parts advanced ⅛ to close at 9.

Arrangements were completed for the transfer of an exchange membership at $1,800, or $100 above the last sale.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were stronger yesterday. Bid prices on First National and Harris Trust advanced $5 and Continental Illinois $1.50. Quotations follow:

COTTON

Inflation talk and more favorable political conditions in Europe were responsible for a sharp upturn in American cotton markets yesterday. Prices at one time were up $1 a bale. Closing trades, while slightly below the best prices, showed gains of .08 to .16 cent a pound.

The government weather crop summary said weather conditions during the last week were generally favorable for the cotton crop.

Spot cotton closed .10 to .13 cent a pound higher with New York, 9.85 cents; New Orleans, 9.52 cents; Galveston, 9.35 cents, and Houston at 9.22 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Commodities

Commodities prices pushed substantially higher yesterday in unusually heavy turnover. Hide futures at New York soared 0.43 to 0.47 cent a pound. Sales of new hide contracts totaled 32,160,000 pounds, the heaviest in the history of the exchange. The price of spot hide leather was raised ½ cent a foot.

The No. 2 May silk contract rose 28 cents a pound to $2.81. Other deliveries were mixed, with the general trend indicating higher prices. Silk prices are at the highest levels in nine years, fully 50 per cent above recent months. Hosiery industry reports yesterday indicated the high prices were likely to curtail mill operations this summer by cutting consumer buying of silk products.

Rubber futures were marked up as much as 0.36 cent a pound. Cocoa climbed 0.12 to 0.13 cent a pound, wool tops 0.02 to 0.07 cent a pound, and cottonseed oil 0.12 to 0.15 cent a pound.

Sugar futures were irregular. The May domestic contract was independently strong, gaining .08 cent a pound. Officials of the New York Coffee and Sugar exchange suspended Saturday sugar trading, effective May 27. Coffee trading, however, was not suspended for that date because such action would have moved the last delivery notice day up one session. Coffee was an exception to the general trend, moving a shade lower.

Metals were quiet. Copper futures rose 0.03 to 0.05 cent a pound. Tin futures were bid 0.2 to 0.5 cent a pound higher, but there were no transactions.

EXPORT BUSINESS STRESSED AS AID TO U. S. WELFARE

Col. Johnson Tells Stake in Foreign Trade.

Maintenance of America's present high standard of living depends to a large extent on foreign trade, Col. J. Monroe Johnson, assistant secretary of commerce, said yesterday at the Palmer House. He spoke at a joint meeting of the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Export Managers' club in connection with Chicago's observance of foreign trade week.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson.

"Our whole economic welfare is tied up with the profitable selling abroad of about 10 per cent of all our productive output," Johnson said. "Without analyzing this percentage it would seem on its face to be so small as to have little bearing. Yet this composite fraction is of sufficient importance to affect our national wellbeing.

Year's Total 3 Billion.

"Particularly is it a helpful sustaining force in periods of domestic business recession. Obviously, if our exports, valued last year at more than 3 billion dollars, had not been moved out of the domestic market where they could not be consumed, the consequence might well have been price depressing surpluses, increased unemployment, and widespread business failures.

"That is why I say it would be difficult to maintain the economy to which we are accustomed without a liberal amount of foreign trade."

Johnson said the commodities that go to average up the export percentage of the nation's output of movable goods consist of items on which the livelihood of millions of people is dependent directly or indirectly. In raw materials, he said, the nation is prepared to sell more than half of its cotton, a third of its tobacco, and large quantities of cereals, fruits, and lard.

Factories' Stake Cited.

In the manufacturing field operations also are geared to export operations, Johnson said, declaring that automobile production is adjusted to the export of about a tenth of the factory output. In other divisions the nation is geared to ship abroad about a fourth of its agricultural implements, one-tenth of the industrial machinery, and one-seventh of the radio apparatus.

Arthur Perrow, an official of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, presided at the meeting. He said that 1,000 cities throughout the United States are taking part in the efforts to call the attention of the public to the importance of foreign trade to the national economy.

Among the guests were fifteen members of the French economic mission to this country, which is headed by Etienne Fougere. Members of the mission have been discussing trade possibilities with Chicago business men.

Mayer to Outline Plan for Promoting Chicago

Oscar G. Mayer, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, at noon tomorrow will outline to more than five hundred business men a program to restore Chicago's old time vigor. The program is based on more than five thousand suggestions for the advancement of Chicago made as a result of "business clinics" held throughout the city. The meeting will be held in the Stevens hotel.

FIELD COMPANY PAYS $15,000,000 FOR STORE SITE

Purchase by Marshall Field & Co. of the land occupied by its State street retail store and the Marshall Field annex building was completed yesterday when Frederick D. Corley, president of the company, signed a check for $15,000,000, the full purchase price.

The check was made out to the Estate of Marshall Field from whom the land was purchased. The check was handed by President Corley to Earl Kribben, treasurer of the company, who delivered it to the estate.

The operation was one of the largest cash real estate deals in the city's history. A conveyance transfering title to the property to the company was filed with the county recorder of deeds earlier in the day. It carried revenue stamps of $15,000, $1 for each $1,000.

The company purchased the store and annex buildings several years ago from the estate. The property transferred yesterday comprises the square block bounded by State, Randolph, and Washington streets and Wabash avenue, on which the store is situated, and a parcel 144 by 150⅛ feet at the southwest corner of Washington and Wabash where the annex is located.

STEEL PLANTS BUSIER; RESULT OF PRICE CUTS

Steel operations increased this week to 48 per cent of capacity, Iron Age magazine reported yesterday. The publication attributed the gain to settlement of the coal tieup and the heavy bookings of sheets and strips at reduced prices during the last two weeks.

Although the freer supply of coal has been the main influence in higher operations this week, the survey said, the receipt of specifications against sheet and strip commitments played a part and will be increasingly important in sustaining or increasing the rate of steel production during the next few months.

The aftermath of the recent price cutting, according to Iron Age, is "bitter chagrin among the steel companies that two such periods of unbridled competition should have occurred in about the same manner within eight months, and that the return from large expenditures in continuous mills should not even pay the actual cost of rolling the steel, let alone return on the investment."

The Iron Age scrap composite price remains unchanged at $14.08 a ton.

Noel State Bank Repays 5 Per Cent of Deposits

Repayment of 5 per cent to about 16,000 depositors of the closed Noel State bank was announced yesterday by Edward J. Barrett, state auditor. The disbursement, amounting to $176,183, is the fourth to be paid since the bank closed. It raises the total repaid to 28 per cent.

INSULL UTILITY FILES CLAIM FOR FIFTY MILLIONS

Declares It Was Looted by Midland United.

operating companies. United controled companies which served 850 communities in Indiana, Illinois and Michigan with a population of 1,600,000.

Although Utilities had sold more than $50,000,000 of its securities to the public, voting rights attached only to $2,000,000 of its common stock.

Nonvoting Stocks.

Its stocks which had no voting rights, except in the event of default, were:

	Amount.
7% cumulative prior lien	$12,450,000
6% cumulative prior lien	9,750,000
7% class A preferred	14,518,000
6% class A preferred	4,600,000
Total	$41,318,000

In addition there was a funded debt of $11,000,000 and all this was outstanding on Dec. 31, 1928.

The common stock outstanding on Dec. 31, 1928, was held as follows:

	Shares.
Middle West Utilities	65,340
Commonwealth Subsidiary corporation	48,400
Public Service Subsidiary corporation	24,200
Indiana Natural Gas and Oil company	48,400
United Gas Improvement company	55,660
Total	242,000

All the common stock was deposited in a five year voting trust under Insull control in 1923 and when this expired in 1928 it was renewed.

Then Midland Is Formed.

In 1929 the Insulls organized Midland United to take over the stock of Utilities held by the companies, excepting only that held by United Gas Improvement. To finance this acquisition and others United issued approximately $75,000,000 of preferred stock which had no voting rights. Its common stock with voting rights was held by Insull's big Chicago companies, it was said.

According to the claims, United immediately began siphoning the cash and liquid assets from Utilities' treasury. First, United took cash dividends from Utilities, but paid its own in stock. It was shown that the net income of Utilities for 1931 was $2,539,465, compared with $4,616,108 for 1930.

In 1931 preferred dividends required $2,512,971 and then $1,605,781 was paid in dividends on Utilities' shares of common stock owned by United. This was at the rate of $5 per share and its payment created a deficit of $1,579,287, according to the charges.

Loss Falls on United.

United had losses on two deals, according to the representations to the court, but switched these deals to Utilities which, as a result, had losses of $1,500,000 and had $2,500,000 of its assets frozen. The deals involved the purchase of the Hobart Light and Water company and the Calumet Railways company.

In the Calumet tranaction, the trustees asserted the properties were turned over to Utilities by United after the Indiana commerce commission had authorized abandonment of the railway.

One claim for $3,800,000 was explained by the charge that in December, 1931, when Corporation Securities and Insull Utility Investments, Inc., were heavily in debt to the banks, United dipped into the treasury of Utilities and took out securities valued at this amount. They were used as collateral for the Insull top companies for their own loans, it was alleged.

Claim for 25 Millions.

A claim for $25,000,000 against United was based on the charge that early in 1932 United caused Utilities to indorse United's notes to several banks and collateral in this amount to secure the notes and indorsements. The banks still hold the collateral, it was said, and Utilities obtained no benefits.

Another claim is for $23,000,000 and represents the value of securities which United caused Utilities to put up as collateral on United's notes held by other Insull companies, it was explained. In addition, Utilities signed notes used by United in bolstering its own credit to the amount of $12,900,000, the court was informed.

The deal that led to United's downfall, and which involved Utilities, was represented to Judge Nields as the purchase of the Gary company on April 11, 1931. According to the report filed with the trustees by the attorneys the transaction occurred in the following way:

"Samuel Insull Sr. was in Europe at the time. Before he went on that trip his only son, who was then only 31 years old, had been in charge of operations. Young Insull then was put in charge of the financial matters of the Insull utility empire.

Sought for Years by Senior.

For years the elder Insull had been trying to buy the Gary company, which was owned and operated by the United States Steel company. He had offered as high as $6,000,000 for the company, which supplied heat, light, and water to the steel city of Gary, Ind. After the purchase the property was appraised at $8,000,000.

The Insulls wanted this company because it was in territory in which they brooked no competition. The purchase was made in the name of United. Young Insull is reported to have explained at the time that it was necessary for him to act promptly when he did, as there would not soon again be another opportunity to get this plum away from U. S. Steel.

Young Insull, the report said, agreed to pay $23,000,000 for the company within six months. The documents filed here stated that he then went to a banking house to get the necessary money and found that obtaining that much cash on United's credit was impossible.

So to get the money the Gary company was transferred to Utilities, which was forced to go into debt $15,000,000. This $15,000,000 was a total loss, it was reported, and it eventually forced both Midland companies into bankruptcy in 1934. It was asserted Utilities was forced to use up most of its cash and resources to support the loans from banks.

U. S. SOCIALIZED PLAN INDORSED BY WHITE HOUSE

Berle Program Given Roosevelt Approval.

greatest single deterrent of investment and business enterprise.

THE TRIBUNE disclosed yesterday that Berle, the New Deal financial brain truster, had been at work on the revolutionary scheme he presented to the monopoly investigating committee since June, 1938. Today it was learned that he undertook the preparation of the capital financing program at the request of the President himself.

Mr. Roosevelt has not yet approved the Berle program for socialized capital financing, but the inner circle New Dealers are serenely confident it will receive such approval in due time.

Berle did not urge immediate legislation to set up his government owned capital credit banks. He merely requested that a subcommittee of the monopoly investigating committee be appointed to study the proposal during the recess of congress, prepare a bill, and submit it for action at the next session.

Committee May Be Named.

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], chairman of the monopoly investigating committee, announced that a subcommitee probably would be appointed to study the scheme but he did not indicate aproval of it.

Berle was presented before the monopoly committee by the SEC as its star witness in an investigation of capital financing. President Roosevelt requested the committee to ascertain "why a large part of our vast reservoir of money and savings has remained idle in stagnant pools."

The stage was carefully set by the SEC brain trusters, Special Counsel Peter Nehemkis and Commissioners Jerome Frank and Leon Henderson. First they called Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of General Motors; Owen D. Young, chairman of General Electric, and other industrialists to prove that the largest corporations are financially self-sufficient. Then they presented Berle who attacked private capital banking as a profit enterprise, not having the proper social outlook.

Hearings Abruptly Ended.

The answer to Mr. Roosevelt's question, as presented by the SEC, was that money lies idle in stagnant pools because the big corporations do not need it and the little corporations cannot get it from the unsocial, profit-minded investment bankers. The solution was Berle's proposal for the socialization of capital financing.

Having presented its case, the SEC abruptly ended the hearings. New York investment bankers who had been summoned were informed today the hearings had been postponed indefinitely. Nehemkis said the indefinite postponement was made necessary by "the pressure of other hearings."

Senator O'Mahoney also announced the hearings were postponed because of the pressure of other business.

Several reasons were advanced in more serious quarters for the postponement. One is that the SEC believed it had nothing to gain and much to lose by calling the investment bankers who might get out of hand and attack the New Deal, just as Sloan and Young did. The other is that the congressional members of the committee were glad to call off the hearings because they knew perfectly well what the SEC was up to and didn't like it.

'Third Line of Defense.'

The Berle program to spend the country into Socialism is what the New Deal inner circle planners and schemers call the "third line of defense." They admit pump priming has failed, and their argument is that the government now must do the pumping. "If wealth is to be created by creation of government debt, the scope of government enterprise must be largely increased," Berle said.

To do this the government will have to enter into the direct financing of activities now supposed to be private, and what the government finances it will control, Berle said.

"Over a period of years the government will gradually come to own most of the productive plants of the United States," he said.

Senate Hears Different View.

In the senate today a different answer to Mr. Roosevelt's question about the stagnant pools of idle capital was given by Senator Josiah W. Bailey [D., N. C.]. Capital, he said, is not on a sitdown strike, but is being strangled to death.

Capital is afraid and doesn't know what to do because some new thing pops up each day," said Senator Bailey. As an example he mentioned the dissenting opinion of Justice Hugo L. Black, Mr. Roosevelt's first Supreme court appointee, holding that a corporation is not protected from confiscation by the due process clause.

"I think we have about demonstrated that we are not going to get anywhere with the borrowing and spending theory, high authority [President Roosevelt] to the contrary notwithstanding," said Senator Bailey. "When you have tried it 20 billion dollars' worth, and got nothing, I think you might take a hint."

ELUSIVE MR. GREY DENIES MYSTERY IN HIS UTILITY JOB

Tells Seeing New Dealers for Associated Gas.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—The elusive Mr. Ben Grey today flitted into the Securities and Exchange commission to deny that he is a "mystery man," but he told how he contacted New Dealers in "public relations work" on behalf of the Associated Gas and Electric company.

He voluntarily appeared at an SEC hearing on charges that the company filed "false and misleading statements" with the commission, for which the penalty would be delisting or suspension of the stock from stock exchanges.

For some time commission lawyers were in doubts that there was such a person as Ben Grey. They could not find him to serve a subpena, despite the claim of his acquaintances that Grey is a friend of one of the New Deal members of the commission. These acquaintances said that Grey did not want to embarrass the commissioner by dragging his name into the proceedings.

White House Gives Him Help.

On the witness stand today Grey said the White House had made an appointment for him to see Frank R. McNinch in 1937 while the latter was head of the federal power commission. McNinch is now chairman of the federal communications commission. Grey admitted that he was paid $5,000 a month for eleven months in 1937 for his "public relations work" in Washington on behalf of the company.

Last week Fred S. Burroughs, vice president of Associated Gas, had testified before the commission that it was Grey's job "to mix with the right people" in the capital.

Grey did not say today who in the White House arranged the appointment with McNinch. He said that he spent an hour with McNinch and told him that Associated Gas would be willing to spend as much as 150 million dollars for new construction if "jeopardy tax assessments" brought against the company by the treasury were lifted temporarily so the company could refund certain securities.

Tax Claims Total 50 Million.

[The tax claims against Associated Gas for the years 1927 to 1933 involved between 50 and 60 million dollars. The case is still pending.]

McNinch asked him, Grey testified, whether Burroughs would be willing to come to Washington and tell McNinch those things himself. Grey said Burroughs came and they met McNinch again. Grey also testified that he met Ben Cohen and the late Herman Oliphant, then general counsel of the treasury. Both were members of the left wing inner circle advising the President. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. denied Grey and Burroughs an interview, Grey said.

CROPS DAMAGED IN WIDE AREAS BY DRY WEATHER

Rains Bring Relief to Some Districts.

Crops of small grains deteriorated rapidly in the last week over a wide area west of the Mississippi river, the government weather bureau reported yesterday. This was especially true in the western part of Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, and in parts of South Dakota.

Showers to heavy rains fell in some areas, particularly in eastern Oklahoma and Kansas, most of Nebraska, some of central and southeastern South Dakota, and parts of North Dakota and Montana. Moisture in other sections was insufficient to relieve the drouth.

Favorable East of Mississippi.

Crop conditions in the states east of the Mississippi river continued favorable. The bulk of the corn crop has been planted. In many areas this is earlier than normal, the bureau said. In places the soil is either too dry for further planting or too dry to germinate properly the seed that has been planted.

Rainfall for the week ended May 23 and from April 1 to May 23, in inches:

Day by Day on the Farm

By HOMER NEISZ

May 24, 1939.

Soy Beans Planted.

SIX different varieties of edible soy beans were planted in the vegetable garden at the Du Page county farm last week. They were planted from seed raised at the farm last year. The varieties are Shiro, Fuji, Funk's Delicious, Tortoise Egg, No. 86129, and No. 80490-1.

This makes the fourth consecutive year that vegetable soy beans have been grown on the farm. Ten varieties were raised last year, when the beans for the first time were made available to the public through stores in Chicago. None are to be grown for sale this year.

Vegetable soy beans probably will be grown in many home gardens in Illinois this summer. Samples of seed have been distributed to farmers in all parts of the state by the University of Illinois. Commercial seed houses offered the seed beans for sale this spring for the first time.

Form Popular Vegetable.

Most people who have tried vegetable soy beans like them. They are becoming popular as a fresh vegetable. The beans also may be canned or put up for winter use as dried beans.

One of the chief advantages of edible soy beans is that they thrive under widely varying weather conditions. They withstood the severe drouth and hot days during the summer of 1936 better than most crops at the farm.

When rains started late in the season the plants soon developed good crops of beans. Some of the pods were well filled by the middle of August that year, although only a few light showers had fallen after the beans were planted.

In 1937 there was an abundance of rainfall throughout most of the spring and summer. The ground was too wet part of the time for the beans to be properly cultivated, but they produced heavy crops. The earliest varieties started ripening about the same time in August as those grown during the drouth of the previous summer.

Planted Late Last Year.

Last year most of the beans were planted late—some after the middle of June. There was a late fall and all matured before frost. Gardeners at the farm think the best time to plant the beans is about the middle of May.

By planting early, medium, and late varieties and making a succession of plantings it is easily possible to have mature beans for the table continuously from the time the first ones are ready in the summer until frost. The earliest varieties mature by the middle of August in northern Illinois if planted by May 20.

Vegetable soy beans require no special methods of culture and grow well in ordinary garden soil. The deep green color of the shelled beans is intensified by cooking and makes an attractive and appetizing dish. The rich, nutlike flavor is unlike that of any other vegetable.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Prices of hogs declined slightly again yesterday. Best loads of fall pigs went over the scales at $6.90 per hundred pounds, off 5 cents. It was the lowest price for this class since July, 1934. Prices for the entire market averaged 5 cents lower at $6.50. Receipts continued heavy at all packing centers.

There was a weak undercurrent in the cattle trade, with some steers and yearlings closing slightly lower. A few of the best light steers and yearlings earlier ruled strong to a little higher.

Steady to weak prices prevailed for sheep and lambs.

[All prices are in dollars per 100 pounds.]

Hanes, Banker, Says Cure Is Not in Spending.

tors accounting for failure of recovery.

"The simple truth seems to be that risk taking capital—investment capital that builds an economy—is not being put to work."

Cites America's Past.

After declaring that every period of American prosperity has been accompanied by risk taking and that there is no lack of available risk taking capital today, Hanes said:

"All the evidence indicates that those whom we call 'the rich,' who can best afford to take risks, are investing their funds in the safest investments they can find—and will continue to do so under government policies hostile to profits.

"Likewise, corporations will not undertake programs of reëquipment or expansion, nor will they launch new products in an anti-business atmosphere or in the face of tax policies inimical to profits."

"No amount of government spending will cure this condition," continued Hanes, referring to the shrinkage in flow of new money into business. "Government spending creates no new enterprise, and is not a substitute for private investment.

Cites Broken Precedent.

"For the first time in our history the government has assumed, during the current depression, the responsibility for forcing and keeping the economic machine in operation.

"It has has assumed the responsibilities of enterprise, appropriated capital through taxation and borrowing, invaded fields of business in competition with business and reduced interest rates and the rewards of thrift and investment. It has impaired the machinery of the investment capital market, embarked on unsound and uncertain financial policies of its own, and instituted numerous measures which have slowed down the economic mechanism.

"Under these conditions the investor is discouraged and established business is restrained. The lack of enterprise is alibied on the ground that business cannot function because it cannot obtain credit."

This, the banker said, is entirely untrue. He went to great length in showing that banks not only are meeting their responsibilities in supplying credit business, but are going out of their way soliciting—almost begging for—loans.

Calls Tax Policy Hindrance.

Woll said labor believes that "the tax policy of the government, coupled with its attitude toward industry, is preventing the normal expansion of American industry."

"It is far better," said Woll, "that capital investments be encouraged to bring about reëmployment than that we should center attention on providing relief and in finding new excessive and burdensome forms of taxation."

He added that "our public spending program needs careful review and correction."

Investors' Guide

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

HELME, SNUFF MAKER.

Investors' Guide: Please give me a report on the George W. Helme company, which makes snuff. You mentioned this company recently in a general article on this industry and I am interested in it from an investment standpoint. I would appreciate your giving its annual earnings in recent years, and the dividends paid on the common stock. Does it have any bonds outstanding? Where is the stock listed?—M. J. W.

Answer: A high degree of earnings stability marks the record of George W. Helme company, which makes about one-third of the snuff produced in this country. Its product is sold chiefly in southern states. Since 1929 earnings has held within the narrow limits of a low of $1,639,036 in 1938 and a high of $2,324,993 in the boom year just before the depression.

Here's the record for the last few years:

	Net inc.	Earn. per com. shr.	—Paid per com. share.— Reg.	Extra.
1938	$1,639,036	$5.84	$5.00	$2.00
1937	1,678,104	6.01	5.00	2.00
1936	1,874,012	6.82	5.00	2.00
1935	1,898,602	6.92	5.00	*6.75
1934	1,988,887	7.45	5.00	2.00
1933	1,950,774	7.44	5.00	2.00

*Includes special extra of $4.75.

Two quarterly payments of $1.25 each and a special dividend of $2.00 have been paid on the common stock so far this year.

The company has 240,000 common shares of $25 par value and 33,829 preferred shares outstanding. Both classes are listed on the New York Stock exchange. No bonds have been issued. Current position at the end of 1938 was good. Total assets amounted to $16,848,932. Current assets totaled $15,442,385 including $10,941,000 cash and marketable securities, against current liabilities of $1,262,180.

ALPHABETICAL.

Investors' Guide: Are NBC, RCA, R-K-O, and the GE companies subsidiaries of A. T. & T.? What about Western Electric? Is it a subsidiary of A. T. & T.?—B. B.

Answer: National Broadcasting company, Radio Corporation of America, Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation, and General Electric company are not controlled by American Telephone and Telegraph company. National Broadcasting is a subsidiary of Radio Corporation of America. Western Electric Company, Inc., however, is controlled by A. T. & T.

WANTED--AT ONCE

A Few Additional Responsible, Trustworthy Men Interested in Building Up a Business Paying $2,500 to $10,000 or More per Year, Regularly.

These splendid openings, made possible by increasing business, may mean lower earnings at the start whil learning. For example, Meredith C. R., made $16,180.26 the past 3 years, but averaged only $31.67 per week his first full year with us.

PREVIOUS EXPERIENCE NOT NEEDED, THIS LINE BEING ENTIRELY NEW TO NEARLY ALL OUR MEN.

HOWEVER, THEIR EXPERIENCE IN THIS BUSINESS MAY BE OF GREAT VALUE IN HELPING YOU GET STARTED SUCCESSFULLY, IF SELECTED.

The guidance and practical example of such men as Meredith C. R. can be of tremendous assistance to the man just starting.

Meredith C. R., a former city policeman and R. R. fireman, says he benefits from "sense of security and absence of fear for the future. My knowledge of the world is better. New cars, furnishings, ability to help others. . . . Electrolux was at first a stop-gap for me but eventually became THE ONE STEP into pursuit of happiness for us."

WHAT ARE YOUR PRESENT BUSINESS ASSOCIATIONS WORTH TO YOU?

CAN THEY HELP YOU NET $20, $50 OR MORE IN A SINGLE DAY WITHOUT RISK OR INVESTMENT? THE ASSOCIATIONS A MAN RECEIVES IN ELECTROLUX ARE OFTEN WORTH $20, $50 OR MORE IN A DAY TO HIM.

N. R. G. was a clerk in an importing house before starting with us. Not making any money his first 3 days, he began to feel "I'm not cut out for it." Then he spent a day watching Mr. Jos. D. earn $20.00—The next day Mr. G. earned $17.00.

Wm. S., only 19, was working in a butcher shop at $8.00 a week, was refused a raise, talked with his sister who had heard of the earnings made in this organization. Having extra confidence thru definite knowledge of these earnings and aided by the greater value of this unusual electrical specialty Mr. S. was able to make $88.00 his first week. He found it pays to associate with good men.

CASHING IN ON THE PRACTICAL AND DAILY SUCCESSFUL EXPERIENCE OF A GOOD MAN CAN BE WORTH MORE THAN ANY COURSE ON HOW TO SELL, BECAUSE SEEING GOOD MONEY BEING HONESTLY MADE IS INSPIRATIONAL AS WELL AS INFORMATIVE.

MEN WHO KNOW what's it's all about say this:

Mr. George S. who was an actor for 25 years—"Have gained valuable business experience by actual contact and really learned the value of responsibility."

"An experience of inestimable value—The development of poise and self-assurance."—Jas. W. [earned $4,559.51 last year].

"Pleasantest, happiest years o my life," says Geo. M., for 8 years an interurban motorman. "Entered Electrolux when financially at lowest ebb, but transformation to security of Electrolux beyond words to express."

"Have kept family, wife and 4 children throughout the depression."—Wm. M., former architect [earned $4,781.73 last year].

Above named men will be identified, also others to be met in this branch, by those interested.

We cannot guarantee you will be a star, but we do guarantee you opportunity with sincere, earnest, pratical instruction and guidance. No investment, there is nothing to buy.

If you are of good reputation, active, alert, willing to learn and to work hard every day to make a genuine success in return for the privilege of a genuine opportunity in a permanent connection with good people who will deeply interest themselves in helping you to get started and to get along, make your application
